

The Carleton Sentinel.

Our Queen and Constitution.

[Editors & Proprietors.]

WOODSTOCK, N. B., SATURDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1896.

WHOLE NO.—2582.

FIRE ASSURANCE

COLLECTING AGENCY.
The Suburban Life Insurance Co. of London, England, is the only Fire Insurance Co. in the world that has been awarded the highest honors by the London Convention of 1894.

The Atlas Assurance Co.
of London, England; Capital, £1,000,000,000.

The Western Assurance Co. of Toronto
Has Cash Assets, £1,240,381.00
Unpaid Capital, 800,000.00

Fire and marine risks taken at lowest rates. Losses promptly paid.

WILLIAM DIBBLE.

Agent for County of Carleton.
As Police Magistrate will collect accounts and notes to amount of $50 and under without cost.
Woodstock, April 9, 1896—14 W. D.

HOTEL ABERDEEN

ST. JOHN, N. B.

New Office, Prince William Street,
Near Post Office.
Passenger Elevator and all modern improvements, including ordinary and therapeutic baths. Rooms all large and airy. Cuisine and service unsurpassed. Terms moderate.
G. H. FUGLETT, Proprietor.

THE DUFFERIN.

This Popular Hotel is now open for the reception of guests. The situation of the house, facing as it does the beautiful King Square, makes it a most desirable place for visitors and business men. It is within a short distance of all parts of the city. Has every accommodation. Rates low. Can, from all parts of the Town, pass the house every three minutes.

E. LEROI WILLIS.

St. John, July 28, 1896. PROPRIETOR.

ROYAL HOTEL.

41, 43 and 45 KING STREET.

ST. JOHN, N. B.

RAYMOND & DOHERTY, Proprietors.

W. E. RAYMOND, 101 H. A. DOHERTY.

BARKER HOUSE.

Queen Street, - Fredericton, N. B.

All modern improvements in the several services and conveniences.

FRED. B. COLEMAN, Prop.

Feb. 15, 1895—17-7.

QUEEN HOTEL.

FREDERICTON, N. B.

J. EDWARDS, - - - - - Proprietor.

First-Class Livery Stable in Connection.

STANLEY HOUSE.

A. S. MURPHY, Prop.

Truro, - N. B.

Largest and Finest Dining Hall in the Province. Centrally Located. Large Sample Rooms and Cold Baths. Telephone. (17-34)

JUNCTION HOUSE.

Newburg Junction.

B. B. OWENS, - - - - - Proprietor.

Meals on arrival of Trains. First-Class Fare.

L. H. YOUNG, CHARLES COMBEN.

YOUNG & COMBEN,

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS,

Conveyancers; Notaries Public; &c.

ACCOUNTS COLLECTED AND

LOANS NEGOTIATED.

OFFICE—70 Main Street, Woodstock.

T. J. CARTER, LL.B.

Barrister, Notary Public,

Conveyancer, &c.

ANDOVER, VICTORIA COUNTY, N. B.

THOS. LAWSON,

BARRISTER, ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

NOTARY PUBLIC.

Andover, Victoria County.

COLLECTIONS PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.

W. FRED. KERTSON,

BARRISTER, NOTARY PUBLIC, &c.

Grand Falls, N. B.

Judge of Probate, Clerk of the Circuit and County Courts, Victoria County.

IRA G. HERRIS,

Attorney & Counselor at Law

NOTARY PUBLIC.

Will Practice in all the Courts of the State. Prompt attention given to Collections. Refer to any Bank or leading Merchant in Relation.

Office—No. 10 Main Street.

Houlton, Maine.

RANDOLPH K. JONES,

BARRISTER AND ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

Woodstock, N. B.

Office—At his Residence, cor. Main & Albert St.

R. E. GUY SMITH,

M. D. C. M.

Office and Residence,

91 MAIN STREET.

E. H. SAUNDERS, M.D.C.M.

Resident Surgeon Woodstock.

General Hospital

Year 95-96.

OFFICE—OVER H. V. DALLING'S,

MAIN STREET.

DR. W. N. HAND,

Office and Residence,

Next Methodist Church.

CHAPEL ST., WOODSTOCK N. B.

T. F. SPRAGUE, M. D.

Physician and Surgeon.

CORNER MAIN AND ALBERT STREETS.

Woodstock, N. B.

W. D. RANKIN, M.B.C.M.

Office and Residence

Chapel Street, - - - - - Woodstock.

W. D. CAMBER,

DENTIST.

NITROUS OXIDE GAS and for the PAINLESS EXTRACTION OF TEETH.

Office—In Connell's Wooden Block, Queen St.

DR. E. S. KIRKPATRICK,

DENTIST.

Graduate of Pennsylvania Dental College. All modern improvements for Customers to select from. Best workmanship guaranteed.

All orders for Clothing filled promptly and at satisfactory prices.

CENTREVILLE, N. B.

December 1896—24-22.

BLANKS

Of all kinds can be had at the Sentinel Office, cheap.

SAMUEL & JAMES WATTS.

Select Tale.

SPOILING A SCHEME.

The crowd grew thicker every moment till it became almost impossible to move in the ball room. The charity on account of which the entertainment was being held was a popular one; some great ladies had taken the thing up and made it a great success.

Among the Henrietta Marias, the Amy Robertas, Flora McDonalds and other characters that filled the rooms, one girl's face took my heart captive the instant I beheld it. She did not look more than 17, though she may have been a year or two older, fair, slender, with sunny hair and a milk-white complexion. She was dressed to represent the Snow Image of Hawthorne's charming fantasy, and the character suited her style of beauty admirably. She was pale as the snow which that crowned her head, and she seemed almost as fragile as the icicles that were her only ornaments.

The girl's beauty was indeed remarkable. People turned and looked at her as she moved here and there, and whenever she stood still she was instantly surrounded by a small crowd of men eager to get their names down on her programme.

I noticed, however, that there was a sad, abstract look in her eyes. Her heart was not in the ball room.

In spite of all my efforts I failed to get an introduction to the girl who had fascinated me. I failed even to learn her name. But none the less I had fallen in love with her—like a fool. I had fallen in love with a stranger, a vision that in all likelihood I should never see again, that would be for me as fleeting and unsubstantial as the Snow Fairy whom she represented.

There was one other person at the ball who attracted my attention. This was a tall, dark man, with a thick, short, black beard, a man considerably over the middle age, and evidently possessing a strong will as well as a powerful body. More than once this man approached the Snow Fairy, and on each occasion she seemed to me to shrink from him, as if she in some way had cause to fear him. They were evidently connected, but what the relationship between them was I could not be sure. For the man seemed too young to be her father. Surely, I said to myself with a jealous pang, surely he cannot be her lover.

The whole evening I pestered my friends in the hope of getting, in some indirect way, an introduction to the girl who had fascinated me, but I was quite unsuccessful. Once her eyes met mine, what she read there I do not know, but she suddenly turned aside, her pale cheeks showing a reddish glow of rose color. Yersed with myself for making her blush, I turned away in the opposite direction, and I took care not to approach so near her again.

The evening wore on, and it was evident that my anxiety was not to be gratified. About 3 o'clock I left the ball room and muffled in my thick ulster, was making my way along a side street which led to the main thoroughfare, where hansom cabs were to be found, when I heard a rustling of feet.

I turned, and there, close to me, stood the Snow Fairy, a white opera cloak wrapping her from head to foot, and her sweet, sad face looking out at me from within a hood of swan-down.

I stood and stared, too much surprised to think or to form a conjecture.

"Is there a letter-box near?" she gasped out, for she was breathless as she came from excitement it seemed to me as from exertions of running. Oh, please, please tell me. Where shall I look for one?" she went on without giving me time to collect my thoughts.

"I don't know where the nearest letter-box is," I replied, but I can easily find out. If you will interest your trust in me I will see that it is posted."

"No, I cannot; I dare not trust it to anyone. Do try to find out for me—the words died away on her lips, for she, as well as I, had heard the noise of some one running up to us and the next moment the man with the short black beard stood over us. Rage knotted the veins on his forehead till they seemed to be near bursting. Rage, for the space of two seconds, kept him speechless. During those two seconds the girl crept perceptibly nearer to me and something smooth, stiff, like a piece of cardboard, was pressed into my hand. I slipped it at once into the pocket of my ulster.

"What are you doing here?" he said to the girl in a tone of suppressed fury; and before she had time to answer he turned savagely upon me. "How dare you speak to my daughter?" he demanded, advancing upon me in a slow and threatening way, whom, I fear, I may have seen a look of mute supplication in the girl's eyes. She was entreating me not to betray her. "Really, sir," I said, with as much coolness as I could command; "really, you are an admirable man for saying that you see a little less reasonable. One is permitted to speak to a young lady at a ball."

"In the open street?" In this clandestine manner?

"We were not in great privacy, to be sure, but that might be urged in mitigation of the offence," I said, with a smile.

"You shall not hoodwink me. What was it that she was saying to you when I came?"

"If I have been guilty of an indiscretion the fault is mine, and I am ready to answer for it; but you cannot expect me to repeat whatever trifles I may have permitted myself to say to the young lady, whom, I fear, I may have seen a look of mute supplication in the girl's eyes. She was entreating me not to betray her. "Really, sir," I said, with as much coolness as I could command; "really, you are an admirable man for saying that you see a little less reasonable. One is permitted to speak to a young lady at a ball."

"In the open street?" In this clandestine manner?

"We were not in great privacy, to be sure, but that might be urged in mitigation of the offence," I said, with a smile.

"You shall not hoodwink me. What was it that she was saying to you when I came?"

"If I have been guilty of an indiscretion the fault is mine, and I am ready to answer for it; but you cannot expect me to repeat whatever trifles I may have permitted myself to say to the young lady, whom, I fear, I may have seen a look of mute supplication in the girl's eyes. She was entreating me not to betray her. "Really, sir," I said, with as much coolness as I could command; "really, you are an admirable man for saying that you see a little less reasonable. One is permitted to speak to a young lady at a ball."

"In the open street?" In this clandestine manner?

"We were not in great privacy, to be sure, but that might be urged in mitigation of the offence," I said, with a smile.

"You shall not hoodwink me. What was it that she was saying to you when I came?"

"If I have been guilty of an indiscretion the fault is mine, and I am ready to answer for it; but you cannot expect me to repeat whatever trifles I may have permitted myself to say to the young lady, whom, I fear, I may have seen a look of mute supplication in the girl's eyes. She was entreating me not to betray her. "Really, sir," I said, with as much coolness as I could command; "really, you are an admirable man for saying that you see a little less reasonable. One is permitted to speak to a young lady at a ball."

"In the open street?" In this clandestine manner?

"We were not in great privacy, to be sure, but that might be urged in mitigation of the offence," I said, with a smile.

"You shall not hoodwink me. What was it that she was saying to you when I came?"

"If I have been guilty of an indiscretion the fault is mine, and I am ready to answer for it; but you cannot expect me to repeat whatever trifles I may have permitted myself to say to the young lady, whom, I fear, I may have seen a look of mute supplication in the girl's eyes. She was entreating me not to betray her. "Really, sir," I said, with as much coolness as I could command; "really, you are an admirable man for saying that you see a little less reasonable. One is permitted to speak to a young lady at a ball."

"In the open street?" In this clandestine manner?

"We were not in great privacy, to be sure, but that might be urged in mitigation of the offence," I said, with a smile.

"You shall not hoodwink me. What was it that she was saying to you when I came?"

"If I have been guilty of an indiscretion the fault is mine, and I am ready to answer for it; but you cannot expect me to repeat whatever trifles I may have permitted myself to say to the young lady, whom, I fear, I may have seen a look of mute supplication in the girl's eyes. She was entreating me not to betray her. "Really, sir," I said, with as much coolness as I could command; "really, you are an admirable man for saying that you see a little less reasonable. One is permitted to speak to a young lady at a ball."

"In the open street?" In this clandestine manner?

"We were not in great privacy, to be sure, but that might be urged in mitigation of the offence," I said, with a smile.

"You shall not hoodwink me. What was it that she was saying to you when I came?"

"If I have been guilty of an indiscretion the fault is mine, and I am ready to answer for it; but you cannot expect me to repeat whatever trifles I may have permitted myself to say to the young lady, whom, I fear, I may have seen a look of mute supplication in the girl's eyes. She was entreating me not to betray her. "Really, sir," I said, with as much coolness as I could command; "really, you are an admirable man for saying that you see a little less reasonable. One is permitted to speak to a young lady at a ball."

"In the open street?" In this clandestine manner?

"We were not in great privacy, to be sure, but that might be urged in mitigation of the offence," I said, with a smile.

"You shall not hoodwink me. What was it that she was saying to you when I came?"

"If I have been guilty of an indiscretion the fault is mine, and I am ready to answer for it; but you cannot expect me to repeat whatever trifles I may have permitted myself to say to the young lady, whom, I fear, I may have seen a look of mute supplication in the girl's eyes. She was entreating me not to betray her. "Really, sir," I said, with as much coolness as I could command; "really, you are an admirable man for saying that you see a little less reasonable. One is permitted to speak to a young lady at a ball."

"In the open street?" In this clandestine manner?

"We were not in great privacy, to be sure, but that might be urged in mitigation of the offence," I said, with a smile.

"You shall not hoodwink me. What was it that she was saying to you when I came?"

"If I have been guilty of an indiscretion the fault is mine, and I am ready to answer for it; but you cannot expect me to repeat whatever trifles I may have permitted myself to say to the young lady, whom, I fear, I may have seen a look of mute supplication in the girl's eyes. She was entreating me not to betray her. "Really, sir," I said, with as much coolness as I could command; "really, you are an admirable man for saying that you see a little less reasonable. One is permitted to speak to a young lady at a ball."

"In the open street?" In this clandestine manner?

"We were not in great privacy, to be sure, but that might be urged in mitigation of the offence," I said, with a smile.

"You shall not hoodwink me. What was it that she was saying to you when I came?"

"If I have been guilty of an indiscretion the fault is mine, and I am ready to answer for it; but you cannot expect me to repeat whatever trifles I may have permitted myself to say to the young lady, whom, I fear, I may have seen a look of mute supplication in the girl's eyes. She was entreating me not to betray her. "Really, sir," I said, with as much coolness as I could command; "really, you are an admirable man for saying that you see a little less reasonable. One is permitted to speak to a young lady at a ball."

"In the open street?" In this clandestine manner?

"We were not in great privacy, to be sure, but that might be urged in mitigation of the offence," I said, with a smile.

"You shall not hoodwink me. What was it that she was saying to you when I came?"

"If I have been guilty of an indiscretion the fault is mine, and I am ready to answer for it; but you cannot expect me to repeat whatever trifles I may have permitted myself to say to the young lady, whom, I fear, I may have seen a look of mute supplication in the girl's eyes. She was entreating me not to betray her. "Really, sir," I said, with as much coolness as I could command; "really, you are an admirable man for saying that you see a little less reasonable. One is permitted to speak to a young lady at a ball."

"In the open street?" In this clandestine manner?

"We were not in great privacy, to be sure, but that might be urged in mitigation of the offence," I said, with a smile.

"You shall not hoodwink me. What was it that she was saying to you when I came?"

"If I have been guilty of an indiscretion the fault is mine, and I am ready to answer for it; but you cannot expect me to repeat whatever trifles I may have permitted myself to say to the young lady, whom, I fear, I may have seen a look of mute supplication in the girl's eyes. She was entreating me not to betray her. "Really, sir," I said, with as much coolness as I could command; "really, you are an admirable man for saying that you see a little less reasonable. One is permitted to speak to a young lady at a ball."

"In the open street?" In this clandestine manner?

"We were not in great privacy, to be sure, but that might be urged in mitigation of the offence," I said, with a smile.

"You shall not hoodwink me. What was it that she was saying to you when I came?"

"If I have been guilty of an indiscretion the fault is mine, and I am ready to answer for it; but you cannot expect me to repeat whatever trifles I may have permitted myself to say to the young lady, whom, I fear, I may have seen a look of mute supplication in the girl's eyes. She was entreating me not to betray her. "Really, sir," I said, with as much coolness as I could command; "really, you are an admirable man for saying that you see a little less reasonable. One is permitted to speak to a young lady at a ball."

"In the open street?" In this clandestine manner?

"We were not in great privacy, to be sure, but that might be urged in mitigation of the offence," I said, with a smile.

"You shall not hoodwink me. What was it that she was saying to you when I came?"

"If I have been guilty of an indiscretion the fault is mine, and I am ready to answer for it; but you cannot expect me to repeat whatever trifles I may have permitted myself to say to the young lady, whom, I fear, I may have seen a look of mute supplication in the girl's eyes. She was entreating me not to betray her. "Really, sir," I said, with as much coolness as I could command; "really, you are an admirable man for saying that you see a little less reasonable. One is permitted to speak to a young lady at a ball."

"In the open street?" In this clandestine manner?

"We were not in great privacy, to be sure, but that might be urged in mitigation of the offence," I said, with a smile.

"You shall not hoodwink me. What was it that she was saying to you when I came?"

"If I have been guilty of an indiscretion the fault is mine, and I am ready to answer for it; but you cannot expect me to repeat whatever trifles I may have permitted myself to say to the young lady, whom, I fear, I may have seen a look of mute supplication in the girl's eyes. She was entreating me not to betray her. "Really, sir," I said, with as much coolness as I could command; "really, you are an admirable man for saying that you see a little less reasonable. One is permitted to speak to a young lady at a ball."

"In the open street?" In this clandestine manner?

"We were not in great privacy, to be sure, but that might be urged in mitigation of the offence," I said, with a smile.

"You shall not hoodwink me. What was it that she was saying to you when I came?"

"If I have been guilty of an indiscretion the fault is mine, and I am ready to answer for it; but you cannot expect me to repeat whatever trifles I may have permitted myself to say to the young lady, whom, I fear, I may have seen a look of mute supplication in the girl's eyes. She was entreating me not to betray her. "Really, sir," I said, with as much coolness as I could command; "really, you are an admirable man for saying that you see a little less reasonable. One is permitted to speak to a young lady at a ball."

"In the open street?" In this clandestine manner?

"We were not in great privacy, to be sure, but that might be urged in mitigation of the offence," I said, with a smile.

"You shall not hoodwink me. What was it that she was saying to you when I came?"

"If I have been guilty of an indiscretion the fault is mine, and I am ready to answer for it; but you cannot expect me to repeat whatever trifles I may have permitted myself to say to the young lady, whom, I fear, I may have seen a look of mute supplication in the girl's eyes. She was entreating me not to betray her. "Really, sir," I said, with as much coolness as I could command; "really, you are an admirable man for saying that you see a little less reasonable. One is permitted to speak to a young lady at a ball."

"In the open street?" In this clandestine manner?

"We were not in great privacy, to be sure, but that might be urged in mitigation of the offence," I said, with a smile.

"You shall not hoodwink me. What was it that she was saying to you when I came?"

"If I have been guilty of an indiscretion the fault is mine, and I am ready to answer for it; but you cannot expect me to repeat whatever trifles I may have permitted myself to say to the young lady, whom, I fear, I may have seen a look of mute supplication in the girl's eyes. She was entreating me not to betray her. "Really, sir," I said, with as much coolness as I could command; "really, you are an admirable man for saying that you see a little less reasonable. One is permitted to speak to a young lady at a ball."

"In the open street?" In this clandestine manner?

"We were not in great privacy, to be sure, but that might be urged in mitigation of the offence," I said, with a smile.

"You shall not hoodwink me. What was it that she was saying to you when I came?"

"If I have been guilty of an indiscretion the fault is mine, and I am ready to answer for it; but you cannot expect me to repeat whatever trifles I may have permitted myself to say to the young lady, whom, I fear, I may have seen a look of mute supplication in the girl's eyes. She was entreating me not to betray her. "Really, sir," I said, with as much coolness as I could command; "really, you are an admirable man for saying that you see a little less reasonable. One is permitted to speak to a young lady at a ball."

"In the open street?" In this clandestine manner?

"We were not in great privacy, to be sure, but that might be urged in mitigation of the offence," I said, with a smile.

"You shall not hoodwink me. What was it that she was saying to you when I came?"

"If I have been guilty of an indiscretion the fault is mine, and I am ready to answer for it; but you cannot expect me to repeat whatever trifles I may have permitted myself to say to the young lady, whom, I fear, I may have seen a look of mute supplication in the girl's eyes. She was entreating me not to betray her. "Really, sir," I said, with as much coolness as I could command; "really, you are an admirable man for saying that you see a little less reasonable. One is permitted to speak to a young lady at a ball."

"In the open street?" In this clandestine manner?

"We were not in great privacy, to be sure, but that might be urged in mitigation of the offence," I said, with a smile.

"You shall not hoodwink me. What was it that she was saying to you when I came?"

"If I have been guilty of an indiscretion the fault is mine, and I am ready to answer for it; but you cannot expect me to repeat whatever trifles I may have permitted myself to say to the young lady, whom, I fear, I may have seen a look of mute supplication in the girl's eyes. She was entreating me not to betray her. "Really, sir," I said, with as much coolness as I could command; "really, you are an admirable man for saying that you see a little less reasonable. One is permitted to speak to a young lady at a ball."

Our I's and....

....Other Eyes.

Our I's are just as strong as they were fifty years ago, when we have cause to use them. But we have less and less cause to praise ourselves, since others do the praising, and we are more than willing for you to see us through other eyes. This is how we look to S. F. Boyce, wholesale and retail druggist, Duluth, Minn., who after a quarter of a century of observation writes:

"I have sold Ayer's Sarsaparilla for more than 25 years, both at wholesale and retail, and have never heard anything but words of praise from my customers; not a single complaint has ever reached me. I believe Ayer's Sarsaparilla to be the best blood purifier, that has been introduced to the general public." This, from a man who has sold thousands of dozens of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, is strong testimony. But it only echoes popular sentiment the world over, which has "Nothing but words of praise for Ayer's Sarsaparilla."

Any druggist will send you "Cuticura" It kills dandruff and cures dandruff. Address: J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass