Dec. 2nd, '94.

A concert is in contemplation at Black Rock for the week preceding Christmas.

Mr. E. P. Ross, Riley Brook, has been very sick from a gathering in his head. He is now some better.

Mr. Brzillia Mowry will make his home this winter at Mrs. Mary Trafton's, whither he removed on Monday last.

Mr. Martin Watson is expected to commence work on Burnt Land Brook early this week with a small party.

Mr. George Tapley and family have moved to the former residence of John Tapley, esq., who is now located at Riley Brook.

Mr. James Jenkins has gone to the woods. He will work on Two Brooks for Mr. Wm. Inman, where two of his sons are also employed.

The closing of the river proceeds rather slowly. At the end of the past week, however, the ice bridge, had formed in the vicinity of Long Island and again at Gulguc.

George W. Trafton came home on Tuesday last, and has been for the balance of the week, employed at Mr. D. W. Sadler's, Long Island. He will probably start for the woods the coming week.

Mrs. Cameron, relict of the late Mr. John Cameron, of Dow Flat, with her family, went down in the stage on Tuesday last. She will in the future reside on the Nash-waak where she has a daughter living.

Remoteness from the place of publication precludes the possibility of mentioning events just when they occur, yet the presence among us of Mr. Benjamin Beveridge, during the past week in all the glory of benedictine dignity, was a cheerful reminder of the ceremony which took place in Andover, on Wednesday, 21st ult. The universally respected bride, Mary, daughter of George Badell, esq., possesses, along with her popular husband, the earnest desire of a multitude of well wishers for a prosperous and happy future.

It is long since an event occurred, so sad and so unexpected as that at Plaster Rock, on Wednesday last, resulting in the death of O. V. Hutchinson, son of Es-kiel Hutchinson, Esq., of Andover. A huge rock had been loosened in the quarrying operations, and rolling upon him with all its ponderous force, crushed his head, breaking his neck and cutting off one of his arms which he had probably thrust out instinctively to preserve his balance. The blow fell with aggravated force on his parents at the present time when his father is suffering from typhoid fever. He is said to have sunk rapidly since the catastrophe thus threatening the afflicted mother with the loss at once of husband and son. Deceased was the youngest of the family and was highly esteemed among all who knew him, being of a remarkably affable and friendly disposition. He was the only member of the family remaining with his parents, a brother and two sisters having married and left the paternal roof. The suddenness and severity of this calamity have been a shock to the thinking and unthinking as well as a golden opportunity for the absurd pretences of superstition. Yet it will be long indeed before right thinking persons will cease to sympathize with the bereaved parents in such a severe and painful trial.

G. W. White & Son have moved into their new store which presents a very fine appearance. This firm is old, but true.

All our merchants are trying to excel themselves in Xmas goods; each store looks fine. Business of all kinds is good, but money is scarce.

E. L. West, with a helper, in one week, took off and put on 484 horse shoes. The report of his shoeing for 80 cents is false. He wants the public to know he does no cheap work.

Mrs. J. E. Flewelling continues to improve in health. Dr. Lunn remains very poorly.

Somerville Hawkins met with a serious accident while threshing with a Moody machine, by getting his hand caught. Amputation of one finger was found necessary; Dr. Brown performed the surgical operation.

The few Liberals that attended the grand rally came home well pleased.

The ice is good on the pond and the boys have commenced to develop their speed. Look out for a big time Christmas. Dr. Brown's Wilkes and G. D. Perkin's Wilkes intend making it warm for all comers.

Mrs. W. S. Estabrooks, of Marysville, is visiting her parents in this village.

The farmers are jubilant over the prospect of having the railroad the coming summer; what a pity we did not have it this Fall.

We are waiting the call of the Local government for an election; we hope they won't make the call when the snow is deep.

Burt's hotel seems to be well patronized; the proprietor has built a very neat sample room for the benefit of salesmen.

Another accident at Plaster Rock, this time a fatal one. On Wednesday, C. V. Hutchinson, son of E. Hutchinson, Esq., of Andover, was instantly killed by a piece of rock striking him. "Van" as he was called was a very popular young man, and made hosts of friends wherever he went. Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson have the sympathy of the entire community. The funeral took place at Andover, on Friday 30th ult., under the auspices of Court Andover, I. O. F. of which deceased was a member. To add to the general sorrow, Mr. Hutchinson was, and still is, suffering from typhoid fever, and was unable to attend his son's funeral.

On the same day on which C. V. Hutchinson was killed another painful accident happened up the Odell. Mr. G. W. Wright was cut by an axe, and had his left hand cut in the palm, almost severing the fingers. Mr. Wright was greatly weakened by loss of blood, but is recovering rapidly.

The effect of the rusty appearance of our oat fields is now beginning to show up. Mr. J. W. Campbell sowed 90 bushels and only had 600, a little better six from one. The same gentleman, a year or two ago, on ground no better than his oat fields were this year, raised 15 bushels from one. Other farmers find their yield to be about the same ratio as Mr. Campbell's.

Smuggling turkeys and poultry to Fort Fairfield got a sudden set back a few days ago. Two women from here started to the Fort with a load of dressed fowls, and drove to the store of Mr. Olowes, next door to the U. S. Customs office. They had just got their fowls into the shop when the Customs officers entered, and confiscated the whole business. The matter was finally settled by the payment of some ducats for the benefit of Uncle Sam's treasury; and the parties interested are sadder and wiser. They know now who pays the duty.

Sickness is rife here just now. B. S. Grant was brought home very ill on Saturday. A little child of J. McNairs has had pneumonia and nearly died. The daughter of J. B. Stevenson has been ill for some time. In Grant's camp, on Three Brooks, a number are reported sick.

Mr. J. O. Brown, of Sisson Ridge, has "shut up shop" and gone to the woods on Three Brooks. It was announced sometime ago that Mr. Brown was going into the hotel business, but he evidently thinks there is more money in lumber than in a hotel.

'Toting' is being pushed rapidly. There are so many men and teams in the woods that it takes quite a number of teams to convey to them the "raft of life," and the other necessities of lumber camps.

Rev. J. R. Hopkins intends (D. V.) having a watch night service on Dec. 31. The rev. gentleman also intends making a missionary tour of the camps after Xmas. This, no doubt, will be much appreciated by the men in the different camps. "A"

The Aberdeen Farmers' and Dairyman's Association, held their first annual meeting in the Caledonian Hall, on the evening of Friday, the 23rd. Pres. McLachlan in the chair. After the usual preliminary routine business, the Sec. read submitted his accounts for the past year, which were duly audited, reported on and sustained. The meeting then proceeded with the election of officers for the ensuing year, when John McLachlan, Esq., was re-elected President; Geo. B. Reid was elected Vice-President; John Home was re-elected Sec. Treas.; and Edward Gillmore, Esq., and John Mackintosh, William Simpson and Archibald Pearson, were elected Directors, with Pres. Vice Pres., and Sec. Treas. ex officio. The Pres. then urged on the meeting the necessity of taking vigorous steps to canvass for a new list of membership. Mr. Mackintosh promised to adopt all possible measures to have a first class Cheese Factory built at Glassville by 1st June 1895; and hoped members and others, especially the Ab. Agri. Soc., would do all in their power to aid him in the erection and furnishing of the building. Squire Gillmore complimented Mr. Mackintosh on his zeal, and strongly recommended the addition of a creamery. In proof of what might be done for the benefit of farmers and others by a truly patriotic man, whose interests were not all bound up in self, he instanced the case of Mr. Michael of Buctouche. That reverend gentleman was a true shepherd to his flock. He ran a store and made cheese and butter for his people at cost prices. There was no pious humbug about him. He tried to benefit his people in things temporal as well as spiritual. He was none of your sentimental missionaries who contented themselves with feeding the hungry with trashy tracts "on the bread of life." He gave his flock something good to eat.

"He gives but little who gives his tears, He does better, who aids and cheers. So he does better and merits more Who drives the wolf from the poor man's door."

Mr. Gillmore congratulated the association on re-electing Squire McLachlan, President. The Squire was a gentleman who always stood to his gun and called his colors to the mast-head. The stock that years ago he first brought into the country had proved a blessing to farmers, and justified the good judgement formed of him by his compere. He was one of the principal men who launched the Ab. Agri. Soc., and all along while he was at the helm of its affairs, its course had been prosperous (Applause) Squire Gillmore was followed by Mr. Rob. D. Montgomery in a telling and humorous speech on feeding cattle for butter, cheese and flat boned steak. Mr. Home reported on his visit to the farmers of Andover district, at whose annual agricultural society meeting he had been privileged to be present for a brief space, when he had the pleasure of listening to discussions on artificial fertilizers and ensilage, which discussions Mr. Home succinctly reported. He was followed by Mr. Simpson and Squire Gillmore who rehearsed their experience in the use of the former and their methods of plating potatoes, the President, as usual, taking a prominent part in the discussion. The next meeting of the association was appointed to be held in the same place on the evening of Thursday the 13th Dec. for which meeting President McLachlan volunteered a paper on "Farmers' Economics." The subject appointed for discussion was—"Time as a measure," and "Best Kinds of Fall Feed to raise for cattle. Adjourned.

Mr. A. W. Phillips has moved into his new house for the winter. Mrs. Phillips, who has been spending a few weeks with friends at Tracey's Mills, returned home on Saturday. Mr. Harding Noble, of Woodstock, is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Phillips.

Mr. S. Murphy, our late station agent, has resigned his position, and taken a situation in the store of C. A. Phillips & Son.

F. B. Carvell, Woodstock, and Dr. Welch of Glassville, were in Bristol to-day.

The Orangemen of Bristol have decided to hold a concert and supper on Christmas Eve, and the matter is now in the hands of an efficient committee.

The different stores in the village are all apparently doing a good business, and are carrying a large and good line of goods. No doubt there will be plenty of room for the new store which is about being opened here, as it will be the means of bringing more business to our little town. Miss Bell Jones is running a cheap sale, as she intends soon to withdraw from business.

David Irvine was in Bristol on Tuesday, the guest of W. A. Sherwood.

There is not snow enough here for sleighing, but in going to Glassville, after the first two miles, the traveller will find plenty of snow; at Beaufort, it is said, there is a foot of snow on the ground.

Hipwell L. O. L. No. 57, held its annual session last evening and elected the following officers, the District Master presiding:—Wm. C. Rideout, W. M., re-elected; Marvin Shaw, D. M.; Shepard Colwell, Chaplain; Harry Shaw, R. S.; Geo. W. Hatfield, Treas.; Aaron Shaw, F. S.; Edward Underhill, D. of C.; Linden Shaw, Lecturer; Thos. Underhill, Sr. Con.; E. Isher Shaw, D. F. Munro, Horace Shaw, Jas. Barker, Committee. The installation was conducted by G. S. Wiggins, W. M. of Victoria Lodge.

A few days ago a live fox came floating down the river on a cake of ice; it was seen by some young men, and two of them went after it in a boat, and succeeded in making the capture, the fox preferring to surrender rather than jump into the icy waters. Its skin now adorns the store of Mr. G. W. Hatfield.

The ice jammed in here on Saturday, and now there is crossing on foot.

Winter has come for sure. Frozen cars and fingers are the order of the day.

We are glad to learn that Mrs. Stephen Nixon is recovering from her recent serious illness; also pleased to notice that Miss Flora Dow was able to be out on church on Sunday evening.

A very enjoyable time was spent by a number of our young people, at the residence of Mr. J. F. Richardson, on Thursday evening, at a party given by his daughter.

Miss Bessie Willett leaves us on Thursday for Houlton, where she will attend Rickers Institute, the coming year. She will be greatly missed as she is a general favorite. The best wishes of her friends go with her.

Miss Eina Brooks, who so very acceptably fills the position as teacher at Newburgh Junction, has been visiting friends and relatives here.

Miss Addie Shaw, of Hartland, paid us a flying visit last week.

Miss Amy Tedlie has returned from her pleasant visit to Woodstock and Gratton.

An omission was made in the Items of last month; besides a Nurse and Dentist, Brighton can also boast of a "Professional Potato Digger."

We hear that the young man who has been taking lessons in "blacksmithing," has learned the business more readily than he at first expected.

Trade of Canada.

The Montreal Witness publishes the following interesting figures reported from Ottawa:—

"The trade returns for the month of October are published in the Canada Gazette as follows: Minerals, $541,820; fish, $1,786,163; forest, $2,939,348; animals and their products, $5,059,312; agricultural products, $3,381,546; manufactures, $835,354; miscellaneous, $33,893; total, $14,677,436.

The total exports for the corresponding month in 1893, also excluding coin and bullion, amounted to $13,689,685, an increase for the past October of $907,751. There is an increase in agricultural products of $380,000; in animals and their products of $400,000; and in wood of $195,000. There is a decrease of $67,000 in minerals.

There continues to be a heavy decrease in imports, the figures for October, 1894, totaling $3,357,741, and for the corresponding month of 1893, $9,301,517, a decline for this year of no less than $1,443,776. There is thus a decline in the total foreign trade of Canada for the month of $536,055.

For the first four months of the fiscal year ending Oct. 31, the exports totalled $48,683,869, compared with $51,987,511 for the corresponding months of 1893, a decline of $3,303,642.

The total imports for the same periods were: For 1894, $35,790,690, and for 1893, $41,237,253, a decline for 1894 of $5,446,563. (This is exclusive of coin and bullion.)

It is seen, therefore, that so far this year there is a decline in Canada's total trade of the enormous sum of $8,744,305. This is equivalent to $25,000,000 for the whole year.

The duty collected last month amounted to $1,426,039, compared with $1,653,279 in the corresponding month of 1893. The average duty on all imports was one and a half per cent. higher for October, 1894, than for October, 1893, which is a bad snowing for the new tariff. It is not any better taking the dutiable goods alone on which the average duty in October, 1893, was over thirty one and a half, and in October, 1894, a fraction under thirty two per cent. The burden of the new tariff, taking into account both dutiable and free goods, is, therefore, according to the official returns of the current year, heavier than the burden of the old tariff. The duty collected on coal was over eighty seven per cent. The duty on rice was sixty per cent. Mr. Foster declared last session that it would not be more than thirty per cent. Sir Richard Cartwright said it would be sixty per cent., and, according to the returns of actual imports for October, Sir Richard was right and Mr. Foster wrong.

The duty paid on sparkling wines was less than the duty on the wholesome rice, and the French treaty is not yet in operation. When it is, the duty on these wines will be less than one-half the duty on rice."

Canadian Almanac, 1895.

A copy of the Canadian Almanac for 1895 has reached this office. Although this is the forty eighth annual issue of this work, it has lost none of the vigor of youth or attractiveness of looks or matter. The statistical and directory portion of the almanac is very complete and, as far as we have examined, complete. Dr. J. G. Bourinot contributes a valuable article on Canadian Parliamentary Procedure; there is an interesting table of statistics of the British possessions and colonies throughout the world, with a map of the world; Tariff of customs; Remarkable events 1893-94, with much more that is interesting and valuable. For sale by all booksellers, or from the publishers, The Copp, Clark Co., Toronto. Paper covers 20cts.; cloth covers, 30cts.

London Schools.

In London, Eng., women have secured a decided triumph. In a contest for election to the school board, Miss Davenport Hill defeated the Duke of Newcastle by 8,000 votes, the poll being the heaviest on record. The two parties in the fight were the moderates, representing doctrinal, and the progressists, secular teaching. The former still holds a majority of seats, 29 against 26 held by the latter, who gained six seats. The issue involved the question whether education shall be controlled by non-sectarians or clericals.

Athletics.

The athletic record of the past season, including the killing of one man by another prize fighter, which shows a broken neck in a gymnasium of the Y. M. C. A.; more college students hazed to death and a lot of cripples made on football fields, indicate that the craze for athletic education and indulgence has been indulged in to a sufficient extent.
