To Those Interested in Fruit Growing.

IT is often said that the New Brunswick is a splendid apple, none better, but it lasts such a short time. Why can't we grow a good keeper like the American Baldwin. We have that apple in the Wealthy which is just as hardy and productive as the New Brunswick, the apple being as good if not better than the Baldwin. Wealthy apples are for sale and on exhibition at G W. Slipp's, where those who want a good apple or are interested in fruit growing are cordialy invited to call and see the best apple ever introduced to this part of the country.

Dr. Hoskins of Vermont, authority on fruit growing says, that fruit growing is profitable six hundred miles further north than was supposed to be possible before the Wealthy was originated.

Yours Truly,
F. SHARP.

THE MEANEST MAN.—The meanest man is said to be he who, when his employes were blown skyward by an explosion, deducted a portion of the wages of those who escaped with their lives, on account of the time spent in the air.

This was bad enough, but there was a tourist at one of St. John's big hotels the other day who broke the record. He asked the night porter if he knew any good place to fish. The porter did. There was a dim prospect for a dollar or two and the porter went without sleep and went fishing. The day was hot and the boat was heavy, but the guide was game and he worked like a slave. Dinner time came and the tourist ate heartily at a hotel, but said nothing to the hungry guide. He made the same remark to the little colored boy whose pole and line he borrowed. The remarks of the guide and boy are better unrecorded. When the tourist had finished wrangling about the price of his dinner the party came home. The porter didn't get a cent lost his dinner and tea, pulled a heavy boat about till he ached all over, and gave the colored boy his last quarter for shame's sake. And the tourist still lives.

The minister of a country parish, in the course of a pastoral visitation, was invited to stay and take lunch at a farmhouse. There was set before him a supply of oatcakes, butter, cheese and milk, and having had a long country walk he was fully prepared to do justice to it. As he refreshed himself the farmer's wife moved about at her household work, interjecting the remarks which hospitality dictated, such as 'Help yersel', sir. Pit to your haun'." "It maun be a lang time sin' ye had breakfast, an' ye've had a lang walk." The minister was not loth and continued to eat until the consumption of household stores began to alarm his hostess. At length he paused, drew himself up, and sat back from the table, but the gudewife could not help giving a little hit. "Hout, sir," she said, "ye're no stoppin'; pit to yer haun'; dinna be blate." "Oh, yes, really, I must stop now; I have done well." "Na, na, help yersel'; tak' anither farrel, an' that'll be four."

let that cold of yours run on. You think it is a light thing. But it may run into catarrh. Or into pneumonia. Or consumption.

Catarrh is disgusting. Pneumonia is dangerous. Consumption is death itself.

The breathing apparatus must be kept clear of all obstructions and offensive matter. Otherwise there is trouble ahead.

All the diseases of these parts, head, nose, throat, bronchial tubes and lungs, can be delightfully and entirely cured by the use of Boschee's German Syrup. If you don't know this already, thousands and thousands of people can tell you. They have been cured by it, and "know how it is themselves." Bottle only 75 cents. Ask any druggist.

A tailor possesses the qualities of nine men combined in one, as will be seen by the following:—1. As an economist, he always cuts his coat according to his cloth. 2. As a gardener, he is careful of his cabbage. 3. As a sailor, he shears off whenever it is proper. 4. As a player-actor, he often brandishes a bare bodkin. 5. As a lawyer, he attends many suits. 6. As an executioner, he supplies suspenders and gallowses for many persons 7. As a cook, he is generally furnished with a warm goose. 8. As a sheriff, he does much sponging. 9. As a rational member of society, his real aim is to form good habits for the benefit of himself.

MESSRS C. C. RICHARDS & Co.,

'Young Pusher, the book agent, has married the loveliest and sweetest girl in town.'

'How?'

Why, she's all honey and he's all gall.'

"Gift Enterprises"

seem to be all the rage in the Soap Business, owing to the idea of some manufacturers of getting something out of nothing, if possible. Grocers get 6 boxes for 5 of some kinds, and are offered all sorts of "Nick Nacks" with others, as an inducement to recommend such soaps to their trade.

It is a well known fact, however, that a genuine article in this day of competition pays no fancy profits. WELCOME SOAP represents this class of goods, and demonstrates the value of quality in manufacture, which is the only guarantee of a pure and legitimate washing quality.

Mr Brickabrack—'Such luck, dear! I've just picked up at Onclestein's for $50, a vase like that you broke and we couldn't match.' Mrs B—'You dear old stupid' Knowing we could never get another like it, I sold it to Onckelstein this morning for $8.50!'

Could Scarcely See.

Mrs. John Martin, of Montague Bridge, P. E. I, writes: "I was troubled last summer with very bad headaches and constipation and sometimes could scarcely see. One bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters made a complete cure of my case, and I wish you every success.

'When I asked her to marry, she began to shrink like—like a flannel shirt,'

'That's an odd comparison; what do you mean?' 'Just what I say. She got up around my neck.'

Of course Detroit can successfully claim some of the very sweetest and prettiest and most natural and brightest girls that ever drew the breath of life, but all of them are not quite up to that standard.

'Mamma,' said one of these not quite-ups 'is it proper to say that a horse is bowlegged in his fore limbs, or is bowlegged in his forelegs?'

And the good mother looked up from her work of sewing a reinforcement on the seat of Johnnie's pants and never said a word but oh, that look.

Clinton Clippings.

"I had for years been troubled with dyspepsia and sick headache and found but little relief until I got Burdock Blood Bitters which made a perfect cure. It is the best medicine I ever used in my life."—Hattie DAVIS, Mary St., Clinton, Ont.

Little daughter—Oh, mamma, didn't you say Dick musn't go with that neighbor's boy? Mamma—"Indeed I did." "Well, he is with him behind the barn smoking cigarettes." "Horrors! Is that dirty-faced boy teaching Dick to smoke cigarettes?" No'm Dick is teachin' him."

Regina Ripples.

"I took six bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters for liver complaint, headache and dull stupid feeling, but now I am entirely well and healthy, having also a good appetite which I did not have previously."—Mrs. T Davis, Regina, N W T.
