> The Senate The Toronto Globe has the following : Behind the movement for the abolition of the Senate, the London Free Press sees a stitution. The Senate, it says, is the basis MEN'S, of Confederation, the vertiable underpinning of the Canadian constitution, and could not be abolished without its speedy destruction. Its function is "to sateguard the country against hasty and ill-considered or violently partizan legislation, and to assure to the lesser Provinces that just and even balance of consideration without the surety of which they would never have consented to enter the Federal compact." The Senate has now been on trial 27 years. and as a revisor of basty or partizan legisla tion or a guardian of the rights of the smaller Provinces it has been a signal failure.
