W. C. T. Ul. Corner.

The meeting of the W. C. T. U. is held in GRAHAM'S HALL, each THURSDAY afternoon, at three o'clock. All ladies are cordially invited to attend. 29,000 men in the garrison. OUR MOTTO.

If God be for us, who can be against us. OUR PERSUASION. That temperance is the moderate use of all things helpful, and total abstinence from all things harmful. That as God lives, right the day shall win

Five months ago the Bible Temperance Association offered one hundred guineas to any chemist who would, before a competent committee, extract a single ounce of alcohol from any quantity of grain, grapes, or other vegetable substance in its organic state as produced by nature. So far no response has been received to the offer.

Is alcohol a digestive? No; its ingestion produces a passing excitation, interrupts the proper action of the muscles of the stomach, because alcohol acts as an anesthetic after having irritated the walls of the stomach, and it drives the blood to the skin and so hinders the action of the gastric juice.

The last was the century of effort in the cause of temperance, so that hundreds of thousands of abstainers, young and old, are doing what they can do to stand between the living and the dead, and to stay the terrible plague of intemperance.

A well-known temperance worker says: "I once examined the inmates of the Christian Home for Intemperate Men, in New York city as to the way they reached the last ditch of drunkenness, and eighty per cent. told me that they began with beer."

So He leaves 200 descendants. well did he succeed that the whole meeting called for a speech. The boy went very red, but the people were resolved he should rise. And at last, after he had been pressed strongly, he got up and spoke something to this effect: "Am nae great drawer: but I can draw better than drawer; but I can draw better than I can speak. But I can say this much that it's a gude wark we've begun the nicht. It's the wark o' pittin' down drinking and saving drinkers. An' we can a' help in this wark if we only bide awa' frae drink oursel's. believe the work will succeed. houp every lad and lass here will pit doun their names. Am gaun to pit doun mine. No' that the pittin' down o' our names will make us sober, but it'll show what side we're on. An' it'll help to keep us awa' frae drink. We can aye say, if we're asked to drink—'I've pitten down my name!' That's a' I have to say."

VEGETABLES MEDICINE.

Many vegetables exert direct medicinal effects and it is well for the housewife to inform herself as to the nature of these in order that she may work more intelligently in constructing daily bills of fare. A well known authority gives the following the Pan-American Exposition secur-

Spinach is particularly good for rheumatism and gout and also in kidney disease.

Onions are good for chest ailments and colds, but do not agree with all. (We may add, uncooked, they do not agree with many.) Watercresses are an excellent tonic, stomachic and cooling.

Beetroot is very cooling and highly nutritious, owing to the amount of sugar it contains. Parsley is cooling and purifying.

Turnip tops are valuable when young and tender. Potatoes, parsnips, carrots, turnips and artichokes are highly nutritious but are not so digestible as some vegetables. Potatoes are the most nourishing and are tattening for nervous people.

Tomatoes are health giving and purifying, either eaten raw or cook-

Origin of Royal Purple.

There will be plenty of Tyrian purple at the coronation of King Ed ward, as all the crowned heads will wear it. The dye comes from small fish, and only a single drop of it is obtained from each animal. In wool, subjected to the dyeing process, sold for about $150 in our money. A Mr Cole of Bristol, England, heard from two ladies, residing at Minehead, that a man living on the coast of Ireland, made his living by marking in a brilliant purple the fine linen which ladies and gentlemen of the court sent to him for the purpose, the dye being a substance taken from a shellfish. He went immediately to the place, obtained some of the fish from the seaman and after many unsuccessful attempts finally succeeded in reproducing the imperial purple. The fluid was exlittle furrow near the head of the fish, the vein being laid open with a needle. The stain given by this animal fluid is said to be indelible, bidding defiance to every chemical process for removing stains. Ordinary purple is obtained from vegetable and mineral sources.

A Remarkable Story.

A very remarkable story is current with regard to General Sir lan Hamilton's spectacles. It appears that the gallant officer, then a subaltern, lost a pair of spectacles in the battle of Majuba Hill. They were apparently picked up by a Boer whom they suited, and who kept them for twenty years. In the early part of the present year the spectacles were found on the body of a dead Boer. There could be no doubt of their identity, for the case had General Hamilton's name on it; and they were in due course returned to their original owner.

CHERRY'S BAD HEART

Put him "down and out" so far as working was concerned, but Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart made a man of him

Heart weakness and fainting spells were so acute that Wm. Cherry, of Owen Sound, Ont., had to quit work. His sufferings were very great. One day a druggist said: "Cherry, try Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart; it must be a good thing for it has a large sale." He did so, and took five bottles. To-day he takes his place beside the other workmen, and does as big a day's work as any of them, thanks to this great remedy.

A WONDERFUL BOOK.

For more than two centuries Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress," with the sole exception of the Authorised Version of the Bible, has been the most popular of English books. And Bunyan has not had to be content with the islands, or even with Greater Britain, as his world. His wonderful allegory has been translated into almost every known language. It is circulated throughout India, through Western and Southern Africa; it is read, we are told, in all the American schools of Syria, and there is a Chinese version in the Canton vernacular, illustrated by pictures drawn and engraved by Chinese artists. In these Christian appears in Chinese costume, the House Beautiful as a Chinese pagoda, and all the scenes and incidents in a 1y-36. garb familiar to the people for whom the book is intended.

Edison seems to feel absolutely certain that his invention will be a success—will be so light, so cheap, and so perfectly reliable that it will revolutionize the cartage and street car business of the world. It is claimed that this storage battery will make it cheaper to haul freight in cities by electricity than by teams or horses. It is claimed also that trolley wires and poles will be abolished, and each street car will be propelled by its own motor mechanism, without keeping up connection with a central power-house. Perhaps too much is claimed in advance for the invention, but Edison has done such wonders and is so confident of the value of his latest discartage and street car business of the nake its appearance.—Ex.
