INQUEST re GEORGE H. MARSTEN'S DEATH.

The inquest into the cause of the death of George H. Marsten, which occurred suddenly the latter part of June, was resumed after several adjournments on Tuesday morning last. Coroner Mullin presided. Mr. J. R. Murphy represented the Crown and Mr. J. C. Hartley appeared on behalf of Mrs. Marsten. Perhaps the most important evidence was that given by Mr. H. Y. Paddock the analyst of St. John, who made an analysis of the stomach and part of the liver, kidney and brain. Before he was put on the stand several witnesses were examined.

Mande Best testified that she heard Mrs. Marsten say that she gave her husband toast and egg and cream of tartar. She said she gave George something and went down to the flat to pick liacs. She was gone three quarters of an hour, and when she came back her husband was dead.

Evered Marsten said that deceased was his brother. He had helped him harvest last year and was then in good health. George said to him that he never felt better in his life. This spring he told witness he always felt well when he was at his place, when he left there and went home he did not feel so well.

Abram Marsten said that when his brother was visiting him in Woodstock, shortly before his death, he never saw him have any drugs or medicine in his room. He took some little thing. He thought it was a patent medicine. His brother weighed from 155 to 160 lbs.

George Simms a stage driver between Fredericton and Meductic had boarded at the hotel. He did not notice any particular jarring between Mr. and Mrs. Marsten. He heard Mrs. Marsten say the more she saw of George the worse she hated him.

Lucinda Marsten said that when she asked George what seemed to be the matter he said the roots of his tongue seemed to be numb, and his eyes felt tight. Mrs. Marsten had told her that the doctor said George was liable to die at any time, if he died suddenly she hoped it would be while he was in Woodstock, for if it happened here, people had been saying she would poison him. She said George would not drink or take anything without washing the cup it was in. Outsiders had told him he was liable to be poisoned.

May Drost said she was at the house after Mr. Marsten died. Mrs. Marsten said she had taken him toast and eggs six times from five in the morning till eleven. She said she took beef broth to him. He did not like it as he did the egg. Everything she took to him, he said wait till to-morrow. She said she mixed up a teaspoonful of cream of tartar and took it up to him. She said she was telling Mr. Best and he said it wouldn't hurt him if she had given him two teaspoonfuls. She said she took up the cream of tartar and immediately afterwards left the town.

After the noon adjournment Mr. Paddock was examined. He said he was a practicing chemist and druggist in St. John had been in business there for 26 years. Last year he graduated from the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy. He said he analysed the stomach and parts of the liver, kidney and brain of deceased which were brought to him in St. John by Dr. Rankin. After he got the jars containing these contents he sealed them in the presence of Dr. Rankin. After a complete analysis of the stomach, it gave no test of strychnine. He went through the same process with the liver and one kidney, and by means of the usual four tests found strychnine. He found one twenty-fifth of a grain. He weighed the portion of the liver and kidney received from Dr. Rankin, and found 20 ounces. It was from 18 ounces of this that he produced one twenty-fifth of a grain of strychnine. He got no test for strychnine in the stomach or brain. From what he had read death from strychnine generally resulted from 1 to 1 of an hour after taking the dose.

Dr. Rankin said that in a case where in an examination of 18 ounces of liver and kidney together, one twenty-fifth of a grain of strychnine was found in the 18 ounces, it would mean about 1/2 grain in a 24 ounce weight about 160 lbs. The poison would permeate all through the man's system. In such a case where strychnine was found as analysed, he would say that death was caused by the effects of strychnine. From the evidence he had heard as to the twitching of the limbs of deceased, as noted by bystanders before his death, he would say they were confirmatory signs of strychnine poisoning. From his post mortem there was evidence of post mortem rigidity in the calves of the legs and lower parts of the thighs. A person dying of strychnine might die in a paroxysm or during the exhaustion following. In the case of one coming into a room where a person was dying of strychnine poisoning, five minutes before death it might be possible that the paroxysms were over and that the patient was dying of exhaustion.

From the evidence of Mr. Paddock, he would say that Mr. Marsten died of strychnine poisoning. In the case of a man having taken five grains it would depend on how he took it as to his knowing he took it. A man could not certainly take it in water without knowing it. He did not think it could be disguised in any bulk of food. He examined a portion of the brain covering of deceased, and there was evidence of degeneration. There was indication of brain dementia.

In the case of an ordinary man a grain has caused death. It is generally considered that a dose to cause death must be from 1 to 1 of a grain.

Dr. Turner heard Mr. Paddock's evidence, and from the part he himself took in the post mortem and from Mr. Paddock's testimony, he had no doubt that Mr. Marsten's death was the result of strychnine poisoning.

He agreed in general with what Dr. Rankin had said, but believed that a grain had caused death in an adult and 1-16 of a grain of strychnine had caused the death of a child from two to three years of age.

This finished the evidence. After being briefly addressed by the coroner, the jury retired. They handed in their verdict to the coroner, but it was not made public.

Shocking Developments in the Case of the Murder of Wm. Doherty.

In the case of the murder of Wm. Doherty whose mangled body was found near Rockwood Park St. John, to which brief reference was made by us last week shocking developments having been made. Two lads, Frank Higgins aged 17 years and Fred Goodspeed aged 15, have left the city under suspicious circumstances were arrested at Vancouver and taken back to St. John and jailed. At the examination of the coroners inquest Monday evening Fred Goodspeed swore to the following:—

"I was 15 years old last April. I know what an oath is; it is an oath of God. It is an oath to tell the truth. I will be 15 years old my next birthday. I remember Friday a week ago. I got my dinner at home on Friday as usual, after 12 o'clock I left home immediately after dinner, and about 1.30 o'clock arrived at the graveyard, where I met Clifford King, Harry Kelly, Willie Doherty and Frank Higgins. I knew Doherty and Higgins about a year and a half, and King about this summer. It was about 1 o'clock then. I asked Kelly how much money he had for the picnic. He said about $1.25. I left Kelly and King there.

"Frank Higgins asked me to go to the park and get a food of berries. At the time Doherty was reading a newspaper. I think he left it there in the graveyard. I didn't take it away. We went right down Brussels street to Gilbert's lane. I can't think of anyone asking for a cigarette. I recollect a young fellow asking if there were any girls going out to the park. I said: 'A sporty fellow like you could easily get a girl.' We went up the park entrance. We were at the park entrance about five minutes and went down the road towards Dave Connell's farm, and went over the hill, picking berries as we went. We did not go near the Drury range. We had no quarrel as I know of. We came then towards the park again. I was in front picking berries. Right there by the path of Lovers' lane, me and Willie Doherty were picking berries. Frank Higgins was behind us."

"Then I heard four shots and Willie Doherty sang out and said, 'My God, Higgins, you've shot me.' Willie Doherty ran up on the hill and Frank Higgins chased him up. When he got up the hill Frank Higgins raised his hand up to hit Willie Doherty on the head with the revolver. Willie Doherty tried to snatch the revolver. He then sank down on his back and said: 'If you go and get a doctor I'll swear it is an accident.' I went to run to the park and Higgins pointed the revolver at me and said: 'If you don't have a hand in this I'll shoot you right here.' 'So I came back and he hit Willie Doherty over the head five times with the butt or handle of the revolver. Doherty was lying on the ground with his head on his elbow. 'Then Doherty put his hand to his head, groaned and fell back and didn't move after that. 'I helped Higgins gather some sticks and grass, and I picked up some stones and threw them down and buried him over."

"This occurred at 3 o'clock as near as I can tell. Then we came in the foot path by the restaurant and through the park entrance and in Gilbert's Lane. We crossed down the track where the street railway runs and went to Sandy bank and Higgins threw the revolver in the creek. Then we came up the track and I came along the track home and left him the foot of Clarence street and went home then.

"I have known Higgins for some time. He made a proposal to me two or three weeks ago to do away with Doherty. He said: 'Do you like Willie Doherty?' I said 'Yes, I like him just as well as I do any of the other boys.' 'He said: 'I don't like him; will you help to kill him?' I said, No.

"He never asked me after that. 'He blamed Willie Doherty' for stealing the money that Higgins had hid. Doherty was the only one who knew where it was and he blamed Doherty for taking it. He told me he went to Brownville (Me.), with Holm and W and stole $300 worth of goods and money and they were chased by the sheriff. When Willie Doherty threw his things over into the water Frank Higgins held onto his things and hid them in an old house or barn. He didn't tell me where.

"He spoke to me about the Oulton case. He said to me one day in the graveyard. This was Willie Doherty who said this: 'Mr. Mullin makes objection, but the evidence is allowed. Witness continuing said: 'He said 'If I was to tell the authorities all I know about the Oulton case I could get some money.' 'He said it in a fooling, laughing way and I thought he was only bluffing. We started to take a trip. Frank Higgins told me, on Waterloo street, to go away that the cops were after me and would arrest me. I didn't get my hair cut or change my clothes. Higgins cut his hair a bit and changed his clothes—different clothes, a standing collar and a new hat. We gave our names as Marshall. We intended going to Portland (Me.), and did not intend to come back. I was surprised when he shot Doherty. I went back and helped because he pointed a revolver at my head. Afterwards he said: 'If you tell a word about that, the first chance I get I'll take your life.' That was the reason I did not tell you the truth."

"I looked into Doherty's face when he lay on the hill. There were no marks on his face. There were no marks on his face. Higgins showed him down over the hill with his foot and the coat rolled over his head."

The coroners jury returned a verdict of wilful murder against Frank Higgins.

U. B. FOSTER, Dist. Passenger Agent, St. John, N. B.

Several of the ladies met at the church last Wednesday for the purpose of cleaning it. Praise is their due.

Rev Freeman has returned from his vacation and filled his appointment here Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hazen Hamilton of St. John are visiting Mrs. H's mother, Mrs. J. S. Young. She is a welcome guest in the community. Has spent a good portion of her life here. Is an ex-teacher and a few years ago rendered her service here as such.

I think mention should be made concerning work that has been done in the graveyard on Mrs. Adams' lot. It was built up in good shape and she decorated the graves of her husband and mother with shells and flowers. Would that others might follow her example.

Mrs. B. A. Nickerson returned home yesterday. For the past three weeks, she has been at Monticello nursing Mrs. Freeman Hotham, who was seriously ill with a complication of diseases. But as a result of the united efforts of Dr. Schriver, the attending physician, and the nurse, the patient is now convalescent.
