The regular meeting of the I O. G T was held on Saturday night It was the intention ing the roads pretty badly in many places, es to bave a debate, as to whether winter was su perior to summer as a sesson for sports; but as some of the members were absent the subject was postponed, and a spelling match substituted. We are sorry that Jack should abbreviate his name, why not write it out in full by adding the extra three letters, and let the public know what Gilbert T. Soavil of Maine is at present visit a puculiar thing for a literary genius we have is our community; also it would be well for Jack to guess again as to the true identity of Redoliff before making any sharp criticisms.
