Sudden Death.

thrilled the community when, on Monday | year:afternoon, it was announced that "Mrs. Harry Smith is dead "

Only a few months ago Mrs. Smith became a bride. Delightfully situated, surrounded by all that could render life desirable and with bright prospects before her she was called, with fearful suddenness to leave her young husband, her affected mother, who was with her at the time, and her precent social joys and future earthly happiness, and die.
The cause of death was convulsions or, in chnical terms, Pulmonary Œlema. The eceased only lived about two hours after eing first seized with convulsions.

It was indeed a solemn and sad funeral ocession that accompanied the remains of Mrs. Smith to the train, on Tuesday night, en route for Montreal for interment, where her father, the late J. W. Brayley, is buried and where her two brothers reside. Universal sympathy with the bereaved is Judge Stevens' Lecture.

A great many people missed a fine oppor tunity by not attending the lecture in th Town Hall, by Judge Sievens, on "The World's Fair." There was but a small audience present. Rev. Mr. Ross occupied the chair. In a lecture of one and a half hours the learned Judge, in his usual easy and graphic style, took his hearers to and through the "White City" and introduced them to many of the most notable festures of magnificent indexes of human progress imaginable. Of course, more than this brief Judge at the close of the lecture.
