Leave to appeal refused.

Laurier's Visit to Boston.

(Springfield Republican)

The acceptance by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Premier of Canada, of an invitation to address the Boston merchants' association on the question of reciprocity, will be noted with great satisfaction by very many people in this country.

Sir Wilfrid is in many respects a remarkable man, and as a North American statesman all of us on this continent, under whatever flag, may regard him with pride.

Our brethren over the border have inherited the genius for free and popular government from that same inexhaustible stock from which the United States has drawn so copiously during its history, and which, after all, is the hope of the highest civilization in the world.

Sir Wilfrid is the greatest example yet produced of the happy conjunction of Gallic temperament and inheritance with the environment of the Anglo-Saxon governmental system.

In the United States we have seen men of German birth or extraction attain prominence as statesmen, and have long noted how splendidly the German stock flourished in the atmosphere of popular institutions.

Canada has produced the same kind of phenomenon with the original French stock, in the person of her present Premier and most conspicuous living statesman. It deserves to be said, also, that this distinguished product of the French race and of the popular institutions in North America exhibits not only complete loyalty to his own land and flag, but a fine conception and appreciation of the duty of the adjoining countries to dwell in harmonious, peaceful and mutually advantageous relations.

The question of better trade relations with Canada is one whose importance is not contingent upon elections. When the battle of parties has been ended by Tuesday's balloting, it will remain possibly in a better position for unbiased and non-partisan consideration. The importance which this question is assuming may be inferred from the great activity lately shown by the high protectionist party of Canada, which aims to increase the Canadian tariff on articles of foreign manufacture.

There is a question of foreign markets, and it concerns New England. It is a matter of business, because New England manufacturers need the market. It is also a matter of mutual advantage or disadvantage to both countries in the broadest sense.

PRAYER FOR YOUNG MEN.

Religious Intelligence.—The week beginning with next Sunday, November 9th, is the week of prayer for young men. Not only is it expected to be observed by all Y. M. C. Associations throughout the world, but all churches are asked to co-operate in the devotion of the week to special prayer for the divine blessing on the work that is being done for young men. Pastors are asked to preach to young men. The last year has been one of encouragement in many departments of the work for young men. Yet there is need of new enthusiasm and fuller consecration to Christian service. Let all the people pray for the conversion of the young men.

Dark Hair

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for a great many years, and although I am past eighty years of age, yet I have not a gray hair in my head."
Geo. Yellott, Towson, Md.

We mean all that rich, dark color your hair used to have. If it's gray now, no matter; for Ayer's Hair Vigor always restores color to gray hair. Sometimes it makes the hair grow very heavy and long; and it stops falling off the hair, too.

A SINGULAR ESCAPE.

Pittsfield, Mass., Oct. 25.—Attacked by an eagle while riding near the Connecticut State line yesterday, Miss Annie Cassidy owes her escape from serious injury and perhaps death, to her bicycle. As it is, she was bruised and shocked, but no serious results are feared.

Miss Cassidy is a young and pretty school teacher in Sheffield, and as the school building is some distance from her boarding place, she used her wheel to ride to and fro.

Yesterday, while on a lonely road through the mountains, she heard the swish of wings and the next instant a large eagle swooped upon her.

Miss Cassidy was thrown from her wheel, but the eagle was unable to follow up its attack, as its talons were caught in the still revolving rear wheel of the bicycle and it was unable to reach its victim.

In its struggles to free itself the eagle's head and neck were caught in the chain and the huge bird slowly strangled to death, while Miss Cassidy, overcome by surprise and fright and unable to rise, watched its struggles.

This is the first instance in this country where an eagle has attacked a person.

Eagles are plentiful along the Tacoma range and have frequently carried off sheep.
