Deanery Meeting.

To the Editors of the Carleton Sentinel:

Tuesday and Wednesday of this week several clergymen of the Church of England could have been seen driving out the Houlton road. Evidently some thing of more than ordinary interest was the attraction For Fairfield sent a worthy representative in the person of Rev. G. B. Nicholson. Houlton determined not to be behind its rival town, and so sent its comparatively new clergyman, the Rev H Hobart Barber, these brethern found at the rectory Richmond Corner, clerical representatives from Woodstock, Southampton and Wicklow. Their object for assembling is well known to those readers of your valuable paper who have frequently read of Deanery meetings. It was a source of regret to those present that the brethren from New Denmark, Birch Ridge, Canterbury, and Prince William could not be present, one was ill, another was unavoidably detained, another had to make a couple happy for life and another had only excuses for non attendance. It is expected that every minister should be present at these quarterly gatherings.

His Lordship the Bishop of Fredericton had requested that the first business in order should be the consideration of the re arrangement of the present boundaries of parishes or missions. Consequently the order of business was suspended to enable brethren to consider this important question. As men are scarce it becomes the imperative duty of the present rectors to work over larger areas. For a clergyman who last year travelled 5,000 miles in performing his parochial work, to be asked to work over a still larger territory, seems cruel, and appears too much like riding a free horse to death. And yet that good brother expressed his willingness, if arrangements could be made satisfactory to all, to take duty in an adjoining parish. As one of his brother clergymen, I protest against my good brother attempting, or being asked to attempt, any such labor. His life is valuable to the Deanery and the Diocese, and when it is understood that now his labours are one-third more than rightfully they should be, he will not be asked to sacrifice it, even in the interest of his loved Church and the salvation of souls. After a lengthy debate it was decided to forward to the committee in St. John a resolution embodying our opinions concerning the question.

The parable of the unjust judge was read in Greek and discussed. The only difference of opinion expressed was on the meaning of the words "When the Son of Man cometh, shall he find faith on earth?" To what faith, does our Lord refer? In the original the article is used before faith, so it would read, "shall He find the faith on earth?" I mention this so that your religious readers may think over it.

The Churchwardens at Edmunston forwarded a request for the members of Deanery to give them occasional services, as they had no rector. Such services had been given Andover the past two months, and, as it was thought likely that a rector would be soon elected there, the brethren decided to comply with the request from Edmunston.

A paper was read by one of the members and discussed by all, a vote of thanks being tendered to the reader for his "admirable" paper, as the mover termed it.

The following resolution was spoken to by all and carried by a standing vote:—

Whereas, it has been brought to our notice that our respected and honored Rural Dean, the Rev. Canon Neales has been actively at work in this Deanery for the space of a quarter of a century; therefore be it

Resolved, that the members of this Deanery heartily congratulate our reverend brother upon completing so happily the said twenty-five years of labour, and express the hope that he may long be spared to prosecute his labours, both in his Parish and in this Deanery.

The Dean was greatly surprised and pleased at hearing the kind words spoken by his brethren, particularly by the brother from the Fort, who spoke of the kind feelings felt towards the Canon by his own Diocesan Bishop Neely. The speech made by the Canon in reply was couched in beautiful language and so truly expressed his mixed feelings of surprise and delight at this token of kindness from those with whom he had associated for so many years. The members of the Deanery are truly to be congratulated upon having so kind and considerate a presiding officer.

Service was held morning and evening in St. John's Church, Rev H. H. Barber preaching in the evening from the words, "All Scripture is given by inspiration of God."

It was decided to hold the next meeting on Jan 31st 1894, at Jacksonville, when all the members are requested to be present.

Preacher appointed, Rev. C. A. S. Warneford.

Yours etc.
SEC. OF DEANERY.

Centreville, Nov. 10, 1893.

Bank your house—put on your storm windows, and generally prepare for winter. We may have it cold anytime now. Don't put these off till the last moment. If you have not already storm windows for the whole of your house, order them at once, at the Woodstock Woodworking Factory, and you will never regret it.

Bristol Items.

(From our regular correspondent.)

The following are the officers of Bristol Lodge, I O G T, to be installed next night of meeting: George H Boyer, C T; John Farley, V T; Murdock McLean, secretary; Miss Josie Estabrooks, A S; Bart Nesbit, F S; Miss Lillie Churchill, treasurer; Miss Belle Jones, chaplain; Ansley Lockhart, marshal; Archie Rogers, D M; Agnes Buchanan, guard; S Rogers, sentinel; Sherry Murphy, P C T

The Parish of Kent S S Convention met in the hall here on Friday at 2 30 p m, the vice president, Mr J Farley, in the chair. Rev A Lucas, Field Secretary, conducted the devotional opening exercises. The secretary, Mrs Barker, read the minutes of last session at Mineral, after which reports were received from Superintendents: Bristol school by G H Boyer; Bath Union by Mrs S Barker; Bumfrau by Miss Bertha Kearney; Upper Kent by Rev G M Young; Egypt by S I Rogers, and Mineral, Holmesville and Beaufort by the secretary. "How can we promote efficient Sunday School work through the winter," was discussed by Revds A Lucas, D Fiske, A H Hayward and G M Young and many valuable suggestions were thrown out. The evening session commenced at 7.00, with the president, D V Boyer, in the chair, Bro Lucas leading the devotional exercises. A valuable Normal Bible lesson was given by the Field Secretary, and short addresses on, "How to make Sunday Schools more interesting," by Rev G M Young, the president, and Mr Alex Hawthorne. The next convention will meet at Bath in February. The meeting was closed with singing, "God be with you till we meet again," and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Mr Young.

A fatal accident happened here Monday morning about 10 o'clock. It appears that a man named Chillian Linton attempted to cross the railroad bridge, while a freight train was standing upon it, and as the bridge projected only about a foot beyond the sides of the cars, he lost his footing and fell backward on the rocks below a distance of about 20 feet. He was carried to C A Phillip's hotel and Dr M C Atkinson summoned; he found that the skull had been fractured and could do nothing to relieve the wounded man, who remained in an unconscious state till his death Tuesday morning. He was about 30 and belonged to Fort Fairfield. He was under the influence of liquor at the time, which was the cause of the accident. The remains were taken in charge by his brother and forwarded to Fort Fairfield by Tuesday's express train.

(From another Correspondent.)

The late thaw has spoiled the skating at this place for the present. Boys have your skates ready for the good time is coming.

Rev Wm Blust gave us an interesting lecture at the hall last week. Many of his illustrations were quite amusing.

Rev B Cox formerly of Holmesvile Car. Co delivered a very impressive and talented discourse Sunday afternoon at this place. We hope before long we will be able to hear from him again.

The entertainment given in the hall on Monday Evening by Professor Leonell was very interesting. The way he performed on the Bristol barber showed he was an adept in the science of mesmerism. He had a large audience and Mr. Asa Brooker of Egypt drew the prize in greenbacks.

Quite an interesting trial took place on Monday before our Parish Court Commissioner, D S Jones; Lawyer Carvell was called up to help adjust matters. But the man got the pay for his pig just the same.

A juvenile was caught pilfering in one of our village stores last Sabbath. He effected his entrance when he supposed all the inmates of the house were at church. While young in years he is old in the business.

(From an occasional correspondent)

Rev Mr Young preaches in the Hall once a fortnight and is well liked by the community.

Chester was Serenaded by the Wicklow band and the sweet music echoed over the water to our quiet little village. Come again boys, we would like to hear you again.

Grafton Items.

Nov. 9th, 1893.

It has been some time since we noticed anything in your paper concerning Grafton or its inhabitants, who are entirely disgusted with the treatment they have received from the hands of the Government regarding the location of the bridge. We have noticed of late that the bridge builder, together with his crew, have appeared on the head of the Island on Sabbath mornings, with as much pomp and power as Pharaoh when pursuing the children of Israel, so we conclude that he must have lost his almanac and consequently does not know when Sunday comes; we would advise the Attorney-General to send him a Brayley's almanac that he may no longer break the command of our "Lord."

Mr. C. Esty is having his blacksmith shop remodeled for a dwelling, which, when completed, will add greatly to the appearance of our village

Miss Issie McDonald, who has been residing in West Duluth, Minn., has returned to her home in this place.

Mr. Frank Olmstead has been very ill, but his many friends will be glad to know that he is recovering slowly. Miss Christy Stewart is dangerously ill.

Our day school is in a flourishing condition under the excellent management of our teacher, H. B. Sloat.

The Sabbath School is prospering.

We have a fine Temperance Society in this place called the Grafton Council of Royal Templars; they are doing a grand work and we wish them success.

The saw mill formerly owned by Black & Anderson is being fitted up by J. N. W. Winslow for the winter work

Last Monday evening an entertainment and pie social was held under the auspices of the Royal Templars of Temperance. A very elaborate programme was provided for the evening by the members of our Council, and was well managed by Col. J D. Baird From the selling of the pies the Council realized $26.35. The Woodstock Cornet Band furnished music for the occasion and we would say that the talent displayed by said band shows no lack of musical energy on the part of the leader, but rather goes to show that he is fully competent as a teacher We wish them success in their musical department.

We would advise the boys of this place to prepare for a serenade, as it is intimated that a well known couple are to be joined in the holy bonds of "Padlock." MONA.

Then a mission Band was organized, After which the Choir sang 'God be with you till we meet again' The Benediction was then pronounced by Rev C H Manaton.

Mr Charles Wright when returning home Monday eve was knocked down by a frightened horse. He received a severe but not dangerous wound on the forehead. FERN.

The November term of the Victoria County Court will open at Andover to morrow. There are several civil causes at issue which, if not settled, will be tried. Fortunately there will be no criminal business to engage the attention of the Court.
