RIVERSIDE HOUSE.

THIS House, situated at the foot of Regent Street, is now open to the public. The proprietor, Colin Campbell, who ran so successfully for thirteen years the Newburg Junction Eating House, also for two years the McAdam Junction House and six years the Haystack Junction Restaurant, is so well and favorably known to the travelling public that further recommendation is not necessary. He guarantees to sustain that reputation in his new quarters.

The Riverside House will be found as good a DOLLAR A DAY HOUSE as can be found in the Province.

No charge for conveying baggage to and from the House to the Station.

Open for transient or permanent board.

Woodstock, April 17, 1901.—J. B. CAMPBELL.

NOTICE.

ALL persons having friends or relatives buried in the old R. C. Cemetery, can have the graves fixed up and cared for by writing to ELI GRIER, Caretaker, Box 8, Woodstock.

There are also a few lots in the Methodist Cemetery that need some work done on them. Kindly show enough respect for your dead as to keep their graves green.

Lakeville S. S. is undenominational.

MR. EDITOR—I notice in your issue of the 20th inst., items from Lakeville. In last paragraph of same your correspondent does some deep thinking and as words are the outcome of thought, suggests that the present S. School be made undenominational. I wish here and now to state to your correspondent (who I fear has a misconceived idea of our S. School) and the public that Lakeville S. School, from my first knowledge of it, which was twenty-five years ago, has been miscellaneous or UNION, as one may please to call it, and is at present, and for aught I know will continue to be so. And would further add our doors are open and welcome to any and all who will come in with us, to study The Word of God. Thanking you Mr. Editor for space in your valuable columns,

I remain yours truly,

J. R. FOWLER,

Supt. Lakeville Union S. School.

The People We Want.

It is pleasing to learn that immigration to the Northwest this season is to include a number of hardy Scotch farmers, who make the very best class of settlers for a new country. Much of the development and prosperity of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia during the last century was due to the Scotch people who settled in these provinces, and wherever their descendants have been found thriving villages or settlements.

The Edinburgh Scotsman publishes an article on "the opening of the Canadian emigration season," in which it mentions the departure of an "advance party" of Scots for the Northwest prairies, who will be followed later by a large number of their countrymen. Continuing, the article says:—"They comprise among their number some excellent families of Scotch farmers, who are going out to settle on the prairie lands which have been recommended to them by their relatives who have been home on a visit. Canada will this year obtain a class of settlers equal to any that have gone before."

Inquiries regarding Canadian lands are fully double in number those of last year, and the departures from Glasgow, already mentioned, show that a large percentage have gone forward at the beginning of the season."

Acadiensis.

The second number of ACADIENSIS, which has just been received, would, from a cursory glance, appear to be a particularly bright and attractive number, containing, as it does, several new features. In it are sixteen pages of additional reading matter, and it is much more profusely illustrated than was the initial number. Among the contributors are Charles Campbell and J. Frederick Herbin, both well known verse writers; Rev. J. deSoyres, who contrasts the closing hours of Queen Victoria's reign with those of George VI, in a short but well written sketch; Prof. W. F. Ganong, of Smith College, Northampton, Mass., who writes upon the place-name Pabineau; Jonas Howe, of Saint John, who contributes a sketch entitled, A Monument and Its Story, descriptive of some of the incidents in the history of the Clan MacDonald and its Chieftain, who settled in Prince Edward Island; Israel Longworth, K. C., of Truro, N. S., giving the first instalment of an article upon Hon. Judge Robie; and Rev. W. O. Raymond, incidents in the Early History of St. John.

The editor, D. R. Jack, also contributes two illustrated articles, the first entitled, An Acadian Artist, gives an account of the work and Paris experiences of J. Noel Scovell, of St. John; the second is an interesting account of some of the Bookplates which are and have been used in Acadia, with biographical notes concerning their respective owners. The last named article is one of a series intended to deal with all Bookplates which are, or have been, used in Acadia.

D. R. Jack, of St. John, N. B., is the Editor and Publisher. Price $1.00 per annum.

The Journeys of a Magazine.

Probably no other magazines are read by so many people as the copies of The Ladies' Home Journal that go to a Connecticut lady. After reading each number she forwards it to a sister in Scotland, where it is read by the household and neighbors, and carefully laid away till the end of the year. The twelve copies are then given to the stewardess of a Shetland Island steamer, who retains them until read by her and all the crew. Then they are left at a remote Shetland Island town, where they serve as a sort of circulating library, passing from house to house for a year or more, until they are literally worn out. In its journeys each magazine finds its way into scores of homes and is eagerly scanned by hundreds of eyes.

News from the Country.

Newburg.

April 27, 1901.

We are in the busy season at present, sheep shearing, ploughing, etc.

The event of last week was three deaths: Mrs. John McLaughlin, Willie McCarron and Tommie Ryan, whose two brothers were called home from the drive, but unfortunately too late to attend the funeral. Francis returned back to his work and Wallace remained to do the farming.

George Giddis is here visiting his old home.

Mrs. Mary Jane Burke and Mrs. Rose Ann Johnson were the guests of Mrs. Annie McGuire the 25th inst.

Joseph Sparrow has just finished his cord wood business at the old junction and has commenced farming.

We are glad to hear that Carrie A. McGuire is recovering from her late illness.

We have very bad roads in this section at present, but the bay mare makes her trips daily.

ONLY ME.

Benton.

May 1st, 1901.

A very sad drowning accident occurred here yesterday afternoon at Murchie's mill which has cast a deep gloom over the village. Several men were at work on the dam repairing it, as it had become weak by spring freshets when it suddenly gave way and part of it went out. The men who were on it were Theodore Murchie, Robt. Elliott, William Boyle, Thomas Connolly and Thomas Mace; they all escaped without injury except Mr. Elliott. He was seen in the water struggling for life and then disappeared. Crowds at once began the search which, up to present writing, has been unsuccessful in finding the body. He leaves a wife and family and was between fifty and sixty years of age.

The funeral of Mrs. George Hazlett took place here on Sunday, Rev. G. Ross officiating. Deceased was 20 years of age and leaves a husband and two children, one an infant only a few days old.

Kincardine.

May 1st.

The weather, for the last few days, has been very warm. Farming has already commenced, and in a few days all the farmers will be busily engaged in sowing, planting, etc.

Mr. Andrew Davidson scalded his foot very badly last week, in consequence of which he is confined to the house. We hope to see him around in a few days.

Miss Georgie Matheson, who has been spending the winter at her home, has gone to Cabino, where she will remain for some time. We would imagine she is much missed by the gloomy look that overspreads the countenance of one young man. Cheer up!

Mr. David Aitken paid a visit to Bath last week.

Some of the young men of Upper Kincardine have been busy horse-trading. While engaged in the occupation they seem to forget the old proverb "Honesty is the best policy."

Owing to the absence of the fiddler, the dance, which was to have been held in the Upper Kincardine hall, last Friday night, proved a failure.

Mr. James Robertson left for Cabino on Monday.

The first of May, and we are every moment expecting the loud and peremptory knock, which generally announces the hanging of May baskets.

ONLOOKER.

Kirkland.

April 29th, 1901.

The farmers are getting ready for their spring's work. The weather being fine, the ground is drying up fast.

Mr. David Kennedy is improving, and is now able to be up during part of the day.

Master Alex Graham was quite ill last week, but is better again, and able to be out.

Mr. Joseph Crawford has not been so well lately.

Mrs. Edgar's nephew is at present visiting his friends in this vicinity.

Last evening the Mission Band Thank offering was held at the church here. The children acquitted themselves very creditably, more than twenty taking some definite part in the programme. Rev. Mr. Fowler gave a short missionary address, and Mrs. Fowler gave a report of the work done by the Mission Band during the year. The attendance was large, the night being very favourable. The collection was also very good.

Upper Bloomfield.

Not having seen any items in your valuable paper for some time I thought a few would not go amiss.

The weather for the past week has been very unsettled on account of the recent rain rendering the roads very muddy.

Mr. H. Adams is slowly recovering after a serious illness for the past few months. It is hoped that the warm weather will fully improve his health.

Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Merrithew have left their farm (under the skillful management of S. Anderson) and have gone to seek gold in Uncle Sam's territory, even so far west as Colorado.

Miss Ressa Good has returned from Portland where she has spent the past winter.

The Baptist Church, which has undergone repairs, was reopened the 17th of March, and was attended by a large audience from far and near. Reverends Hayward, Spargo, Ashill and McCluskey were present. The amount raised to cancel the debt was $36.44.

Our day school is taught by Miss Ida Beckin who is very much liked by parents as well as children.

Mrs. B. A. Nickerson, who is very popular as a nurse, has gone to Caribou to spend a few weeks in that line of business.

Mrs. J. Wallace, we are glad to report, has recovered from her recent illness; also Miss Jennie Sherrard, the latter being nursed by Mrs. Joel Jewett.

Mr. Alfred Bridges is still under the control of Dr. White, Bridge-water.

Miss Annie Nickerson is about to return to her former school at Mars Hill. Rumor says that this will be her last term in that profession. Hark! Those wedding bells.

Master George Burk is quite ill at present.

Albert Carvell contemplates making alterations in his buildings in the near future.

Wedding bells are again heard! Watch out Frank, you may lose your cook.

ANON.

Rockland.

April 30, 1901.

Farming has really commenced and already a large acreage plowed and several large fields sowed to wheat.

W. A. Hayward spent last week in Woodstock; his portrait that appeared in Dispatch is not thought by friends to be at all flattering, while the appointment to position of Chief County Officer gives his admirers much satisfaction; local petty jealousies along party lines is shown by usual expressions in such cases, still by the majority it is hoped he will prove a credit to the situation, notwithstanding sundry criticisms.

Mr. Raymond was here a few days ago, presumably in the interest of Skimming Station Company.

Western travellers, chiefly from Montreal and Toronto, representing Boot and Shoe, Clothing and other establishments, quite numerous.

James Bridges, Esq., was a visitor here last Friday.

Samuel N. Estabrooks is giving his dwelling house a fresh coat of paint, white as white can be; the appearance of many buildings could be improved by following Mr. E's example.

School teachers McCrea, of Wind-sor, and Jewett, of Ashland, spend their Sabbaths here; the former teaches a class in the Baptist S. School, and the latter a class in P. B. School; it is thought to be the right thing to have men of this class preside in parish schools. The teacher of school in this village is also quite active in religious social services of the church.

Our dealers are no the recipients of large quantities of hen fruit which, at ten cents per doz, seems an insult to the hen, while such is considered cheaper than meat to those who have to buy.

R. J. Estabrooks is on the road with the best rig and largest stock of all the peddlers, and Ralph disappears of the goods.

Enoch B. is aware of the fact that he owns and drives the best pair of bays in town.

Mr. Willard Craig has in course of completion a neat and convenient two story dwelling house. Mr. Charles Swim is the carpenter and builder.

Next session of Baptist Sewing and Knitting Circle will be held at the residence of A. W. Estabrooks, Esq.

Sad news by telegraph to the Crawford home, Carlisle, announcing "Son Samuel drowned in Tobique river, while working on drive."

Single, and aged 24. Much sympathy is extended to the bereaved.

Twice during this month the SENTINEL failed to reach this office on Friday; not until Saturday evening by post from Peel. We are satisfied this delay was not intended by your office.

ANON.

Lorne, Victoria County.

April 30.

The weather has been beautiful for April. Sunday was hot; the nights are cool; farmers have sown their wheat.

The drives are out.

Mrs. Ida Grant of Perth has been visiting relatives at Foster Cove.

George Green of Three Brooks has been again burnt out.

La grippe has been around. Our councillor and family have been very ill, but are better.

Mr. Martin Watson is about to move from Burnt Land Brook; they will be missed especially the young ladies, who are highly esteemed.

Tobique.

Andover.

May 1st, 1901.

The ladies of Trinity Church held their annual bazaar and supper last week. After the supper there was a nice entertainment of animated tableaux. The first was "Tennyson's Dream of Fair Women" and called forth a good deal of praise. The cast of characters were: Helen of Troy, Helen Perley; Edgemonia, Edith Tibbitts; Fair Rosamund, Mrs. W. E. Spike; Cleopatra, Bessie Scott; Attendant to Cleopatra, Ethel Armstrong; Jepheth's Daughter, Louise Pickett; Queen Eleanor, May Tibbitts; Joan of Arc, Mabel Peat; Margaret Moore, Mrs. D. R. Bedell. The next was an illustrated hymn "Bringing in the Sheaves" by Mrs. D. R. Bedell, Mrs. W. E. Spike, and the Misses Armstrong and Scott. The last one was "The Relief of Lady Smith." Miss M. Tibbitts was Lady Smith; Mr. C. Lebaron Miles, the Boer creeping on Ladysmith; then Miss Edith Tibbitts, as Britannia, gave a silent order to her officer, Edmund Miles, (dressed in Khaki), to put the point of the sword on the Boer. (curtain.) The next act, "Britannia and her Officer cross the British flag and sword over Lady Smith" and a full chorus sang "God Save the Queen" in reverence. (curtain.) The next was the same, "God Save the King" was sung. At the close the red light was thrown over it. The ladies deserve much credit both for their skill in dressing tableaux were put on. I omitted to say that Rev. B. Hillock read "The Dream of Fair Women."

The remains of Herbert Lovely, who was killed in Everett, Washington, U. S. A., were brought home on Saturday and on Sunday interment took place, the Foresters taking charge of the goods. There were a very great number and all in uniform. The interment took place at Lower Perth.
