WHISTLE TO KEEP THEIR COURAGE UP.

Some of the Conservative papers profess to see no cause for discouragement over the result of the bye-elections which took place last week. Well, if the Conservatives are satisfied, the government party certainly have no cause for fault finding, but, on the other hand, are highly pleased at the gratifying result. But, then, the same result has characterized nearly every bye-election, held, since the liberal party came into power. The fact is that whenever the electorate are called upon to arbitrate upon any question involving the standing and strength of this government the decision is such as to prove that so far from the government losing strength, it is constantly growing in favor and power, with the people of the Dominion. Regarding the results of the bye-elections last week, the fact that the government gained two seats, one of them being in a constituency which was considered an impregnable conservative stronghold, and which, in 1896, gave Clark Wallace a majority of 4,068, and last week returned Archibald Campbell, liberal, with a majority of about 200, is glory sufficient to satisfy the most ardent liberal, and convince the government that their administration of affairs meets the hearty approval of the electorate.

What's the Matter With Ireland?

It is strange that, with such a store of cheap labor, men cannot be found in Ireland with enterprise sufficient to introduce new industries, reap fortunes for themselves, and contribute to establish the country in a state of prosperity it has never before known. Never were such opportunities offered before, for never was labor paid better than to-day in the history of industry. Capitalists can invest in every country of the world with a fair degree of assurance that their investments will return them profits—except in Ireland. How is this? Captains of industry migrate from this country to all the countries of the continent and found industrial establishments with perfect confidence that their investments will prove fruitful. But we never hear of their going to Ireland. How is this? It cannot be from economic causes, because both land and labor are cheap, and Ireland itself is nearer than any country to the best and richest market in the world. What then is the cause? These are pertinent questions, and we recommend them to the Irish people themselves to consider and to find the answers. We could offer answers, but prefer not to do so. It is, however, important that Irishmen should ascertain why they are not getting their share of the world's unparalleled prosperity. It is no use to attribute the cause to political misgovernment, as alleged by the charlatans and professional national politicians; it is nothing of the sort.—Textile Mercury of England.

SOUTH AFRICA.

London, Jan. 21.—The correspondent of the Times, writing from Pretoria, says: Nearly every day produces evidence of the demoralization of the Boers in the Eastern Transvaal. A petition, bearing the signatures of many prominent prisoners captured recently by the British, has been issued imploring Botha to end quickly the terrible war. Commandant Trichard has also written to Botha telling him that he must come quickly and talk with Trichard's commando, as his men are very much dissatisfied, threaten to surrender and will no longer listen to their immediate commander. The prisoners now falling into the hands of the British invariably seem relieved rather than otherwise at being captured. But it must not be inferred from this that a wholesale surrender of the Boers is necessarily imminent. The paring-down process must continue uninteruptedly. The great difficulty that besets the British forces in these operations is the want of horses. What is required apart from the spare horses is large columns, only half the men being employed at night. It is impossible to require the men to stand more than three night marches weekly.

Ladybrand, Orange River Colony, Jan. 21.—Small bodies of Boers have made many attempts lately to break through the line of posts and get into the southeastern district. On Thursday three separate attempts of this kind were repulsed. Col. Baldwin's column, which is operating near Ficksburg, captured four Boers on Thursday. Col. Dellsie has driven Commandant Marai's forces toward Doornberg.

Col. Doran's column attacked Wessels's commando, twenty-four miles from Richmond, Cape Colony, Friday night. One Boer was killed and six others were captured. Three natives and a number of horses were also taken.

The Basutos continue to be greatly impressed with the resolution of the British government in conducting the war.

It is difficult to satisfy the demands for labor from the Johannesburg and Kimberly mines from here, owing to the large number of Basutos being already employed as drivers and leaders with the British fighting columns.

It was found necessary during the clearing operations in the north-east of the Orange River Colony to burn all the native huts and grain, and to commandeer their cattle, the leaders of the British columns giving receipts and sending the natives into the refugee camps. Since the line of blockhouses has been maintained from Bloemfontein to the Basutoland border, large quantities of grain have been going through. Wheat and mealies are here in great quantities awaiting rail transport. The crops now being reaped are the best on record. There is, roughly speaking, £2,000,000 worth of wheat now in this country, all available for the government.

Ontario Prohibitionists.

TORONTO, Jan. 22.—A protest of the Methodist church and Dominion Alliance against a further popular vote on the prohibition question was formally presented to the Ontario government to-day. Rev. Dr. Carman, for the Methodists, declared the suggested referendum to be un-British and foreign to the Canadian system. Rev. Mr. Kettlewell condemned the suggestion as to a three-fifths majority as embodying the vicious principle of minority rule.

F. S. Spence, for the Dominion Alliance, said the proposal to take another vote was not at all agreeable to temperance people. Premier Ross in reply said the statements presented would be very carefully considered by the government.

LADY CLARE.

ST. JOHN LETTER.

For many years the writer has lamented the want of practical instruction in our rural schools. As a general thing the teachers follow a groove which leads to nowhere. The boys, when they leave these schools at the age of twelve or fifteen years are as well fitted to become clergymen or circus performers as farmers or tradesmen, and the girls to become opera singers or great ladies as farmers' or tradesmen's wives. In brief, the education that is to assist them through life, to make them useful to themselves and to others has not yet begun. The lessons that are learned in early childhood are never forgotten. We know men of 70 who at 6 or 7 years old were taught to rise at 5 o'clock in the morning and to retire at 9 o'clock in the evening, how to get the best results and save work, by doing everything at the right time and by doing it well, and they have never forgotten it, and we know gray-haired women who, as children were taught how to make good bread, how to knit, how to patch a garment, and how to avoid waste, and when occasion demands they do these things yet, and do them well. It is such things as these, as well as the three Rs, that should have attention in the rural schools, and the child that neglects them will in the near future find that the world has little use for him or her. Under these circumstances the writer is rejoiced to know that through the munificence of Sir William Macdonald (a Maritime Province man) experimental schools on the lines hinted at are to be opened in each of the Canadian Provinces. Each will have a manual training room and garden attached as part of its equipment. Among the subjects taught will be dairying, poultry keeping, fruit growing, bee keeping and general gardening and, for girls, cooking, dress-making and all the multifarious duties of a farmer's wife.
