HARVESTING THE MANITOBA CROP.

How the Army of Farm Laborers Will be Sent to Their Destination.

More important than any other topic at this particular time is the gathering of the anticipated bountiful harvest in Manitoba and the Territories this and next month. At least 20,000 men are required for the work, and the great majority of these will go from Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces. Some interesting information regarding the way the farm laborers will be handled is given by the Manitoba Government in a statement made by Mr Hugh McKellar, of the Department of Agriculture, in reply to the following letter received from a person in Ontario:

'Please say what arrangements you will have at Winnipeg for sending farm laborers to localities where they may desire to go. Upon inquiry I find many of those contemplating going from this locality have relatives, friends or farmers for whom they have worked before, and for whom they have promised to work again should they return. These parties will decline to go unless some arrangement is made whereby they can be sure of being ticketed through to their desired destination."

The following is Mr McKellar's reply which concisely sums up what the Government has done in the way of preparing for distribution of the laborers from the East:

"The question you raise is the one that impressed itself most forcibly upon me last year in considering any change in our method of distributing harvest hands. I consider it absurd to dictate to any man where he Considered with reference to its recupera- | should go, especially when men have definite plecs in view. There is nothing, however in this year's arrangements that will prevent men from going to there friends or to those for whom they worked in past years, if they advise such friends or farmers that they are coming, so that such Mr. Henpeck proposes that the friends and farmers do not engage

"The fare to Winnipeg is $10. On presenting stub of coupon to C P R officials on arrival at Winnipeg a pass is given to any point in Manitoba and away men go to destination. They can take care of themselves for they have been here before. Their baggage would also be re-checked from Winnipeg to destination. For those who have never been here to help in harvesting and who have no particular place to go, we are arranging that they shall be met at Winnipeg by delegate farmers from all points in the province and taken out to their various districts. This is to prevent congestion at any stations. A pass is also given to all such from Winnipeg to destination. "You will see, therefore, that there is no interference with men who know their destination, and that every assistance possible is to be given by the officials of this department in locating those who may come to assist us for the first time. There is nothing therefore, to deter any one from coming. They are want ed, and they will receive every attention and assistance possible." It is hoped that the Eastern Canadian press will put this matter in its proper light, so that no one may be deterred from going, for it may be readily seen from the above letter that men will be allowed to go to whatever destination they desire, without interference and those who have no special preference will be assisted in every possible way,

Frank Higgins has been committed for trial for the murder of William Doherty at the next session of the Supreme court which meets here on the second of September. The proof of his guilt and of the guilt of his accomplice or accessory, Fred Goodspeed, appears to be conclusive. NOAH'S ARK.

Did Noah's ark, after all, rest upon Mount Ararat? It did not, if we are rests on a hilltop on the Porcupine River, not very far from the Yukon, and near the Arctic circle. These Indians describe the object they have found as a petrified ship, with a length of twelve hundred feet; and, since their conversion to Christianity, they have become convinced that it is the genuine craft made by Noah. The Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association at Skagway is convinced about the existence of the ship, and is said to be organizing an expedition into the interior of Alaska in search of it. It would be a mighty fine thing for the American continent to know that it was possesed of the true ark. The discovery would, of course, account for the existence of the American fauna. But a great historical question would be reversed. People have wanted to know how the animals from the ark found their way to America. Now the puzzle will be to know how the inhabitants of the ark got into Asia, Europe, Africa, and Australia.-Newcastle Chronicle,
