I saw it all; she was eloping to England with me, and for a moment I pitied the poor, deluded American husband, Van Spoof. You were hurried too much to say; We were placed in the van, the train started. After what appeared like years of agony, though it was only a little over four years, we were dragged forth. I was one vast ache, but my heart beat happiness; for now, surely, Cynthia would release me. My position was terrible; in total darkness, my knees in my mouth, unable to change my attitude, parched with thirst and want of air, it was worse than the miner in the coal mine, worse than the Little Ease; but hope, the hope of my reward, sustained me. And then I heard a voice-an honest, hearty English voice, 'Look out, be-

Drunkenness in the Olden Times. The offence of drunkenness was a source of great perplexity to the ancients, who tried every possible way of dealing with it. If none succeeded, probably it was because they did not begin early enough. Interpreting some of the ways and means by which the insidious vice is incited and propagate severe treatment was often tried to little effeet. The Locriane, under Z-leuoue, made it a capital offence to drink wine if it was not mixed with water; even an invalid was not exempted from punishment, unless by order of a physician.

But as I said before business is extremely dull on the Pacific coast att the way from Vengouver to San Francisco. Southern Oalefornia is in a prosperous condition and real estate is constantly increasing in value. The exports of the city of Los Angeles lead in percentage all other cities of the United States, and shows an increase of over 50 per cent. ever corresponding months of last year.
Southern California effords perhaps the best opportunties of any place in the U.S. for a man with large or small capital to 'make money'; but to the man entirely without money whether he be a laborer, machenie, cle: k. bo k keeper or prefessional man the Pacific coast at the present time offere little encouragement. The Eastern and middle states off nd better inducements.

It has more than three times the strength of Cocoa mixed with Starch, Arrowroot or Sugar, and is far more economical, costing less than one cent a cup. It is delicious, nourishing, and EASILY DIGESTED. CLAUD L SMYTHE. San Francisor, Cal., June, 1893.
