Sir Andrew Clark was a loyal champion of the temperance cause, and will be long remembered for his address on alcohol as "An Emeny of the Race," with its remarkable fervent conclusion:—"It is when I myself think of all this (the terrible effects of the abuse of alcohol)) that I am disposed to rush to the opposite extreme, and to give up my profession, to give up everything, and to go forth upon a holy crusade, preaching to all men—beware of this enemy of the race."
