Poetry. The First Star of the Year. In a field of amethyst, Hanging like a globe of mist,

Streaming banners, crimeon red, Float above the sun's low head, Resting from his day's career. Like a bursting ball of snow, Like a white rose opes to blow, Shows the low'ring star her face. Bright companions one by one, Gather round her pearly throne, Each resplendent in its place.

Like the dawning of the truth As love wakens in the youth, Flashes now the New Year's star. Queen and brightest of her race, Shedding all her lustrous grace Down to us from realms afar ! Down to us from realms of light,

Comes the first star of the year.

Ever glowing, beaming, brightilden star and dazzling sun, Clouds may oft obscure their rays, But they cannot quench their blaze, Constant in their course they run. How we day by day should live, Nobly shining in our sphere. Greater light and clouds may mar; Shine on steadfast like the star. Like the first star of the year remembered that he had once been known as Handsome Jack. So some old flame of by-gone days still cherished his picture. But who was she and where did she get it? Jack did not have much time to think it out, for the child insisted upon being undressed. As Jack had never put a youngster to bed in his life he telt some hesitancy, especially as he was a stranger in a strange apartment, and the child's parents might come in at any moment. How on earth would he explain things if they did? But as the child grew more sleepy she became more clamorous, and pleaded with such sweet artlessness that the kind-hearted clubman determined to play nurse for once in his life.

'I jessed myself after mum went out, but ise too tired to undo it,' explained the child, as she turned her back for her guest to unbutton the little lace dress. Jack Knickerbocker realized the gravity of the situation then and his courage failed him, and he rose to depart, but the child clasped her little arms about his leg and held him back. 'I kin scweam,' she declared, half laughingly, but there was such a mischievous twinkle in the bright blue eyes that the cowardly bachelor trembled and wiped great beads of perspiration from his forehead.

'No, little oue,' he insisted; but a sbrill childish scream caused him to make up his mind to make the best of it. He bent and nervously unclasped the mysterious hooks and eyes that continually evaded his clumsy fingers,

The Princess of Wales celebrated her 50th birthday December 1. Half a century seems a formidable number of years for a beautiful woman to have to scknowledge to, and in the case of the Princess the fact seems incredible. She is really a wonder, for she has Minard's Family Pills are Purely Vegetable.

I do all my own house work; I am cheerful and happy, and do not experience any of the fatigue and weakness that troubled me some months ago.

I live and enjoy life to-day, and thank God for the great agent of life that cured me

I trust that thousands of women will have a chance to read this testimony, and profit by may experience. I strongly appeal to all women to give up other medicines that they are now vainly using, and commence at once with Paine's Celery Compound, which alone can bring back lost health. I wish I could personally visit eyery woman in Canada who is suffering as I once suffered; I am sure my words of testimony and comfort would soon convince all that there is only one honest, worthy and meritorious medicine that can meet worthy and meritorious medicine that can meet their troubles, and that medicine is Paine's Celery It appears that the present financial crisis in Newtoundland is only what might have been expected from its bad currency system, which has long been a drag on its commercial prosperity. Gold is scarce, and the only currency in the Province consists of notes is-inances on a solid basis. There is a Spanish proverb which says of clergy." The home, let it always be re-membered, is the first church, the hearthtone, the first alter, and father and mother
