The Carleton Sentinel.

FRIDAY, MARCH 1, 1901.

Published by THE CARLETON SENTINEL PUBLISHING CO., at their Office, in VANWART'S BRICK BUILDING, King Street, Woodstock, up stairs.

The full title of the King of England is King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and of the Colonies and Dependencies thereof; Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India.

If Mr. Foster expected to receive the Tory nomination for North Bruce he must be sadly disappointed. The unseated candidate, McNeill, refused to accept a renomination, and a Mr. Halliday was selected. The strong probabilities are that the Liberals will win the seat.

The well known "Gatling Gun Howard," who it will be remembered took such a prominent part, and rendered such efficient aid, by his brave conduct and skilful management of his gatling gun, during the time of the R. I. rebellion, is reported killed in the Transvaal. He held the rank of Major.

The report of the Nova Scotia mines department presented to the legislature shows that the yield of gold in that Province during the year was 30,000 ounces, approximately valued at $578,000. Gold was discovered in Nova Scotia in 1860, and this year's yield is the largest, with one exception, since then. On one occasion the yield reached a total of 31,000 ounces.

The Globe says the visit to Ottawa of the Duke of Cornwall and York will take place in the middle of September. The Duke and Duchess will visit Canada on their return from the ceremonies of the Australian confederation and, after touring through the Dominion, will go to Newfoundland, sailing from there for England about the middle of October. About one month, therefore, will be spent in Canada and Newfoundland. The Duke during his visit to Canada will confer the South African medals upon the troops who participated in the war.

The 30th annual report of the Halifax school for the blind is before us. This institution, one of the most important among the philanthropic establishments of the age, appears to have passed through a successful year, the attendance having been the largest of any year in the school's existence. The attendance was 79 males, 53 females; of these 68 were from Nova Scotia; 34 from New Brunswick; 6 from P. E. Island; 8 from Newfoundland and one from British Guiana; and of these two were from Carleton County. We notice that Hollis Lindsay, son of Councillor J. A. Lindsay, of this town, won the first prize for French, senior Division. Any desired information regarding this school can be had by corresponding with the superintendent, C. F. Frazer, Halifax, N. S.

We notice by the last issue of the Press, that our article of last week, in reference to the dismissal of Mr. McCarron, has greatly irritated Coun Lindsay, who is a pretty sure sign that there must have been considerable truth in the statements therein contained. We are glad to see, however, that Mr. Lindsay this week has had the courage to write his article over his own name and not over a fictitious one as he did last week, when he so grossly slandered Deputy Sheriff Foster. The SENTINEL will continue to criticize the acts of the Council whenever, in its opinion, it feels that their doings require ventilation, as we certainly feel they did in the McCarron matter. Evidently, however, Coun. Lindsay has not yet realized the huge joke which is being played upon him, by being induced to rush into print in the place of the councillor who was personally called to task in our article, but then some people are willing to play any part in order to secure a little cheap notoriety.

The King's Coronation Oath.

In the House of Commons, on Tuesday, Hon. John Costigan, gave notice that he would move the following as an amendment, next time supply was taken up:

"That an humble address be presented to his most gracious majesty the King, as follows:

"Most gracious Majesty; Your majesty's most faithful and loyal subjects, the commons of Canada, in parliament assembled, beg leave most humbly to present:

"That as a token of the civil and religious liberties and of the equality of the rights granted to all British subjects in the Canadian confederation as well as under the British constitution, a British sovereign should not be called upon to make any declaration offensive to the religious belief of any subjects of the British crown.

"That, by virtue of the act of settlement of 1689, the British sovereign on the meeting of the first parliament or at the coronation is called to make the following declaration.

Here is inserted a copy of the oath taken at the King's accession. The resolution then continues:

"That such a declaration is most offensive to the dearest convictions of all Roman Catholics.

"That the staunch loyalty of his majesty's Roman Catholic subjects in Canada, comprising about 48 per cent. of the entire population of this Dominion, and throughout the British possessions, should not be rewarded by their being chosen alone amongst believers of all creeds and branded as idolaters by their sovereign.

"That in the opinion of this house, the above mentioned act of settlement should be amended by abolishing the said declaration and the British sovereign freed forever from the obligation of offending the religious principles of any class of his faithful subjects throughout the British empire."

Charles Ritchie's Death.

Charles Ritchie, one of the oldest and most respected residents of Greenfield, Carleton Co., died on Sunday morning, Feb. 24th. He came out from Ireland with his parents, being then quite a boy, about seventy-five years ago. He was nearly eighty-four years of age at the time of death. With the rest of the family he settled in Greenfield. As time went on grants of land were taken up and cleared and by patient industry farms were made for the sons of the family. He had seven children, only two of whom are living. These are Charles and Geo. Samuel, both of them prosperous farmers of Greenfield. Both sons have been away in the lumbering business for the winter. Samuel only returned a few weeks ago and Charles has not yet heard of his father's death. He was buried in St. Barnabas' Churchyard Monday afternoon, Rev. E. W. Simonson, rector of the parish, conducting the service.

LITERARY NOTICES.

"The Only American Girl Who Ever Married a King," "The Loveliest of All Kentucky Girls," "The Anecdotal Side of Theodore Roosevelt," and "The Author's Reading at Bixby Centre," by Kate Douglas Wiggin, will have a wide reading in the March Ladies' Home Journal. And "The Gibson Play," too. It accentuates the satirical humor of Charles Dana Gibson's "Widow and Her Friends" in a two-act comedy by Marguerite Merington. The illustrations by Mr. Gibson are characteristic and interesting. Edward Bok's editorials and Helen Watterson Moody's "Girls Who 'Go In' for Something" are helpful in counsel, and will be profitably read.

"The Story of a Young Man" is completed in the March Journal, and "The Successors of Mary the First" presents new and extremely funny complications and vexations. A good share of space is devoted to Easter fashions in feminine attire, and there are articles on cooking, china painting, "A Successful Country House at Bryn Mawr," "A Suburban House for $6500"; a page picture showing "The Old Stage and the Turnpike," of W. L. Taylor's "The Last Hundred Years in New England" series, and "Through Picturesque America"—two pages of photographs of views in Cuba and Porto Rico. A feature of the March Journal is Eugene Field's "Armenian Lullaby," set to music. By The Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia. One dollar a year; ten cents a copy.

Almost every part of the globe is represented in Scribner's Magazine for March, and in every case by some well-known writer who has actually visited the country which he describes. Four of the contributors are distinguished correspondents who have had many romantic experiences. Their articles in this number have to do with the changing conditions brought about by recent upheavals. Richard Harding Davis leads the number with an account of a journey "Along the East Coast of Africa," stopping at those strange, half-barbaric and half-civilized ports that mark the fringe of progress in Africa. From Lorenzo Marquez to Tanga Mr. Davis found it one of the most entertaining journeys that he has ever taken, each town representing a new phase in the great international problem of the conquest of Africa. The article is full of delightful character sketches of the restless men who are taking part in the beginnings of Empires and States.

In the presence of 800 spectators, Friday evening of last week, at the Rink in St. Stephen, the Thistles' hockey team defeated the Woodstock seven quite easily, by a score of four goals to one. Our boys returned home Saturday and report having a good time, notwithstanding their defeat. Of course the play was rather rough and the referee was not "onto his job," but these are incidents liable to happen to any team away from home. A St. Stephen dispatch says that the good playing was done by Drysdale, Dibblee and McLean.
