The Carleton Sentinel.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 1901.

Published by THE CARLETON SENTINEL PUBLISHING CO., at their Office, in VANWART'S BUILDING, King Street, Woodstock, up stairs.

WM. McDONALD, this town, was present at the Pan American, when President McKinley was shot down. He describes the excitement as being something indescribable.

THE precautions which had been taken by the police for the safe guarding of the Royal party while at Montreal have, since the attempt on the life of President McKinley, been just doubled.

HER very many friends here will learn with regret of the death of Mrs. (Dr.) A. M. Tupper, which sad event took place at her residence, Rockport, Mass., a few days ago. The deceased was a daughter of the late A. N. Garden of this town, and a sister of Mrs. William M. Connell.

THE St. Andrews Beacon gives currency to the rumor that the new station at McAdam is to have its name changed to "Van Horne." Though Sir William has had more to do with the construction of the C. P. R. than any other living man, there is not a single station on the line that bears his name.

THE managers of the Provincial Exhibition, at Fredericton, Sept 17, 18, 19 and 20th, have secured as a special attraction Professor Leon Morris' Trained Comedy Ponies, Dogs and Baboons, also Professor Hawley's Dog Circus. These attractions have never been east of Boston before, are the best trained animals now being shown, and have been engaged at an enormous expense. They will give performances every afternoon and evening in the large tent on the exhibition grounds.

No. 1, Vol. 1, of The J. W. Pepper Piano Music Monthly is to hand. In its introductory it says: "It is our intention to publish in this Magazine only the very best music by popular composers. No expense will be spared to secure a collection of bright, fresh, new pieces from month to month that will always please and which will form a valuable library of music that will never grow old." The magazine is well printed and gotten up and the present number contains eleven vocal pieces and ten instrumental.

The Assassination.

Wherever the news reached that President McKinley has been shot down by a dastardly assassin, at the Buffalo Exposition, on Friday evening, it was received with the utmost detestation of the horrid deed, coupled with the earnest wish and prayer that the wounds might not prove fatal. And from every quarter in the world, where the wires have flashed the terrible news came crowding back to the President messages of sympathy and expressions of hope.

The deep shadow of gloom which prevailed, was only tempered by the ray of hope which was cherished in every heart that the President would recover from his wounds.

The President still continues at Mr. Milburn's residence; no further attempt has been made to extract the bullet, although every preparation has been made in case such an attempt shall be considered necessary.

The President still continues to improve; all the symptoms appear favorable; the doctors are growing more and more sanguine of his recovery; and that such may prove to be the case is the warmest desire of the great public heart.

Last Week's Storm.

Last week's thunder storm did more damage than we were aware of when going to press with last issue.

The electric fluid struck the chimney of James Watson's store at Boundary Line. Mr. Watson, who was in the store, received a severe shock, rendering him unconscious, but from which he is recovering. The building was not much damaged.

At Debec, the barn belonging to John B. Grant, was struck by the lightning and it, with the adjoining barns and his residence, notwithstanding the strenuous efforts of the neighbors, were soon a mass of smouldering ruins. Besides the buildings, 25 tons of hay, 500 bushels of oats and two hogs were burned up. There was a partial insurance on the buildings. The neighboring buildings of C. W. Dickinson was only saved after the greatest effort.

A barn at Cloverdale, owned by Alex. Wallace, was burned, with its contents, this season's crop.

The Piano Recital.

Although not a very large audience listened to the talented young pianist, J. Hollis Lindsay, and the two ladies whose valuable assistance contributed to the rendition of a grand musical programme, at the Opera House, Monday evening, still the appreciation and the enthusiasm manifested by continued, loud and prolonged applause was in itself a strong indication of its great success in point of merit. The appearance of the gifted young pianist, who is blind, was a signal for an ovation, which he modestly and gracefully acknowledged, and took his seat. Eschewing musical technicalities we might say he began by touching the keys softly and in slow measure of tone with gradual variations from the "murmurs" to the "ripples" and the "thunderous" tones, prompting the imagination of an attentive listener, not consulting his program, to speculate as to the intention in the mind of the great composer. The young musician seemed to excel in each successive rendition of his classical selections through the program, and there was one recurring evidence of astonishment among the attentive audience at the marvellous rapidity of the finger movement and absence of any signs of fatigue, for while harmony and expression may charm the ear, mechanical execution would not necessarily escape observation. Lovers of the art often find, with music elaborately written, a difficulty in counting time, but with Mr. Lindsay's renditions the following of time was apparently easy.

Mrs. Adney's appearance was received with a round of applause and, as her talents as a vocalist and pianist are so well known comments are really unnecessary.

Miss Ross, it is needless to say, was also greeted with applause. There is a pathos which appeals to the senses in a fine contralto, a voice which she possesses, the "Rosary" having a special claim to fine effect. The duet by Mrs. Adney and Miss Ross (Mrs. Adney being the pianist) the subject being that of a mother and child, illustrative of the innocence and simplicity of the latter, in her early conception of the angels, was rendered with such exquisite harmony and expression that it was not a surprise for at least one of the audience to acknowledge a moisture of the eyes or the starting of a tear.

Enthusiastic encores followed the rendition of each selection. If the gifted trio again appear in the near future we should wish for them a crowded house.

Northampton Church Reopened.

The Methodist church at Northampton was reopened last Sunday. The weather was all that could be desired. Three services were held and the congregations were good. Rev. W. H. Spargo preached in the morning from Mark 11:17. After the sermon Rev. James Crisp conducted the dedicatory service. Rev. J. C. Berrie preached in the afternoon from John 3:16 and the pastor preached in the evening. Rev. Mr. Berrie made a special appeal in the afternoon and $121 in subscriptions were raised. The whole amount of collections and subscriptions for the day amounted to $182. The total amount expended on the church is $825; of this amount there is left a debt of $55. This church has had placed under it a stone foundation, has had added to it a tower, and recess for pulpit and platform, has been sheathed with hard pine, and has new gothic windows with colored cathedral glass. It presents a very pretty appearance both inside and outside, and much credit is due to the building committee for the very energetic manner in which they have looked after the work.

OUR EXHIBITION.

The Committee of management of the Woodstock Exhibition, had a session on Saturday evening and transacted some important business.

The Building Committee submitted a report regarding the poultry shed and roofing the cattle sheds, which report was received and recommendations adopted. It was decided to ask for tenders for the sole right to sell refreshments on the grounds.

Messrs Stephen Peabody, W. B. Nicholson and J. R. Murphy were appointed a committee to allot space in the building.

The following were appointed superintendents and assistants of the departments named:

Cattle—C. H. L. Perkins, assistant J. J. Rogers.

Horses—H. B. Smith, assistant Charles Peabody.

Sheep and Swine—Stephen Peabody.

Poultry—Robert Brown.

Roots and Grains—C. P. Bull.

Butter and Milk—Frank L. Tilley.

Woolen and Cotton Manufactures, and Fancy Work—Mrs. C. H. L. Perkins and W. S. Saunders.

Committee to sell tickets—Arthur Raymond.

The transportation committee reported that the C. P. R. would carry exhibits, from any point on their Atlantic Division to Woodstock for one fare and return them free; they would also issue Excursion passenger tickets for one fare the round trip.

It was decided to issue invitations to the Governor and Council, J. D. Hazen and his honor, Judge Stevens.

Reception and Presentation.

About sixty friends were present, in the large room of the Opera House, Wednesday evening, to do honor to E. R. Teed of the A. I. Teed Co., St. Stephen, and present him with a very handsome and expensive chair. The cause of the presentation was the rumor that an interesting event will take place at St. John, next week, in which Mr. Teed will be one of the principal parties.

His Worship Mayor Belyea, in his usual happy manner, presided and made the presentation speech, in which he eulogized Mr. Teed as a successful business man, and one who possessed the esteem of those present and the citizens in general.

Mr. Teed, in reply, said he was gratified at the attendance of so many who were present to do him honor. He realized the gentlemen there were the backbone of the town. The handsome chair presented to him, he would not value for its worth in money, but because it was a token of their good will and esteem. He came to this town, seven or eight years ago, a stranger, and now he possessed their kind regards. His business called him to many towns, where he had many friends, but now that the opportunity presented itself, he had decided to make his home here—people there was no place nor people he liked as well as Woodstock and its people. In the future, in his own humble way, he would do all he could for the advancement of the town.

Coun George E. Balmain, after making some remarks, read a letter of regret, for being unable to attend, from F. B. Meagher. J. R. Murphy was called upon by the chairman and he responded in one of his usual good speeches; A. McClaskey responded to the toast of "One of the first commercial men to visit Woodstock;" the following gentlemen did justice to the toast "Mercantile Interests," J. T. A. Dibblee, H. P. Baird, Duppa Smith, Coun Arthur Bailey, John Connor, I. E. Sheagreen, George Gibson. The gathering was highly complimentary to the guest and to the originators of the affair.

OBITUARY.

After an illness extending over four years, one of our respected residents, Bell McGovern, died at the residence of her brother-in-law, John Gallagher, on Tuesday night. Deceased was born in County Cavan, Ireland, 74 years ago, and was a resident of this town for many years. Many friends will regret to learn of her death. The funeral took place on Thursday morning to St. Gertrude's Church, where the burial services were performed by Rev. Father Chapman, thence the funeral cortege proceeded to the new Catholic cemetery, for interment.

M. W. M. S. and M. B.

The Annual Meeting of the Jacksonville Methodist Woman's Missionary Society and the Mission Band was held in the Church on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. A. Wiley was continued president of the W. M. S. and Miss Crisp was elected president of the Mission Band in place of Miss Harper, who resigned the office. Miss Harper had been president of the Band for ten years and did much faithful work. The amount for Missions raised during the past year was $50. This was independent of the money raised by the Church for the General Missionary Fund.

SECRETARY.

The Louie Taylor Concert Co.

Will appear at the Opera House here, on Monday evening next, 16th inst., seats for which are now on sale at Graham's store. The company comprise Miss Elvie Burnett, elocutionist; Miss Annie Frank Libby, harp soloist; Miss Berta Taylor, pianist; Miss Louie Taylor, violinist and vocal soloist. The following complimentary press notices show what the critics say:

"Miss Burnett possesses to a remarkable degree the happy faculty of throwing intense feeling into her recitations, and one feels as though the event was actually occurring in his presence. After each piece she was roundly applauded and the house would not be satisfied until she had returned and given them another recitation. She proved that her repertoire is well selected and varied and is calculated to ennoble and interest any audience.—San Antonio Daily Express.

"Miss Annie Frank Libby, who made her second appearance in Chicago at the Auditorium last evening, proved herself, as before, an artist of excellent talent. She is capable of producing effects from the harp that are rarely heard, and this with the perfection of her technique, brilliant execution and intelligent conception of her music, places her among the leading harp soloists of the country.—Chicago Mail.

"Miss Louie Taylor played two violin solos, on last Friday evening, at the Wallace Bruce entertainment at the College gymnasium. Miss Taylor's simplicity of manner, lack of affectation when she appears in public are very charming, and her skillful work on the violin is always pleasing.—Supper Table, Washington, Pa.

Opera House, Monday evening next.

Harvest Thanksgiving Festival.

The Salvation Army will celebrate the annual Harvest Thanksgiving Festival on Saturday, September 21, to Tuesday, September 24, inclusive. The officers in charge of the local corp solicit from the public a tithe of the bountiful blessings of field and store, in kind or cash, as a thank offering to God. Anything received will be turned to good account to support the numerous benevolent institutions, as well as to continue and to extend the evangelical work of this successful organization. It is now generally conceded that the Army has become a very necessary, recognized institution in this, as in every other, country where it operates. Their achievements are beyond controversy highly praiseworthy.
