To the Editor of Carleton Sentinel: DEAR SIR-I deem it a duty I owe to my fellow sufferers to add my testimony in favor of Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills. I was a victim of rheumatism, and for many years was unable to move about. My stomach was always out of order, and nothing that I took gave me strength or power. After trying every known remedy, I noticed the advertisement of the above pills and concluded to give them a trial. Six boxes made me almost a well man. My stomach assimilates food, and I be the experience of others. Matthew B. Johnston, Lockport, N. Y.
