Leton and Victoria Counties, and other interested readers of these papers, know what has been done during the past season, and what the outlook for the future is like. Great reforms can not now be speedily brought about without the aid of the press, and it is an encouraging feature of the effort that is now being made to develope more fully the dairy products of this province, that the press of the country is so reedy to lend its aid. The greater development of our dairy interests is a much needed reform that requires to be speedily brought about. Within the last 10 or 15 years the rapid development of our railway and steamsh p communication, together with the improvements in farm machinery, and the practical application of scientific knowledge to the cheapening of the cost of production of agricultural products has greatly affected the farm life of New Brunswick tarmers. They have been brought into close competition with the farmers of Oatario and Quebec and the neighbouring republic.

B. has never been so fostered, and it is not to be supposed that the farmers of this Province can compete in the markets of the world in the manufacture of butter and cheese, with the countries so aided and seisted. Our cheese factories have been struggling for years against the competition of Ontario and Quebec, and great credit is due the dairymen of the province for the start they have made in co-operative dairying. It was a progressive timely policy our Local Gevernment took in undertaking to aid in more fully developing our dairy industry. It was done none took soon. Remember the Christmas Tree and Pie Soand grain. Practical experience has demonstrated that, to the average farmer, there is no profit in raising beef, nor in making butter of late years, owing to the scarcity of help; in a great many farm houses, the stock of cows has been reduced as no co-operative butter or cheese factory was visible in the near future. To help this eystem of farming along the idea is generally entertained, that by seeding on the sed and keeping all stock offithe meadow land, and plowing under clover aftermath the fertility of the farm can be maintained and even improved.

Our farmers have been forced into this short cut to the dollar system of farming and they are not to be blamed for it, as it appears to
