The Town of Vancouver Never so Quiet.

The officers stationed at the Vancouver barracks, like their brethren of the army elsewhere, are in favor of the re-establishment and continuance of the canteen.

Chaplain C. C. Bateman, of this post, differs, however, from the majority of army officers' views on the canteen question. He has had the opportunity to observe the workings of the canteen in many posts, and while he does not condemn it so sweepingly as do many temperance advocates, he believes that Congress took a step in the right direction when it passed the act abolishing it. Moreover he does not favor its re-establishment. Mr. Bateman said:—

"I have been reluctant to be drawn into this canteen discussion, but since you request me to give my opinion on the subject I will do so as clearly as I can. I am not prepared to denounce indiscriminately the canteen, nor can I give it my unqualified condemnation. When it is conducted strictly according to regulations its evils are reduced to a minimum; but when the regulations governing it are administered in a lax manner, it becomes a positive evil, and no amount of profit can justify its continuance. * * * There are many young men who enlist in the army to whom the very name of the saloon is offensive. These young men have been taught not to drink by their parents, and if liquor was barred out of the post they would not be tempted; but the canteen, distinguished as it is from the offensive saloon, is a constant temptation, and it is little wonder that many of them yield. In fact, among the hundreds of letters which I have received from soldiers' mothers, the main point of objection raised against the canteen is its alleged attractiveness which its advocates have so dwelt upon. Clothed in a pleasant guise, the mothers fear far more from this so-called soldiers' club than they do from the open saloon."

"The mayor of Vancouver, Mr. Johnson, informs me that the town has never before been so quiet as it is now, nor disorderly conduct on the part of soldiers so infrequent. I do not say that this is the result of the abolishment of the canteen, but can only point to it as an undisputed fact.

"The taking away of the profits of the canteen from the company fund pinches just now, and its deprivation is seriously felt. But I would not restore the canteen for the purpose of remedying this condition. The United States government is too big and too great to sell liquor to pay the soldiers' board bills. Far better the government furnish outright the luxuries which the canteen profits have heretofore purchased than restore the canteen. Congress has taken a step forward, and it should not go backward."

Temperance Work in England.

At the annual council meetings of the Women's Liberal Federation, held in Birmingham, May 8-10, the Countess of Aberdeen in the chair, it was moved by Miss Agnes Slack and seconded by Lady Cecelia Roberts that:—

Whereas—The prohibition of the sale of drink to children and the extension of Sunday closing to the rest of the United Kingdom, are among those measures of temperance legislation on which all reformers are agreed, this Council rejoices at the magnificent majority in the House of Commons of 318 in favor of Mr. Crombie's bill, on March 29, and pledges itself to use every legitimate endeavor to secure that this bill shall be successfully passed through all its stages during the present session of Parliament.

The motion was carried with only one dissenting vote. A motion that "this Council reaffirms its belief in the principle of the Direct Veto and of the local control of the drink traffic by the votes of the people," was also carried. The following resolution, proposed by Miss Agnes Slack, and seconded by Mrs. George H. Smith, was carried by an overwhelming majority:—

That as the recommendations for licensing reforms contained in Lord Peel's report are moderate and reasonable, and would, if passed into law, do much to promote sobriety and good order in the nation; and as the great majority of temperance and social reformers have declared themselves in favor of these recommendations, this Federation calls upon the Legislature to pass a measure into law embodying these recommendations.

The Cause of Nervous Headache.

This most distressing and common malady doubtless has its origin in some unbalanced condition of the nervous system. Probably the simplest, safest and most efficient remedy is Polson's Nervine. Twenty drops in sweetened water gives immediate relief, and this treatment should be supplemented by bathing the region of pain with Nervine. To say it acts quickly fails to express the result. Sold everywhere in large 25c. bottles.

Agricultural.

CRANBERRY CULTURE.

We wonder if many Canadians realize what a profitable crop they might raise on a bit of boggy land not yet under cultivation by planting cranberries. In the eastern countries in England in the old days before drainage and improved agricultural methods had turned poor land to account, the unusual peat beds of those districts were utilized as 'cranberry reserves.' Possibly in by-gone days canned fruit was less common, and dried apples and cranberries proved a great boon to the head of the household, who had to cater for the needs of the family table. To-day Russia, Norway and Sweden send great quantities to the London market, and the favorite Russian dish of stewed cranberries smothered in "smeatana," or clotted cream, is to be found on many fashionable tables in London. The fruit has certain medicinal qualities which make it of the utmost value at this particular season, and a liberal diet of stewed cranberries will do away with the necessity for that old-fashioned dose so dreaded by many children, of "sulphur and treacle." It is a pity that this winter berry, the only fruit that retains its freshness throughout our long northern winters, should not be cultivated in greater quantities and placed within reach of the poorer classes, who would find it a food calculated to stave off many a doctor's and chemist's bill. Large areas in this province are well adapted to the raising of cranberries of a superior quality, which with small exertion directed by intelligence, could be rendered extremely productive and profitable.

Washing Sheep.

REASONS FOR THE DISCONTINUANCE OF THIS PRACTICE.

W. N. Cowden of Ohio, discussing the subject of washing sheep in The National Stockman, arrives at this conclusion:—

Washing wool as now practiced injures the wool. Scientific men now tell us that each fiber of wool is incased in a sheath of oil, and partial washing breaks this sheath and leaves the fiber less lustrous and less strong. If the sheep is allowed to run until this sheath is repaired, it might as well never have been washed. The partial breaking of this sheath of oil accounts for the discolored appearance of wool for the first week after washing, and all have learned that wool must remain on sheep after washing long enough for some oil to rise.

The real reason for washing sheep is the unreasonable reduction demanded by the buyer. A uniform reduction of one-third on all kinds and grades of unwashed wool is as unreasonable and absurd as a uniform price for all kinds and grades of wool. The practical question is, How change the old conditions? Where farmers are organized the way is easy, simply by a resolution to stop washing. In the absence of an organization each farmer must act for himself, and we, who commenced some five years ago to shear without washing, have experienced no difficulty in selling at figures that did not represent a one-third reduction. The increased amount of unwashed wool now going to market from this section of the United States points to the time in the near future when all wool will go to market unwashed.

To Exterminate Insects.

All insect life is more prolific when the hot weather comes and therefore the housewife, in the spring days, should use preventive measures, always more satisfactory than remedial ones. One of the best insect exterminators known is alum water. Put the alum in hot water and boil it until dissolved; then apply with a brush to all cracks or lurking places of pests. Ants, cockroaches, bedbugs and other creeping things are killed in this way, and not being poison it is not dangerous to use where children are playing about. Little red ants, it is said, will not travel over wool, so that a piece of flannel, laid on a pantry shelf, will keep them away. A few drops of oil of lavender sprinkled about a bed is a good thing to keep off fleas. Hellebore, sprinkled over the floor at night where cockroaches are troublesome, will kill those who eat it, and their dead bodies may be swept up in the morning.

Potash fertilizers, which in some southern experiments proved to be beneficial to tobacco, were those furnishing the potash in the form of the sulphate or the carbonate.

STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE.

Sift together one quart of flour, two rounded teaspoonfuls of baking powder, a little salt and one tablespoonful of sugar and into it chop three tablespoonfuls of butter. Add one cupful of sweet milk and one well beaten egg. Put together as quickly and with as little handling as possible. Roll into sheets one-half inch thick. Bake in a well greased pan, laying one sheet on top of the other. As soon as baked separate them and put between the crusts a thick layer of well sweetened berries and also cover the top with berries. Serve with sugar and cream.

WONDERFUL RESULTS

FOLLOW THE USE OF DR. CLARKE'S LITTLE RED PILLS—NO CURE, NO PAY.

To the Editor of Carleton Sentinel:

Sir—Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills are a wonder in my case at least. I was for 16 years a sufferer from rheumatism, and my system became so emaciated and run down that I had given up all hope. Doctors did me no good, or could I get anything to relieve my sufferings. I was only able at times to move around with the greatest pain. By merest chance I saw an advertisement of Dr. Clarke's Little Red Pills, and, like a drowning man reaching for a straw, I concluded to try them. I took three boxes without much change, but before three more had been used I was nearly well. Six weeks after I took my first box I walked a mile without the aid of a stick.

I am now, thank God, a well man, and cheerfully write this letter in the hope that others may be benefited. John D. Askin (formerly of Hamilton), Peterborough, Ont.

Sir—I gladly write a line to say that Dr. Clarke's Little Red Pills cured me of Kidney and Liver troubles of many years standing. I bought a box after trying hundreds of remedies, and felt so much improved that I continued using them. Isaac Richardson, Charlottetown, P. E. I.

Dr. Clarke's Little Red Pills are a positive and certain cure for la grippe, rheumatism, asthma, paralysis, catarrh, eczema, coughs, backache, indigestion, all stomach and liver troubles, female complaints, even when the diseases have been standing for many years, the most stubborn cases will yield. Price 50 cents per box. For sale by all the local druggists. The Canada Chemical Company will forfeit $10 for any case that these pills do not help.

Dr. Clarke's Sure Cure for Catarrh, and Dr. Clarke's Sure Cure for Eczema, same price, $100 will be paid for any case they will not permanently cure.

Canadian Pacific Traffic.

Last year the Canadian railways carried 22,000,000 passengers, and there were only seven fatalities to passengers through accidents. Railway travelling is becoming safer. But among employees there were 123 deaths by accident of one kind or another. Thirty-five of these fatalities resulted from falling from cars, 20 from jumping on or off trains in motion, 16 from coupling cars, 18 from collisions, and one from the putting of the head out of the window while the train was moving. Many of the accidents to employees were preventable. But the total is about half what it was 15 years ago, although we have twice the mileage and the country traversed is more difficult. The adoption of new coupling devices and the use of the steam brake for freight trains have helped materially to reduce the danger, and to save life.
