thing surely for them to do; would it be said they should have left the remains to rot above the ground or had them buried by tender or contract. After what the English government had done in the matter, the Canadian government could not do less than they had done, for one who was a noble man—the noblest man in Canada Sir John Thompson had saved Canada more by far in the Behring Sea arbitration than it cost to bury him.

He repudiated the idea that he had ever said or done anything disrespectful of or opposed to the Catholics. He treated every man alike whatever his creed.

DIED. At Woodstock, June 25th., little Jennie, only child of Albert P. and Lo tie B. Connolly, aged Our Babe has gone from out our home,

We'll see her on earth no more. But we know if true, in a little while We will meet her on Canaan's shore Here life (though 'twas short) is ended, We have laid her beneath the cold sod, Yet we know there is life for our babie, It was wrought by the dear Son of God. We're sorrowful now; yet rejoicing As we think of the time yet to come, When Jesus will come in his glory, To gather the ransomed ones home Then let us who are living be faithful And do only that which is right. And by and by with the white robed throng,

Let the heavenly messenger come, And gather the watching and waiting ones To dwell in thy heaven'y home.

We'll dwell in the mansions of light.

She is with the happy angels, And I long for her sweet kiss, Where her little feet are waiting In the realms of perfect bliss. Lay aside the litt'e playthings, Wet with mother pearly tears, How we shall miss little Minnie All these coming weary years. Fold the dainty little dresses That she never more will wear;

Put away the little playthings.

That our darling used to wear,

She will need them on earth never, She has climbed the golden stair,

For her little feet are waiting Up above the golden stair. Kiss the little curly tresses Cut from her bright golden hair; Do the ange's kiss our darling in the realm so bright and fair Oh! we pray to meet our darling For a long, long sweet embrace. Where the little feet are waiting. And we meet her face to face .
