From Armenia. soldiers upon Armenia settlers are reported, thousands of whom were killed.

The troubles began with the Armenians refusing to pay taxes on the plea, probably well founded, that the frequent Kurdish raids had impoverished them. A few troops which were sent to collect the taxes were beaten. In the meantime the Governor of Bitlis, Asiatic Turk-y, reported to the Porte that a serious revolt had broken out and obtained permission to send all obtainable troops to the scene.

Marshal Zikia Pasha, commander of the Fourth Army Corps, stationed at Ersing, was ordered to proceed thither and direct operalare the Armenians quietly submitted. Now comes the horrible part of the story. An account received in London says: The troops were commanded by a Pacha and a Marshal and were hurried to the district. The Pasha is said to have hung from his breast, after reading it to his soldiers, an order from Constantinople to cut the Armenians up, root and branch, and edjuring them to do so if they leved their King and Government. Nearly all these things were requoise setting, Silver Bangle Rings. lated here and there by soldiers who took part in the horrible carnage. Some of them, weeping, claim that the Kurds did more, and declare that they only obeyed the orders of others. It is said that one hundred fell to each of them to dispose of. No compassion was shown to age or sex even by the regular soldiers, not even when the victime fell suppliant at their feet. Six to ten thousand persons met such a fate as even the darkest ages of darkened Africa bardly witnessed, for there women and tender babes might at least have had a chance of a life of slavery, while here wemanhood and innocence were but a mockery before the cruel lust that ended its debauch by stabbing women to death with the bayonet, while tender babes were impaled with the same weapon on their dead mothers' breasts, or, perhaps, seized by the hair to have their heads lopped off with the sword. In one place, three hundred or four hundred women, after being forced to serve vile purposes by the merciless soldiery, were hacked to pieces by sword and bayonet in the valley below.

In another place some two hundred weep ing and wailing women begged for compassion, falling at the commander's feet, but the blood-thirsty wretch, after ordering their violation, directed his soldiers to despatch them in a similar way. In another place some sixty young brides and the more attractive girls were crowded into a church, and after violation were slaughtered, and human gore was seen flowing from the church door. At another place still, a large company, under the lead of their pricate, fell down before them, begging for compassion, pleading that they had noth-ing to do with the culprits. But all to no purpose. All were called to another place and the proposal was made to several of the more attractive women to change their faith, in which case their lives were to be spared. They exid: 'Why should we deny Christ? We are no more than these,' pointing to the mangled forms of their husbands and brothers; 'kill us too,' and they did so. A great effort was made to save one heauty, but three or four quarrelled over her and she was shot down like her sisters. But why prolong the shocking tale. There must be a God in Heaven, who will do right in all these matters, or some of us would lose faith.
