MR. PHILLIPS REPLIES.

To the Editor of Carleton Sentinel:

In the last issue of the Dispatch, I find the following reference to myself, which was inspired by, if not actually written by, Mr. S. B. Appleby:

"Mr. Carvell has drawn into the controversy one Gideon Phillips, who complains that Mr. Appleby refused to pay out some government money on the strength of a letter from him. If these two people, Mr. Carvell and Mr. Phillips, did not adopt so solemn a tone in the matter no one would think this was a joke. It will be remembered that a few years ago Mr. Phillips was guilty of a piece of jobbery in connection with the building of a bridge, or, rather, the non-building of a bridge in Brighton, for which the money was paid and never a stroke of work done on it. Having in mind Mr. Phillips' most unsavory reputation in the matter of the handling of government money, Mr. Appleby hardly felt justified in asking the government to pay out money on no other certificate than this mere request of Mr. Gideon Phillips. Mr. Phillips' real grievance against Mr. Appleby is that Mr. Appleby would not appoint him sheriff."

In answer to this I wish to state in the first place, that Mr. Carvell had absolutely nothing whatever to do with my writing the letter to which he refers—neither directly or indirectly.

My reason for writing that letter was that I with the other members of the nominating committee resented the insult offered to ourselves as well as the whole Liberal party when he accused us of having been the tools of Mr. Carvell.

Mr. Appleby's statement in reference to the bridge, which he says was paid for and never built, is false in every respect, as every resident in the parish of Brighton knows, and Mr. Appleby would never have dared to publish such a libel if he had not known that I am about to start for British Columbia and cannot remain to fight a libel suit, which I would certainly bring against him if I was remaining here. The only possible foundation for such a charge is that, a few years ago, I had a contract for a bridge, the work on which was done by Mr. John Hill of Cloverdale, for which the money was paid before the railing was put on. The cost of this railing would not exceed $8 or $10. A few weeks afterwards the railing was put on and is there to-day to show for itself.

His statement in reference to the office of sheriff was manufactured by him out of whole cloth and he knows it, as I never asked him nor any other man for the position, either myself or through anybody else, and, more than that, I didn't know the late sheriff was dead until after the appointment of Mr. Hayward, as I was away from home at the time.

Mr. Appleby is the last man that should talk about 'jobbery' and 'unsavory reputations.'

If he wants a sample of jobbery that would make any honest man blush, I would refer him to his connection with the Slipp estate, where he was appointed by the Equity Court to care for the property until the decision of the equity suit, when after paying out of the money of the estate all of his costs, charges and expenses of every description, including the costs of a large number of County Court suits, which he brought against worthless creditors for the sake of the cost he would get out of it, he put in the following bill against the estate:—

Six months' care and responsibility of property at $75.....	$ 450
45 days' service at $10.....	450
27 do do at $20.....	540
880 letters written at 75c.....	660
General services in management of the estate and settling the accounts not enumerated in above.....	350
	$2,390

The Judge said this bill amounted to over 26 per cent. of the whole receipts and hinted very strongly that it was an attempt at estate robbing, and instead of allowing him $2,390, he cut the bill down to $803, and said that was more than he ought to get.

I might also refer him to his connection with the 1896 protest against Hale, when 28 Liberals placed in his hands $1,231, under a promise from him that, if he succeeded in unseating Mr. Hale, the whole amount would be returned, and if the protest was settled, he would guarantee a return of at least 75 per cent. of the amount. The protest was settled. Mr. Appleby called the contributors together and returned to them $195.75, and kept, for his services of filing the protest, $1,035.

The result of the convention in February last shows that this exhibition of his loyalty, to the Liberal party, had not been entirely forgotten.

Yours truly,
GIDEON PHILLIPS.

A very interesting paper, written by Prof. W. F. Watson, of Furman University, appears in a late number of The Scientific American. The social at Sheriff Hayward's on Monday evening was very largely attended and was a decided success. The social committee of the B. Y. P. A. struck a happy idea when they decided to have an "Easter Ice Cream Social and Entertainment" at the Sheriff's. Mr. J. H. Lee, of the Boston 5 and 10 Cent Store, added much to the enjoyment of the evening by selections upon his splendid Berliner Gramophone. There were solos by Miss Grace Glidden and Mrs. Good; duets by Miss Glidden and H. Dunbar; selections by the quartette and reading by Rhita Ellsworth.—Miss Tina Glidden was the accompanist. The proceeds were $21.00. Everybody went home pleased and asking for another social, which will be held soon.

Easter in the Churches.

Easter Sunday was a clear day, although slightly cold and windy. The several churches of the town recognized the memorable day in a fitting way, and unusually large congregations attended the various services. The exercises were of a hearty character and the surroundings and adornments were of that bright and inviting character in perfect harmony with the joyous event being commemorated.

ROMAN CATHOLIC

There were three services held in St. Gertrude's Catholic church, last Sunday, by Rev. W. F. Chapman, at 9 and 11 o'clock a. m., and 7 p. m. all being largely attended. The altars and sanctuary were bedecked with potted plants and flowers. An able sermon was delivered by the pastor, at the High Mass, on the Resurrection. Leonard's Mass in B flat was rendered by the choir, Miss Daisie Hughes presiding at the organ; the solo parts were admirably taken by Miss Chapman, Owen Kelly, Thomas L. McCaffery and Lewis Milmore. At Vespers, the anthem, "O salutaris," was rendered by Miss Chapman.

METHODIST

In this church a sunrise prayer meeting was held, which, for that early hour, was well attended.

The platform of this church, and the pulpit, were very becomingly ornamented with flowering plants, tastefully arranged, and the worshippers were in large attendance. The pastor, Rev. George A. Rose, preached, in the morning his subject being 'Facts which establish the Resurrection of Jesus,' in the evening 'Facts which establish the Resurrection of Jesus established.'

The music selected was of a high order and was excellently rendered; it was as follows: Morning—Jubilate, Lochman; Christ is Risen, Ashford; Seals are Shattered, Davis. Evening—Victorious King, Filmore; Ladies' Quartette, Mrs. Brewer, Mrs. George Gibson, Mrs. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Payson, Gabriel; Christ is Risen, Ashford. Dr. Kirkpatrick is leader of the choir; Miss Porter, organist.

The Sunday school connected with this church was beautifully ornamented with mottoes, flowers, etc., and a bright service was held, presided over by Superintendent Smith and at which a brief but pleasant programme of recitations, solos, drill exercises, by the little ones, and short addresses by one or two gentlemen proved interesting and profitable. Dr. Kirkpatrick's orchestra tended to lend additional pleasure to the occasion.

F. B. CHURCH.

This church was extensively and beautifully ornamented with a fine display of nicely arranged, selection of flowering plants; the congregations were large and the exercises hearty. Mrs. Pugsley is choir leader, and Dr. I. W. N. Baker musical director. The music selected was appropriate and the rendering of the same fine.

In the morning, the pastor, Rev. F. A. Currier, preached an Easter sermon; in the evening his subject was 'A Day's Work.'

The following selections were rendered: Jesus Lives, Chorus, Hughes; 'Yes, He was dead,' duet, trio, solo and chorus, Porter; 'He died for me,' solo and chorus, Gabriel; 'The birds in chorus, singing, solo, duet and chorus, Lorenz. Singing, 'My Redeemer Lives,' male quartette, Fears. 'There is a green hill far away,' duet, solo and chorus, Liffe.

BAPTIST.

The congregations here were large. There was a beautiful display of floral decorations, and in the morning the pastor Rev. Z. L. Fash preached on the subject, 'The empty tomb.' While there was no special selections for the day, the hymns and anthems were appropriate and well rendered.

ST. LUKE'S.

There was large congregations at both services and the exercises were impressive. The sermons by Archdeacon Neales, bearing on the Resurrection, were closely listened to. The altar was simply but prettily ornamented with flowers, cut and potted, and the singing, under the leadership of W. H. Bourne, was appropriate in selection and excellent in rendering.

Morning.

Processional. Hymn 302, "Come ye faithful, raise the anthem." Easter anthems (instead of Venite)—Grand Chant. Pas. 2, 67, 111—Plain Chant. Te Deum—Special Setting. Jubilate—Plain Chant. Anthem, "Now is Christ risen from the dead."—C. Simper. Hym. 134, "Jesus Christ is risen to-day."

Hymn 134—"Jesus Christ is Risen Today." Hymn 27—"Abide With me Fast falls the Eventide." Hymn 131—(Recessional)—"Christ the Lord is Risen Today."

PRESBYTERIAN.

As in the other churches, so in this, the attendance was large. The pastor Rev. G. D. Ireland preached in the morning from 'Then were the disciples glad when they saw the Lord,' and in the evening, his text was 'For since by man came death, by man came also the resurrection of the dead.' The floral decorations were in good taste. The musical special selections were: Anthem, 'Hail! Joyous Easter'—Dr. B. L. Mason, Anthem, 'Christ our Passover'—M. E. McPhail, Anthem, 'The Ransomed Armies'—Dr. Rodney Day. Prof. Reid is leader of the choir and Mrs. Mitchell organist.

REFORMED BAPTIST.

The pastor, Rev. W. B. Wiggins, preached on the Resurrection, and the attendance was, as in the other churches, large. The platform was becomingly decorated with flowers and the singing was of a joyous character.

A GRAND SUCCESS.

On Easter Monday evening, the Bachelors' Ball was held in the Opera House. This important function was the talk of all lovers of the dance for several weeks and proved as successful and enjoyable as the most enthusiastic bachelor could wish. The Opera House never presented as charming an appearance as it did on Monday night, with its decorations of bunting, flags, Chinese lanterns and potted plants. At 9 o'clock the grand march, led by Mayor Belyea and Mrs. L. P. Farris, formed and it was participated in by about sixty couples; from that hour until 3 o'clock in the morning, square and round dances followed each other in rapid succession. Ice cream and other refreshments were served throughout the evening in the dancing hall, and at midnight a sumptuous supper, under the management of William Hill, was furnished in the rooms down stairs. It is generally admitted that Hanlon's orchestra, from Fredericton, furnished the very best dance music ever heard in Woodstock. The composition of the orchestra was: J. D. Hanlon, violin, Joseph Hanlon, piano; Miss Katie Hanlon, piano; R. Woodard, clarinet; Fred Risteen, trombone; Richard Greyroy, cornet.

The following ladies were the chaperons: Mrs. W. P. Jones, Mrs. W. D. Rankin, Mrs. W. B. Belyea.

The committee of bachelors, who deserve great credit for the successful inauguration and carrying out of the enjoyable affair, included F. M. Rutter, E. W. Mair, R. N. Loane, A. H. M. Hay, Harry Dibblee, N. F. Thorne, W. J. Dibblee, Charles Appleby, B. M. Macleod, C. Peabody, B. Copeland, Wallace Walker, Gordon Connell, J. M. Jones, W. C. Good, E. K. Connell, Clarence Johnston, Thomas Blaine, I. E. Sheasgreen. S. L. Carr was the efficient Secretary of the committee.

EASTER ELECTIONS.

CHRIST CHURCH.

The corporation of Christ church, including St. Luke's, held its Easter Monday election, in the Sunday school room of St. Luke's church, in the afternoon of that day, Ven. Archdeacon Neales presiding, and the following church officials were elected for the year:—

HE LEFT THE TOWN.

A hard-looking customer, who gave his name as William McKenna, of St. John, but who has been around Woodstock for a couple of years, was seen, by residents of the neighborhood, at the early hour of 12.30 Monday morning, breaking the window of a store in Wellington ward, presumably with robbery in view; he was quickly thrown to the ground and held, until Night Watch Kelly appeared, when he was safely landed in the "cooler." The prisoner was before Magistrate Dibblee on Monday morning and no one appearing for the prosecution, as nothing had been stolen, he was released on his promising to give the town a wide berth in the future.

Upper Kent.

(Crowded out last week.)

April 7th.

A sudden change from the dull monotony of the past few weeks. Rain in abundance has been our lot for some time, but Saturday evening relief came in form of a snow storm, and many have got out their runners once more.

There was service in the Methodist church, Sunday afternoon, by Rev. J. S. Gregg. Attendance was small on account of the bad roads.

Socials are now a thing of the past, but sensations created thereby still live, and call forth comment, from apparently interested ones. Lobster for instance, who figures very highly, and who has in some way distinguished himself as a severe critic of the poetical inclinations of some of our correspondents, not less perhaps as a critic of acts, since he refers to several gentlemen not making, even an unsuccessful attempt to secure a basket, while others felt it their duty to get several. We think he might, with good advantage recall chestnuts, "Is it anybody's business," but, better still perhaps, would be for he and all others so inclined, to criticize more closely their own acts; only then perhaps will they see the necessity of resigning the very elevating position of critic. "First cast out the beam out of thine own eye, and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brother's eye."

We extend a very hearty welcome to Badger, and wish him all the compliments of the season.

Rev. L. A. Fenwick delivered his usual sermon in the F. B. church Sunday evening.

As Lobster says, Marconi has not yet fully established wireless telegraphy in this country, but for all that we see no necessity for "pigeon carriers," as we have a safer and better means of communication, nevertheless we believe a very limited number do exist. He has also expressed hopes that they may not find their duties too trying on their feathers. Taking an active part himself, we can readily see, that it would be only natural, that he should give vent to such sympathetic demonstrations.

BEAVER.

Jacksonville.

Our genial local storekeeper and postmaster, Mr. Carr, is doing a rushing business, has largely increased his stock, and now has a splendid assortment of Spring and Summer goods. By his courteous and pleasant manner in issuing the mails, and waiting on his numerous customers with quickness and dispatch, by always having a good article and knowing just how to explain its good qualities, he has worked his business up to a nice, snug country store trade.

We very much regret, that, owing to ill health, Mr. Samuel Jones has sold one of his farms, rented the other, and he with his son Herbert, intend going to the Pacific coast in a few weeks, probably to remain. They will be greatly missed.

At the recent sale of registered Shorthorns by the C. P. R. at Woodstock, F. R. Slipp purchased a fine bull, for which he paid a handsome price. Mr. Slipp is a prominent farmer and stockbreeder, and deserves great credit for the way he has always endeavored to improve the stock in this community. Frank knows a good thing when he sees it. When it comes to the latest improved up-to-date stock, the Slipp's don't generally take a back seat.

Williamstown.

We are having some fine weather now, but the roads are in a terrible state with mud and water.

Most every family around here has Grippe, or something like it.

Annie Lindsay returns to Normal School to-day, after spending Easter at home.

Mrs. Ann Anderson is visiting friends in this place.

Mr. Wm. Savage Fort Fairfield has been around for a few days.

We are called upon to record the death of a former neighbour Elzema, beloved wife of Henry Perkins, who died at her home Centreville Saturday 11th, at 4 p. m. aged 30 years. She was the eldest daughter of James and Lydia Savage formerly of this place but now of Lakeville, she leaves two children, Vera aged 6 years, Pearl aged 4 years, besides an aged father, mother, two sisters, Mrs. Nehemiah Grey, and Mrs. John Thoms, Long Settlement, three brothers, Clayton at home, Donnie in R. I. Enoch at present at Presque Isle, also two half brothers, Edward Savage Williamstown, Allie Savage of Michigan, U. S. and three half sisters, Mrs. Emily McWaid, Mrs. Louise Richardson and Mrs. Thomas Smith, all in Williamstown; an infant son was buried with her in the Williams-town Cemetery. We will attempt to give a sketch of the last twelve years of her life. At the age of eighteen, she was married to James Emery of this place, they then went to live in Littleton Me., on a farm, after a year there they returned to this place, where they stayed about a year; then they lived on the Turney farm in Richmond a year, then he went to Colorado and sent for her after a few months, where she went and spent a few years, then came back to this place again, where after a few months sojourn, he went to B. C., where he spent 6 months, she staying at her father's; he then came back, moved into Mrs. Palmer's house, lived there a few months, and went to R. She was of a jovial, generous disposition, always cheerful. Her funeral was largely attended; preaching by Rev. E. L. Turner, Methodist, Text, I know that my Redeemer liveth, etc. Job 19th chapter, 25th, 26th, and 27th, verses.

April 6th, 1903.

Old Jack Frost has not done with us yet. Some of the lumber operators that left lumber on the yards are hustling back to finish up and the prospects at present seem favorable.

Quite a heavy fall of snow here on Saturday and Sabbath; high cold wind piled it up in heaps.

About all the young men from here have gone to work on the dam for J. J. Hale, and the survey taking in the elder ones makes Loafers Corner and Booby Corner quite desolate.

Dr. W. Perkins of Centreville, veterinary surgeon was called to this place on Tuesday morning to perform an operation on a horse belonging to J. J. Hale. Report says he made a success. Dr. Perkins was accompanied by his brother, Gideon.

Captain G. D. Perkins bid his friends adieu on Wednesday and returned to his home in Centreville.

J. J. Hale arrived here on Saturday. R. Phillips of Grafton arrived here on Saturday; he is looking quite hearty after his recent illness at B. L. Brook. ONE ILLNESS.
