Woodstock's Industries .- No. 8. CLOTHIERS AND TAILORS.

Speaking of tailors carries one's reflection back to the days of Wm. Boyer, Peter Melody, Jas. Phillips, Geo. Walker, et names familiar now to few of our citiz Days when as yet sewing machines not come into general use if they were in u at all, days when few women worked at the benches cross legged to stitch, stitch, stitch Well things ain't now as they by hand.

s senior in point of years, in business here, se a tailor, he having numbered 25 years. Mr. Walker's shop is up stairs over E. J. Clark's store, Main St. He employs eleven hands, mostly temales; runs two sewing machines and a pressir g machine. He cuts up about 2548 yards or cloth, various kinds, per year, manufacturing it into clothing, for gentlemen, of all kinds, to order, fashionable or of past fashions as may be desired.

Merchant tailor and gentlemens furnisher KID BUTTON BOOTS has his tailoring establishment over his store on Main St. Mr Jones is a Woodstock boy and has always lived here. Has been in his present business alone for ten years, pre viously having been in company with John McLauchlan and in other positions gaining experience in his business. He makes to order all sorts of gentlemens clothing, using in their production about 3000 yards of material per annum, employing skilful help; he has twelve hands at work using two sewing machines. He, in his store, connected with the work department, makes a specialty of trade "The Varnished Board" on which each gents furnishing goods where he carries a complete and varied stock of all the requisites for a gentleman's wardrobe or toilet, as our readers are duly informed by advertisement.

What is a Radius?

To the Editors of the Carleton Sentinel: In a late issue of your paper, the CARLE TON SENTINEL, I noticed an article from a "Subscriber." who wax-s wrath over such an expression as "within a radius," etc., and recoiling his well remembered, but evidently not so well unders and, definition of a radius, he skeptically inquire how a radius can contain anything. To inform him upon this point is the sole object of this article.

His definition is geometrically correct viz. "that it is a line drawn from the centre the circumference of a circle." But here his difficulty arises. Geometry defines a line as that which has length without breadth, so he inquires how such can contain anything. We all know that a line contains an indefinite number of points, so a radius, being a line, contains so much. For instance, when we say that there are a number of churches within a radius of say five miles, we do not mean to say that they are contained in a line, but that they are at a distance of less than five miles from the centre of an imaginary circle. In other words that they are within a distance of five miles. We may say "with-

At Midnight July 23rd we were awakened by the loud cry of 'fire,' which caused great alarm among the people, for standing on the west bank of the river and seeing the great flame playing with the building and fast burning it to the ground, we thought the building was the large hotel kept by Mrs J D Burnham, with Kilpatrick Bros. store which occupies the first storey. But great was our surprise when storey. But great was our surprise when morning dawned to see the large sightly building still standing and Kilpatrick Bros. carrying on their business as usual, while off to the northeast, behind the hotel, were the blackened ruins of a barn owned by Mr J D Burnham Some loss was incurred.

Evening parties seen to be the order of the day. Mr D Semple gave a party in honor of his children who have come back to their home for rest and enjoyment during vacation. A large number of guests were present and the entertainment was a great success. The re-freshments were of a very delicate quality and served in abundance. They consisted of coffee, cake and ice cream. This was a very interest-ing number of the programme and largely in-dulged in by all.

DEAR SIR,—I notice an article in the Daily Gleaner of the 14th inst., headed "Registrar of Wills and Deeds of Carleton" in which article Mr. John S.
