Glassville Presbyterial Visitation.

On the evening of Tuesday, the 22nd, the Presbytery of St. John, through their representatives, Rev. Messrs. Barker, of McKenzie Corner, Murray of South Richmond, and Fiske of Greenfield held the usual annual Presbyterial Visitation of the Presbyterian Church here, in the parish church of Aberdeen, Glassville. Rev. Mr. Ross, of Woodstock, the other member of the visiting committee was unable to be present. There was a large gathering of members and adherents of the Presbyterian Church, much larger, we should say, than is usually seen on such occasions, while all the different exercises were most efficiently carried out, and evidently deeply appreciated.

The opening devotional exercises were conducted by Rev Mr. Barker, who, after prayer and praise, read from Matt xvi—18 etc, and I Tim. vi—10 etc, commenting briefly on the same as he read. After praise, he choose as the subject of his visitation sermon the touching interview between our Lord and the rich young man—Mark x—17 etc. From these words he preached an able, eloquent and searching discourse, dwelling impressively on the young man's character, and the paramount importance of the question put by him to the Saviour—on our Lord's rejoinder in answering the young man's inquiry—on the young man's reply—on Christ's discrimination and uncompromising counsel—and lastly, on our Lord's deep sorrow at the young man going away grieved "for he had great possessions." In treating of his last point especially, Mr. Barker was singularly solemn and impressive, while his powerful peroration as to the duties of the rich, and "the ministry of wealth" was listened to amidst the most intense silence, and evidently with profound conviction on the part of his hearers.

After praise, Rev. Mr. Murray took the chair and explained the object of the meeting. It was one of those annual visitations of the congregations within the bounds of the Presbytery of St John, which the Presbyterian Church was in the habit of holding, to bring the people more in touch with the Presbytery, to exercise a close Presbyterial oversight over the interests of minister and people—spiritual and temporal—and, by question and answer to and from Pastor, Elders, Trustees and Members, to obtain the most ample information as to the manner in which the respective duties of these different parties were discharged. Such an investigation was not to be regarded as in any way inquisitorial, in the unpleasant sense of the term. It was purely for the good of all. While, therefore, it was necessarily searching and uncompromising, it would be felt by every right thinking man, who really had the welfare of his church at heart to be the means, under the blessing of God, of still farther establishing them in the "faith once delivered to the saints." Mr. Murray then put the usual prescribed questions to the Pastor, Rev. Mr. Bearisto—to the Kirk Session, represented by Messrs. William Lamont and Hugh Joyner, Elders—and to the Trustees, Messrs. John Joyner, Frank Home, Alexander Brown, Alexander Mackintosh and Lindsey Robinson. The questions were all answered in a highly satisfactory manner, and the books of the Kirk Session and Court of Trustees presented, examined and passed by the Presbyterial delegates with the highest approval. On Rev Mr. Murray calling on his brother delegates for a further expression of opinion, Rev. Mr. Barker rose and said—It was a subject of the most heartfelt gratitude to God and deep satisfaction to himself to be present at this meeting to-night—to witness such a large and cordial gathering of christian friends—to see and hear of so much christian unanimity and brotherly love in the congregation, of so much zeal in pastor and office bearers, and of so much reciprocal love and support between minister and people. He paid a high compliment to the people of Glassville and Aberdeen on the important evidences he saw around him everywhere of their great material prosperity, and was delighted that with it their spiritual prosperity had kept pace. This was not to be wondered at. The people he addressed were Scotchmen and the descendants of Scotchmen—of men from the "land of brown heath and shaggy wood" fellow countrymen of Chalmers and of Knox, of Knox, who never feared the face of man. Besides they were men, who when they came here to fight the battle of life, brought as it were, their God with them, and had not forgotten Him in the land of the stranger. After paying a passing tribute to the memory of the late Rev. Mr Glass, the founder of the colony, he congratulated the Minister, whose lines had fallen unto him in such pleasant places- the Elders on their warm and active co-operation with Mr Bearisto—the Trustees on their kindliness and zeal in so assiduously and closely attending to the temporalities of the church—and this Christian Flock on the privileges they were enjoying under the ministrations of a laborious, self-denying, and zealous shepherd. He finally congratulated the Presbytery of St John on having within their bounds a congregation, which like that that worshipped here, kept themselves so uncontaminated from outward heretical influences, so unwavering in their allegiance to the faith of our old reformers, so constant in their willing obedience to the rules and regulations of the old fold, and so liberal in their pecuniary aid to all the schemes of the Presbyterian Church. God would bless them all.

Rev Mr. Fisk followed suit, dwelling in eloquent terms on the manifold evidences of constantly increasing prosperity which every year were presenting themselves in Glassville, and indeed throughout all Aberdeen, both "In Church and State." He reviewed seriatim and in very complimentary terms the answers given to the different questions by Pastor, Elders and Trustees, paying a high tribute of praise to the latter for the disinterested manner in which he learned from personal observation and information they looked after the temporal comforts of the clergyman and his family. He had been in few districts, in very few indeed, where the material comfort of the minister and his family was a subject of such anxious solicitude with Church Trustees. People often forgot that the success of a minister's spiritual work in his parish depended to a large extent on his freedom from care—that when the mind was untrammeled from all due anxiety in respect of the things of this world, it could devote all its energies to the unimpeded exercise of the higher and holier functions of the ministerial office. The Trustees here, like the Elders, were men who left no stone unturned to make rough places plain, to remove obstacles to usefulness, to give a helping hand to the minister in times of extremity, and to soothe by their labors of love the sorrows of life's thorny path. Yes, they were such men, as those whose praise should be in all the churches. Mr. Fiske then referred to the admirable manner in which the books of the different courts were kept, and closed with a few very pointed and pertinent remarks on the Augmentation Scheme, warmly observing in the finale, that a church which was so distinguished as the Presbyterian Church here was for strict adherence to first religious principles, for close attention to business matters, and for unmeasured liberality could not but leave its deep and broad mark on the church records of the County—of the Province.

Mr Murray then proceeded, as chairman of the Presbyterial Committee, to sum up the testimonies of the Presbyterial delegates. As the congregation had yet to be heard from, he would now be very brief. He would begin by telling them a little anecdote. "There was once on a time a fashionable and anxious young man living in Chicago, weighing 110 lbs, who one evening went to see his inamorata, a stylish young lady weighing about 290 lbs and who had just returned home from a Fat Woman's Convention. In the room in which he met his beloved, there was only one chair. This of course the lady politely offered to the gentleman, who considerately took his betrothed on his knee. After sitting for about an hour and indulging in love young dream, she caressingly putting her arm about his neck lovingly whispered "are you tired ducky?" He faintly replied, no ducky; I was fifty five minutes ago—now I am numbed; for goodness sake, get off." Now my friends, Mr. Murray continued, "if you were tired fifty five minutes ago, I do not wish to numb you." He would therefore be very brief. He reviewed the questions and answers brought before the meeting, corroborating and warmly endorsing the statements of his brethren, and congratulating all parties on their present standing and reciprocal relations. After dwelling on the liberal pecuniary contribution's of the congregation to the funds of the Presbytery, he closed with another amusing anecdote, which, like the former, we give verbatim. Once upon a time, there was a nigger, who came to his master and said—"Sah, I've turned poet." "Poet," replied the boss. "What sort of a poem have you written? Let's hear it."

"Yes Sah. Here it is, in sixteen verses—

Go on, go on, go on, go on,
Go on, go on, go on,
Go on, go on, go on, go on,
Go on, go on, go on.

and so on to the end of the 16 h verse. "My friends," Mr Murray continued, hitherto you have done grandly. Now I want just to impress on you the nigger's lesson:—

"Go on, go on, go on, go on—"

not to the end of the 16th verse only, but as long as you live, and God will be with you. I for one shall not soon forget the great pleasure I have felt in being with you to-night. God help you all."

Aug. 30th, 1893.

"Where" is Northampton's correspondent Mary Ann, has he passed in his cheques, or has he come to the conclusion that silence is his best policy, for we are obliged to take our pen in hand and herald to the world the doings of this important (to itself) community.

Our day school has reopened under the tutelage of Miss Kate Brown, who so far has proven a very painstaking instructress.

Mr. George Hovey, St. Marys, York Co, who was visiting his relatives in this place has returned home.

Miss Edith Rogers has returned to her school at Goods Corner,

Miss Kate McIntyre, Richmond was visiting her relatives and numerous friends in this place last week.

We hear that Miss Eva Gill has again taken charge of the school at Victoria Corner; this will be the third term that one of our popular young ladies has taught in that place.

Mr. C. W. Connell intends visiting the World's Fair in September.

Miss Marion Dibblee is teaching the Lower Northampton school.

Miss Fannie Ives, one of our fairest young maidens, left on Tuesday last for Lunenburg N. S. She will be greately missed here in social circles as elsewhere, because our young people can no longer enjoy communion with such a gifted and intelligent young lady, and we hope that prosperity and good luck shall follow her during her sojourn in our sister province.

We read with amusement the short but sweet communication in the SENTINEL a few weeks ago, from Grafton's famous critic, of the repairs on the bridge that crosses Wright's gully; it seems queer to us down here that he should find fault with such a splendid piece of workmanship, when several other contracts of his own were done so fine considering price, &c

Miss Blanch Scott, Williamattic, Conn, is visiting her uncle Mr. A. Scott.

The weather of late has been favorable for the farmers and considerable progress has been made in harvesting.

Mr Albert Brittain and Mr James Barter, of Avondale, have entered into partnership for the purpose of building another Woodworking Factory to take the place of the one recently burnt. The site chosen is just above where the other stood and work is now being done in clearing away for the foundation.

The funeral of Mrs Charles Whitney, whose death occurred on 27th inst, took place to-day. The services were conducted by Rev A H Hayward.

Mrs Sanford Estabrooks, who has been visiting at Presque Isle, returned home on Monday.

In the absence of Rev D Brooks, the pulpit of Free Baptist church was vacant on Sunday. Mr Brooks is holding special services at Millville.

Rev Mr Knight and Mrs Knight, of Gibson, spent Sunday in Bristol, the guests of her brother, Dr Churchill.

Mr Walter Tompkins is adding a new blacksmith shop to his establishment, and Mr John Rogers is building an addition to his residence.

Dr Welch, of Glassville, was in the village on Saturday.

The Sunday School was closed on Sunday in definitely. It is to be hoped that it may soon revive again.

Mrs Arthur Whelpley and child, and Miss Ella Brittain, left on Monday for Minneapolis. Mrs Whelpley goes to rejoin her husband, Dr Whelpley, who resides in that city.

Mrs Alexander Fleming, formerly of Bristol, but now of Michigan, has been visiting old friends here.

The Lawn Concert advertised in your paper, came off on the date mentioned and proved a very successful affair indeed. The grounds were beautifully decorated with evergreens and Chinese lanterns. Ice cream and cake afforded refreshments during the evening, and the programme was all that could be desired; Opening chorus 'A welcome to all,' after which Rev G Swim offered prayer. The Secretary then read a report of the work done in the society, also stating that its object was to support a native bible woman in India; Recitations were given by Blanch Kelly, Ethel Peoples and Noah Grant; a short but interesting sermon on 'Mind' was given by Master Arnold McFarland; solos by Miss Laura Watson and Miss Bertie McAdam; a speech by Rev G Swim and singing 'The Gospel Call' brought the programme to a close. The sum of $23.78 was realized.

Wallace W. Scott returned home from Michigan on Saturday and found his parents in great sorrow over the death of their son Maurice although he had been sick nearly a year still his death to them seemed sudden. The sermon was preached by Rev. Mr. Phillips of Woodstock, assisted by Rev. J. W. S. Young and Rev. Mr. Shaw. The text chosen was Job, 15th chapter and first clause of the 11th verse. The deceased was 28 years old and was highly esteemed by all who knew him. The friends of the deceased wish to thank those who so nicely greened and ornamented the grave with evergreens and flowers.

Rev. Mr. Connere preached here Sunday afternoon.

Harvesting is progressing; those who have had threshing done report the crop above the average.

Gratifying to All.

The high position attained and the universal acceptance and approval of the pleasant liquid fruit remedy Syrup of Figs, as the most excellent laxative known, illustrate the value of the qualities on which its success is based and are abundantly gratifying to the California Fig Syrup Company.

Repeal of the Sherman Act.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—In the House of Representatives to day Mr. Bland's 16 to 1 free coinage proposition was defeated. Yeas, 123; nays, 225.

The next vote was on the amendment to fix the ratio of silver at 17 to 1 of gold, and this was defeated by 240 yeas to 100 nays. The present ratio between gold and full legal tender silver in the United States is 15 98 to 1.

The eighteen to one free coinage amendment was rejected. Yeas 102, nays 239.

The 19 to 1 amendments was rejected. Yeas 105, nays 237.

The 20 to 1 amendment rejected—yeas 119, nays 222.

The free silver men had little zeal for the next proposition, to revive the Bland Allison act, which was superseded by the Sherman. The defeat of that proposition was followed quickly by a direct vote on the question of the unintentional repeal of the compulsory purchase clause of the present law embodied in the Wilson bill. This passed by the emphatic vote of 239 to 110.

The house bill to repeal the Sherman act was reported to the senate and referred to the finance committee.

Harvesting in the North west.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 28.—Harvesting in the Northwest is far advanced and the end of the present week will see almost the entire wheat crop down. Taken as a whole 85 to 90 per cent. of the wheat is already cut and fairly well hardened in the berry. Under the circumstances it would require an exceptionally heavy frost preceded by rain to do much harm. Mr. Thompson, manager of the Ogilvie Milling Co., who has taken a provincial tour of inspection, says that Manitoba and the Territories will harvest this year 19 to 20 millions of wheat and the percentage of No 1 and 2 hard wheat will largely exceed any other year. There has been no damage by frost so far and with reasonable dry weather for another week is not possible for much, if any, damage to occur, beyond eight to ten per cent. at the very outside. "Yes," said Mr. Thompson in conclusion: "It looks like the best crop in quality all round ever harvested in Manitoba."

A Girl and Her Fiance Killed.

PASO PINTO, Tex, Aug. 22.—Miss Ida Beatty and James Bly were returning home together from church at Pleasant Valley last night, when they were suddenly confronted by Elward Naites with a winchester in hand, who, without warning, shot young Bly through the heart, killing him instantly. At the firing of the shot Miss Beatty's horse became frightened and made a break for the woods. Naites pursued and overtook the girl, and with a blow of the gun knocked her from the horse, crushing her head. He placed the muzzle of the gun to her forehead and fired. He then placed the muzzle of the gun to his own head and killed himself. Naites and Miss Beatty were engaged. Jealousy was the cause.

Pulled Out His Nails.

PULASKI, Tenn., Aug. 25.—J. N. Bolles, a farmer, drew $1000 from the bank a few days ago and hid it under the edge of a carpet. At midnight two masked men gained entrance into his house, covered Bolles and his wife with pistols, and demanded their money. Bolles refused to tell where it was. The robbers bound and gagged Bolles and his wife, and with a pair of pincers began to pull his toe nails out. After suffering the most horrible agony Bolles disclosed the hiding place. The robbers secured the money and escaped.

instead of lard. None but the purest, healthiest and cleanest ingredients go to make up Cottolene. Lard isn't healthy, and is not always clean. Those who use Cottolene will be healthier and wealthier than those who use lard—Healthier because they will get "shorter" bread; wealthier because they will get "shorter" grocery bills—for Cottolene costs no more than lard and goes twice as far—so is but half as expensive.

FLETCHER

The Jeweler,—and a good one he is—invites his friends, enemies, (if he have any) and the general public to visit his store, inspect his stock, and then buy what they desire. He has added to his store many improvements for the care and exhibition of his stock.—His recent importations give purchasers a fine lot of goods from which to select. For young men, and older ones too, he keeps a fine stock of regularly constituted and the necessary Rings and Jewelry which such parchment calls for! His Rings, Guards, Brooches, and other golden articles are well displayed.

Leverett draws customers by his adaptability to the business.
