Late Hon. N. Clarke Wallace.

The death of Hon. N. Clarke Wallace, which took place on the night of the 8th inst., after an illness of some weeks from pernicious anemia, removes from life one of the best known and most active of Canadian politicians. Ever a strong Conservative in politics, he was a strong believer in and a firm supporter of the "National Policy," and whatever his political faults may have been, insincerity or fear was not one of them. He was bold, outspoken, blunt even to harshness, but never gave an uncertain sound as to his views on any question for discussion. While differing with him widely in his political views, we are bound to admire his sincerity. His death will prove a great loss to the Conservative party.

He was a life-long and prominent member of the Orange body, having held the high rank of Supreme Grand Master of the order in British America for fourteen years; and for three years he held the position of Grand Sovereign of the biennial council of Orangemen of the world.

Mr. Wallace leaves a widow and a large family.

We are in receipt, from the publisher, R. A. H. Morrow, St. John, of a book of 160 pages, entitled "The New Household Manual and Ladies' Companion," embracing a repository of valuable recipes and other practical information covering the whole field of domestic life, etc. The book is nicely gotten up, with clear type, on heavy paper. It is a valuable book for the housekeeper, and a copy should be found in every home.

He was between sixteen and seventeen years of age, and was a very fine young man. The remains were brought home and interred at Bath. Much sympathy is felt for the sorrowing family.

The Eastern Odd Fellow is a new venture in the newspaper line, at Houlton. As its name indicates, it is intended as an organ for the order of Odd Fellows in Maine. It is very neatly printed on good paper, and is filled with matter of interest to its special clientele. Geo. H. Gilman is publisher and Frank L. Cook editor.

Tribute of the Canadians of Boston.

At the reception given by the Duke and Duchess of York, in Ottawa, the other day, Dr. Robert H. Upham, president of the Canadian Club of Boston, presented the royal visitors with a handsomely engrossed address on behalf of the Canadians of Boston. Mr. H. Paxton Baird was shown the address by Dr. Upham, and believes it to be one of the most artistic of the many presented to the royal party during the present itinerary. On its first page the English and American flags droop over a maple leaf, and a beaver is shown above these. Underneath is printed "The Canadian Club of Boston, Mass." The address is on parchment, bound together by a single bow of white ribbon. The address itself was a well conceived and finely worded one; its closing paragraph was:—

"We, the Canadian residents in the great republic, in particular, desire to establish in your mind the fact that we have not forgotten our love for the reigning family in England; that we have not lapsed in our affection for our native land; that we join with all Canada in extending to you and Her Royal Highness the Duchess of Cornwall and York, on this visit to American shores, a hearty, generous welcome, and that we wish you a long, happy and prosperous life, crowned with success and filled with the highest measure of contentment."

For the Canadian Club of Boston.

ROBERT H. UPHAM, President.

HENRY W. PATTERSON, Vice-President.

JOHN F. MASTERS, Secretary.

A Kintore Wedding.

On the evening of Sept 25th the church of Upper Kintore presented a very pretty appearance, beautifully decorated with autumn leaves and flowers, being the occasion of the marriage of Mr J W Cocker to Miss Mary Christie, daughter of Mr William Christie. The bride, who entered the church with her father, was gowned in a beautiful dress of white, trimmed with orange blossoms; her sister Miss Isabella, who attended her, also wore white with pale blue trimmings. The groom was assisted by Mr John Christie. The Rev G C Pringle performed the ceremony. The guests were ushered to their seats by Mr John Farquhar and Mr Willie Christie. A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, where a splendid entertainment was prepared, the supper being excellent, and a most enjoyable time was spent in the popular amusements of singing and dancing. The bride and groom were esteemed by their many friends as could be seen by the many handsome presents and also by the efforts of their friends to make their marriage a success. Mr and Mrs Cocker left for their home at Cabano, followed by the best wishes of their many friends.

Noble & Trafton have decided to bring their grocery business to a cash basis on the first day of November. After an experience of seven years in business, they have decided that they can give their customers better satisfaction in the way of prices on a cash basis than under the present credit system. By selling for cash they can buy for cash and get much closer prices, the benefit of which they can give their customers. The expense of book keeping is a large item, which can be done away with in a cash store, and the customers of Noble & Trafton will reap the benefit of this in reduced prices. The members of the firm would like to talk the matter over with their patrons and explain to them the manner in which they propose to effect the change.
