departments of the school. C H Elliott is teacher of advanced department. His school I found largely attended and a busy hive of industry. Miss Scott is doing a good work up-stairs. A new school house is being erected which will be ready for occupancy in a few months judging from appearances. Andover is a thriving village and "beautiful for situation." A new mill is being erected by Mr Upham, on left bank of the noble St John. I found band stand occupied by Mr Oook, merchant tailor, assisted by two young ladies. He is kept fairly busy. I called at one house where I found a charming young lady of a marriageable age, and I was puzzled to know why so promising a bud had not been plucked long ere this by one of the Andover young men. I met Dr King, son of Andover young men. I met Dr King, son of George G King, who is assisting Drs Welling and Wiley in preventing people from being too seriously ill.

sections of Aroostook county, are settling with their creditors by the easy payment plan, i. e., Insolvency. Low prices of potatoes and the indiscriminate running into debt are the chief causes. In a few cases, however, natural villiany is the real cause, but the first two mentioned are the ones given to the public. One day last week no less than 4 men were in town making arrangements to pay up this way. Sheriffs and lawyers are busy in consequence.

Fort Fairfield can boast of two electric light systems now. Formerly this town was supplied by the Holmes Op of Caribou, 10½ miles distant. The Stevens Lumber Co laterally put in the Thomson-Houston system and many of the people took the new light in preference to the old, although lots still keep the Holmes light. Those who did so have been in the dark since Friday night. The Holmes light is run by water power and, Friday afternoon, the ice jammed at the Caribou dam and the water backed up in the Oaribou dam and the water backed up in the Power station and overflowed the dynamo, making it unworkable Such, at least, is the way we heard it, still we would not swear to way we heard it, still we would not swear to Still it is a fact that part of the town If you want an Axe that will stand There is some talk of the Stevens Electric Light Co running their wires over to Andover, N B.
