On Friday evening of last week, the ever welcome and popular H. Price Webber's Boston Comedy Co., in the Opera House, put on the boards, for the first time here the powerful English drama entitled—The Golden Plough, "under the auspices and for the benefit of the Woodstock Cornet Band. The presentation, by the popular company, of the drama, was all that the most fastidious could desire and the large audience present was well satisfied with the play and the players. Edwina Grey was a general favorite; H. Price Webber was the same jovial fellow as of yore; W. H. Bedell, who has been with the Company 16 years, has many friends in town.

O M Sherwood's mammoth stock of furs goods, embracing all lines for ladies gentleman and children, has arrived, and will be open for inspection exhibition day, Oct. 1st. His own importation of ladies cloth jackets, dress goods etc., has also arrived, ex steamer "Corian", and opening up more than satisfactory. Critical lady judges pronounce them perfectly correct, in colorings and every way, and they are surprised at the low prices. No middle men's profits on these goods.

Brought here by the Electric Light and Power Co, J. A. Parker, an engineer from Sherbrooke, Que, came last week and made a survey for some distance up the creek, looking for a site for a contemplated dam. About two miles above the Meduxakik bridge, he found a site, which he declared to be a most favorable one. The talk is that a dam twenty feet high, will give them plenty of power, constantly the entire year. It is the intention of the company to get the dam well along the coming winter.

Rev B Colpitts has purchased from L A Vanwart, the lot of land, corner of Main and Victoria street, with the building thereon. The purchaser intends the building forward to front on Main Street and fixing it over into a residence. The place where the old building now stands will be occupied by a horse shed for the convenience of the worshippers at the reform B churches. The huge popular, whose wide spreading branches and sturdy trunk have so long stood as a landmark is being cut down, and thus another old veteran passes away.

The public are naturally disappointed over the failure of the advertised Balloon Ascension, but not more so than are the committee of arrangements, who were justified in believing that arrangements were such as to ensure the presence of Prof. Sterrett, his ape, and the balloon. The Professor's geography seems to be defective for when he left New York, he took a ticket for Woodstock, Ontario instead of New Brunswick. The correspondence that passed between the committee and the prof. will be published next week, and will show that the committee are entirely blameless in the matter.

THE SUSSEX EXHIBITION.

The usual five days exhibition will be held at Sussex this year commencing on Monday Sept. 29th. This exhibition, which is open to the Maritime Provinces, will be the best agricultural fair held in the Maritime provinces this year. Sussex has splendidly equipped buildings and grounds, costing several thousands of dollars, the greater part of which has been put up by the enterprising citizens of the place. Very little Government aid has been extended to Sussex, yet a very successful show is held annually. On Tuesday and Wednesday Sept. 30th and Oct. 1st, the racing will be held. The 2.25 and 2.40 class will be held on the first day and the free-for-all and 2.30 on the second day. There are splendid entries for all events. Special rate from all I. C. R. points will prevail throughout the exhibition.

Greatest Living Scotch and Gaelic Singer.

The following letter from a gentleman so well and popularly known here, will be accepted as a truthful and flattering recommendation of the great Scotch singer, Jessie Nivan MacLachlan, who is so soon to appear before a Woodstock audience:—

St. John, N. B. Sept. 16th, 1902. My DEAR MR. SPENCER,—I do not wish my friends in Woodstock to miss the opportunity of hearing Jessie Nivan MacLachlan, the greatest living Scotch and Gaelic singer. I never fail to hear her when she appears in this city. Miss MacLachlan possesses a splendid presence, fine quality of voice, and above all a really wonderful dramatic power, which enables her to give those interpretations which enthrall thousands. How shall I ever forget her singing of "The Hundred Pipers," "The March of the Cameron Men," "Comin' Through the Rye" and her matchless rendering of "Rule Britannia" which never fail to bring her audience from their chairs with enthusiasm I would most heartily recommend all my friends to hear Miss MacLachlan, while the opportunity affords.

Ashland.

Sept 23, 1902.

All those who have the audacity to say Ashland is not up-to-date, Had better come and listen While I some facts do state.

We have had summer visitors And we have parties at every door; We also have a foot-ball team, Of which you've been told before.

Then we had a basket picnic The best that's been around; All had a very enjoyable time And were loth to leave the ground.

A swing from Cloverdale was there And made a few pence, I ween; We also had candy, drinks and fruit, For Carey and Hade run a canteen.

Then there were races of all kinds And a parade that was patriot true, For from the band to the bicycle Floated the red, white and blue.

Then Ashland has its braggarts, And it also has its clown; It has the good, smart and lazy, Just the same as any other town.

Best of all, we have a poetess, Who writes down rhymes with care; She is a lass most charming, And altho' she is "Brown" she's fair.

Now, Mr Editor, if these few lines Into the SENTINEL find their way, And nobody has any objection, I may come again some other day.

On the evening of Sept 6th, Mr and Mrs Enoch Farley, of Bridgewater, were happily surprised when thirty-three of their relatives, including B H Sanborn and wife from here, assembled bringing with them cake and icecream, to celebrate the fortieth wedding anniversary of Mr and Mrs Farley. A pleasant evening was spent and before taking their departure Mrs Wilmot Briggs in behalf of the company, presented the bride with a beautiful gold ring, and to the groom a handsome pair of slippers.

There is great excitement here over the shooting which occurred at the Boundary Line last week. It seems that Nathan Bradstreet called at Mr Stuart's very early in the morning and wishing to see Fred Stuart on business he went to a window of his room and put his whip through a broken pane and succeeded in waking him by tapping him with the whip. He woke suddenly and thinking a burglar was there he shot at him but was horrified when he found that the victim was one of his very intimate friends. Saturday he was still living but was a great sufferer. It would seem reasonable for young Stuart to think of burglars as some tramps have taken refuge in the woods and barns of the vicinity recently, they being the same ones, no doubt, who so recently marched through sections of N. B. demanding food in many places and at Mr Anderson's in Bloomfield, they broke into the house and stole various valuable articles.
