Woodstock, April 28, 1893.

P. BRADLEY. Connell's Block, Main Street,

Semuel Hemphill has purchased the farm hitherto occupied by Henry Shaw, and known as the "Joe Hemphill Property"—G Avery, son of our distinguished Polled Angus cattle raiser, has purcheed the farm known as the "Hartley Property"—and John Boyd has pur-chased the farm, known as the "Jamieson property." The remarkable thing about there purchases is that all the farms bought in adjoin the old family homesteads of the purchasers' fathers. So you see some of our boys are left with us still, wedded to old associations, and unseduced to abandon these for the apples of Sodom and grapes of Gomarrah, which Uncle Sam so temptingly holds out as a bait to our young men. That's right, boys—"Don't be in hurry to go."

"There's cauld kail in Aberdeen. And castocks in stra' bogie."
But though sometimes "cauld," and some times hard to "chaw," they are the stuff men are made of. For G-'s, stick to your farms, and there is no fear of "yez." Building goes on space. John Hemphill hes moved one of his boss barns to a more convenient site. Thomas Philips and Hartley Carrol have both this spring put up fine new barns on their respective domains, and William Maclerine, not to be out done by his neighbors, is busy finishing off part of his fine new dwelling house deorge Adams is the house carpenter, and we all know what fine work he always turns out.

Alfred Carey is now fairly established in his fine new manor house on "Carey Chase." Walter Doucette is at present on a visit friends here, and looks quite "salubrious". His brother Leonard has, we are happy to say. quite recovered from his late severe attack of quinsy, which for some time rendered him quite hors de combat, and is again at his work. Alemanda Currie still continues much in the same weak state as formerly. Friends earnestly hope that fine weather may produce improve-George Campbell is slowly pulling through from his late paralytic attack. The old man, it seems, will weather the cape yet. Squire Hobbs, of whose recovery there is no hope, is "patiently waiting."

William and Herbert Ryan are both shortly apected home from "the far west." Come along boys, we will all be glad to see you both once more. You'll stay at home this time. For this town, Restaurant keeper, has this day won't you? "There's somebody waiting and assigned to the undersigned in trust for the bene-Comploto Manhand won't you? "There's watching for me." Eh! The pigs are all dying—passing away, passing away; but there are plenty more in Glass-ville, and at reasonable prices too.
