Robert Peel, son of Sir Robert Peel, London, is a bankrupt; liabilities $285,000; betting and gambling the cause.

In Fredericton, recently, after an address by S. D. Scott, Esq., of the Sun, at the University course of lectures, his subject being "Public Spirit and Electoral Purity," a discussion followed, in which several gentlemen participated, and in which the idea prevailed that the extent of corruption in elections, at present, was exaggerated.

Mr. George E. Fenety intimated that in one of his contests for Mayor, at Fredericton, he had spent $900.

Great Bargains in Boots, Shoes, Rubbers and Overshoes, at B. B. Manzer's.

General Committee.

There will be a meeting held, of the General Exhibition committee, in the Record office, Woodstock, on the afternoon of Saturday, 18th inst., at 2 o'clock. All members of the committee requested to attend.

A complete assortment of Ladies' Fur Capes, Muffs, Caps, Boas, etc., just opened at B. B Manzer's.

A Severe Sentence.

We should judge the public sentiment is that the sentence passed upon Theriault at the Victoria Court, last week, was more severe than the circumstances of the case called for. There is no doubt that the provocation under which Theriault got and fired his gun was such as might have incensed any man to a degree beyond the proper control of his will. There was a violation of law with terribly serious consequences, and the Jury found a verdict "guilty of man slaughter"; they could not find any other, but we think five years in the penitentiary, for the crime which was the outcome of a great outrage, too great a punishment.

A magnificent assortment of Ladies', Misses and Children's Jackets and Ulsters; prices right, at B. B. Manzer's.

Tariff in the Northwest.

The hearing of the Finance Minister, and his colleague, at Regina, as to the feelings and wishes of farmers and others regarding trade matters, etc, seems to have elicited information not indicating contentment with the present policy of the Government. In his address to the Minister, the Mayor said "he must now be convinced that certain modifications in the tariff are absolutely necessary in the interest of the farming community of Manitoba and the Northwest Territories"

Mr. David F. Jelly, M.L.A., from Regina north, remarked that "the best immigration agents were contented settlers," and that the reason they were not contented now was that "they were selling at low prices and buying at high." He instanced as articles for which they were paying too much and on which, therefore, the duties should be lowered—binder twine, barb wire, implements, lumber and coal oil. And much of the remaining testimony was in a similar strain.

Andover.

Very pleasant, indeed, was the social meeting held by the Andover Agricultural Society, on Friday evening, Nov. 3rd. Mr. Alex. Henderson, president of the Society, occupied the chair, and addresses were given by George E. Baxter, C L S. Raymond, Geo. T. Baird, M P P., and Messrs. Ianes, Porter, Crawford and others.

Quite a large number were present to listen to the speakers, and a still better attendance later in the evening when the baskets were disposed of. Mr. Ianes, ex president of the society, proved himself an excellent auctioneer and purchasers could not fail to be pleased as their investment not only secured for them a bountiful supper of the choicest delicacies of the season, but the best of company to share it with.

The evening was altogether a most enjoyable one. Choice selections of instrumental music were furnished by Miss Mary Bedell and after the singing of the National Anthem the crowd began to disperse.

Golden Wedding, Lowell.

Mr. John Payson has handed us a copy of the Lowell, Mass, Morning Times, of Oct. 24 In it we find an interesting account of an anniversary golden wedding, the principals in the event being Rev. John B. Thompson and Mrs. Thompson. Mr. Thompson is father of Rev. A. O. Thompson, recently of the F. C. B. Church, at Tracy's Mills, in this county.

The commemoration of the marriage of 50 years ago, embraced what the Times calls a "golden duplicate" of the original ceremony; a programme of appropriate music; a wedding reception and supper at which a genuine bride's cake figured; after which followed presents very numerous, and aggregating in value a large sum, given the happy couple.

Hugh Hay is now in the American markets buying goods for his ever increasing trade.

Cupid at Florenceville.

A Florenceville correspondent writes:—The R. C. Church in this village was the scene of a happy event this morning, Nov. 6, when Mr. J. W. Bohan, of the firm of Bohan Bros., Bath, N. B, was united in marriage to Miss Ella Kearney, only daughter of Chas. Kearney, Collector of Customs, of this place Rev. Fr. Bradley officiated. The church was tastefully decorated for the occasion. A number of the bride's friends were present thus testifying the esteem in which she is held. The bridal party repaired to her parents home, where a sumptuous repast was partaken of by the immediate families. The young and happy couple then took the Western train, on their honey moon trip.

We have our full stock of Gent's Fur Coats, ready for inspection; for quantity, quality and prices, you want to call, at B. B. Manzer's.

Personals.

R. W. Balloch, Centreville, spent Monday in Woodstock.

H. B. White, Centreville, called on the SENTINEL Saturday.

Dr. Lowe and Mrs. Lowe, Kincardine, were in town Monday.

Miss Mamie Allan and Miss Clara Carr, went to St. John on Wednesday.

Chas. D. Dickinson returned home Saturday from a few weeks visit to the World's Fair.

We were glad to see Geo. W. Hovey, Esq., Grafton, who met with an accident as stated last week, able to be about the streets on Monday.

A. E Barnett, representing H. K. Whsmpble & Co., and Dan. W. Macdonald, representing John Wyeth & Co., both of Philadelphia, spent Sunday in town.

Commendable.

All claims not consistent with the high character of Syrup of Figs are purposely avoided by the Cal. Fig Syrup Company. It acts gently on the kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the system effectually, but it is not a cure-all and makes no pretensions that every bottle will not substantiate.

A Handsome Residence.

J. T. Allan Dibblee, M.P.P., is now occupying his new house on Division street. It is an edifice that does great credit to the architect and artisans severally, who designed and completed it, and it is another added to the many handsome residences in the town. No reasonable amount of pains and expense have been spared to make it handsome and convenient both within and without. It is 28x30 feet, with an ell 28x40; two storeys high with hip-roof and dormer and there are three bay windows on each flat. On the first floor are the parlors, sitting and dining rooms, two kitchens, fine pantries and hall. Hard wood has been used for the floors of the best rooms, the finish being of ash and butternut and the doors, to which we have already referred, of pine veneered with ash. The grates have tile hearths and brass fittings; the mantles are of oak, from Henderson's factory, which do that establishment great credit. The stairway of hard wood finish shows very handsomely in brackets, balustrades and panels.

The front doors are supplied with heavy bevelled plate glass.

On the second floor are sleeping rooms, bath room, presses, etc. The stained and pebbled glass used in the upper sashes of the bay windows give a charming interior effect.

Electricity, from the Woodstock Electric Co., is used throughout.

There is a commodious basement, with cement floor, divided into departments for the various requirements of the house.

The heat is furnished by hot water from a Gurney heater; the fittings of this were put in by Norman Shea.

The roof is finished with cresting and handsome verandahs are on the north and south sides of the house.

The doors, sashes and finish generally were made in Jones' Woodworking Factory; the frames and some other wood work at Drysdale & Co.'s.

George E. Fairweather, St. John, was the architect.

The very best of workmanship throughout attest to and sustain the well earned reputation of the workmen in the several departments, from foundation to finish. The stone mason was Mr. Hasley; plasterers, the Mc Anna's; master mechanic, stair builder and joiner, Mr. Colby Henderson; painter and glazier, F. G. Stoop; plumbers, Fewer Bros.

The new barn in connection is finely finished in oiled spruce and here is housed the coal Dandy Lumps, of which Mr. Dibblee is justly proud.

Death of Hanford Wolhaupter.

Many were the exclamations of regret heard last Friday afternoon when the news of the death of Hanford Wolhaupter was heralded through Bloomfield. He had been in his usual health until the Sabbath before, and although the sickness that prostrated him was severe, few realized that death would so soon claim him as its victim. The funeral, which was probably the largest ever known in Bloomfield, took place on Sabbath afternoon.

Deceased was born in Fredericton in 1813 and at the age of six years moved with his parents to Richmond. After some years he removed to Bloomfield, where he has since lived. For twenty years he held the office of Deputy Customs Officer, and by his integrity and honesty discharged his duties in a faithful and efficient manner. He has been from his youth a prominent member of the Methodist church, and, until necessitated by advanced age to resign, has acted as class leader.

He recognized the great importance of Sabbath School work, and established the first schools at Richmond, Bloomfield and other places. When he became too infirm to take an active part in the work, he showed his interest by the purchase and distribution of Sabbath School literature.

His mourning wife and family, to whom he proved himself a kind husband and indulgent father, have the sympathy of the community in their sad bereavement.

Dedication at Benton.

The new Baptist church at Benton was dedicated, under very pleasant circumstances, on Nov. 2, 3, 5. The dedication sermon, by Rev. G. M. W. Carey, was a very able and interesting discourse. The rev. gentleman declared that all parties engaged in the erection of the building deserved much credit, as it was one of the neatest and best planned church edifices that he ever stood in, whether in these provinces or other countries. At 2 30, p m, Rev. Thos. Todd preached a sermon which proved one of his best efforts. At 6 30, Rev E. C. Jenkins was the preacher and his discourse was listened to with marked attention. At 7.30, Rev. Mr. Carey delivered again an eloquent and able sermon. The congregations were large; beside the above mentioned the following ministers were present and took part in the service; Rev. J. W. S. Young, who made the dedicatory prayer, Rev. F. S. Todd and Rev. Mr. Rideout. The people responded generously to the appeal to aid in paying the debt on the building, so that the present debt is not a heavy one; in fact, it it is said, if all the subscriptions were paid, the building would be free from debt.

Rev. Mr. Carey complimented the choir very highly on their singing and, at his suggestion a vote of thanks was tendered them.

The following presentations were made the church; A fine bible brought by a widowed sister, Mrs. Richard Frederick, in compliance with the request made by her husband on his dying bed a few months previous; a splendid banner, which hung on the pulpit, bearing the inscription, "The World for Christ," by Mrs. W. S. Saunders; two very handsome lamps, by Mr. C. A McKeen; beautiful stand lamp, Mrs. Wallace Hay; pulpit cushion, by Miss Fye Jones; the pulpit, pronounced by all to be a fine piece of workmanship, was made by Deacon Jacob Vanwart, who donated $11.00; two neat wall mottoes, by Mrs. Ella Mallory and Mrs. C. M. Dow; a fine lamp for committee room and a lantern for entrance, by W. T. Hatfield; handsome chair, by Miss Frederick, St. Mary's; a quilt, made to aid the noble band of working sisters at Benton, costing upwards of $30, by Mrs. J. W. S Young; and at the dedication a vote of thanks was tendered Asa Dow, Esq., for the generous gift of $100 in cash.

The sisters have purchased a fine organ, and a bell has been placed in the tower.

Since the dedication, at a regularly called meeting of the church, it was unanimously voted to give Rev. J. W. S. Young a call to its pastorate for one half the time; the call has not yet been accepted.—Com.

Mr John Headry and wife, from Gibson, paid a short visit to his mother and sisters, in this village, last week.

Miss Nellie McElroy of Debec, and Miss Katie Saunders of Woodstock, are visiting their friends and relatives here.

Miss Etta Monteith, Northampton, spent Sunday here with her friends, the Gibson family.

Sunday, Nov. 5th, the Orangemen, arrayed in their regalias, marched from the hall to the Methodist Church where Rev C H Manaton, Chaplain of Lodge, delivered a sermon for them which could not fail to be beneficial to all who heard it. The Church was well filled.

Miss Effie Kirkpatrick, Debec, spent Sunday with friends here.

Miss Annie Hazlett and Mr Geo Anderson were united in the holy bonds of matrimony on Thursday, October 2nd. They went to Houlton to have the knot tied. In the evening a number of the young men and boys gave them a hearty welcome by way of a serenade. A large bonfire was built on the street in front of the house and the usual noises of such times were heard for a short time. We wish the young couple every success.

Mr H Murray and Mr Wm Jarvis left Benton for a trip to the Celestial City last night.

Make Home Comfortable.

There is no place in the world, perhaps, where our people are more comfortably housed than in Carleton County. Those who wish to be more comfortable this winter than ever before should get Storm Windows for their houses. They are a great thing for any house no matter how new or well built, but on houses that have been built some years they are practically a necessity, and are being used more every year. The Woodstock Woodworking Factory of R K Jones is the place to buy them.

Northampton Items.

Nov. 8th, 1893.

As no news has appeared in your columns from this place for sometime, perhaps some of your readers may think that Mary Ann has emigrated to a more serene a climate. But such is not the case as we still reside in Northampton enjoying the beautiful scenery of the place and will now attempt to enlighten the outside world as to the doing in and around this uncommon locality.

Miss Helen Gibson of Goods Corner is spending a few weeks among her relatives and numerous friends here.

Messrs James and Stanley Patterson have returned from Uncle Sam's domains after a lengthly absence of six months.

The new A.M.E. church was dedicated with appropriate services on Sunday. The attendance at the several meetings was large. The morning sermon was by Rev. A. Kersey; afternoon, Rev. N. B. Stewart; evening, Rev. J. W. Crosby. The collections amounted to the handsome sum of $33. On Monday evening, Rev. N B. Stewart delivered an interesting lecture in the church, before a large audience, on his experiences in South America

The cheese factory of James A. Barter, Avondale, was destroyed by fire Saturday night. On Saturday evening fire was discovered in the factory near the store but was, as supposed, entirely extinguished before doing much damage. Sunday morning Mr. Barter was surprised to find the factory a smouldering ruins. Beside the building and machinery about two tons of cheese were burned. The cheese was fully insured, and there was $800 insurance on the building.

As Mrs. E. J. Clarke and her daughter were driving down Main street, from the upper part of the town, on Saturday, their horse became unmanageable and suddenly turning the corner of Main and Chapel streets, upset the carriage, throwing the ladies out upon a pile of wood lying beside the Town Hall. Mrs. Clarke was severely injured about the face and left side, but the injuries, her physician, Dr. Sprague, pronounced not serious. Miss Clarke, fortunately, was not injured.

The rite of baptism was administered to a candidate, by Rev. A. F. Baker, in the Albert St. Baptist Church, Sunday morning, and in the evening the candidate was received into the membership of the Church. Under its present pastor the above church is in a most flourishing condition, spiritually, as well as otherwise. The seating capacity had become altogether too limited to accomodate the increasingly large congregations in consequence of which the trustees have been forced to add to that capacity one hundred chairs.
