

Medicine for Sick People.

It is a serious matter. We could never think lightly of Prescription Work, because we cannot forget how much for the sick person depends on the way in which we prepare the medicine. Hence we have come to regard prescription work as our most important duty. In this work we use the best drugs that we can get hold of, and we follow the doctor's directions exactly. Whenever medicine goes out of our prescription department we have the satisfaction of knowing that it is right.

Jan 19th, 1903.

We are having the coldest weather now, that we have had this winter. Last night was the coldest night this season.

Roads are badly drifted to-day in some places.

Merrill Tracey of Lakeville, took a car load of cattle from his home to Florenceville to-day, a distance of about twelve miles. Who says we do not need a railroad through this place?

The hay pressers and threshers are very plenty around here at present.

Mr and Mrs Thos Corbett have been visiting S Page of Windsor.

Mrs (Dr) McCrae of Blaine, Maine, spent last week among relatives and friends in this section, her former home, she returned to her home to-day.

Charlie Armstrong, Fort Fairfield, Me, made his brother Wm a visit last week, he was accompanied by his niece Fie Armstrong, who was visiting her father a few days.

Mrs Ebbett of Robinson's Mills, Me, is keeping house for Wm Armstrong again.

John Palmer, Tracey's Mills, was the guest of John Porter one evening lately.

No service in the Methodist church at Lakeville last evening on account of the minister, Rev E O Turner, being called to Richmond, by the death of his father-in-law, Mr. Kirkpatrick.

Anna Waters was the guest of Augusta Jameson last Saturday evening.

The people here are beginning to haul their produce to market, some are hauling to Florenceville, others to Peel. Wm McWaid took a load of pork to Florenceville, Wm Page, a load of oats to the same place, and John Waters is hauling his hay to Peel, for the want of the Woodstock & Centreville R. R.

January 20.

A deep gloom was cast over the village this morning when it was announced that Lindsay Scholey, daughter of H T and Emily Scholey, was dead. Linnie, as she was called, was a general favorite amongst all. She has been poorly for over a year. Funeral service will be held at her home on Wednesday afternoon of this week, at 2.30 o'clock; the body will be interred in the Episcopal cemetery.

Miss Josie Scholey, of Boston, arrived home last evening.

F G Burt is steadily improving; he is not able to attend to business yet.

If S Burt and wife are spending a few days in Woodstock this week.

Joseph Cheney and family have got settled in their new home in the village.

Miss Pauline Balloch is in the village. We were glad to see her; she is much missed.

S W Burt, proprietor of the Exchange Hotel, has in his large hog house a pen containing five pigs that are four months and eight days old, the largest weighing 210 lbs and the lightest of them weighing 187 lbs.

Mr Burt has, since they were four weeks old, paid out $22 for feed, and steadily they are growing; the heaviest gained in one month 75 lbs by weight. Who can beat that?

E A Hoyt has gone on a trip to the lower part of York County to visit relatives.

Upper Woodstock.

As no one has sent any items from this place for some time you may think that everybody is frozen up, but such is not the case.

Mr Craddock's factory is progressing slowly.

Clams seem to be a favorite dish of many in this place.

The festival which took place last week was a grand success. Woodstock was represented by several young ladies and gentlemen.

There is a faint rumor of a school concert which will be held in the hall sometime in the future.

A party of young folks went sliding last Saturday evening. We feel very sorry for the young couple that stood at the top of the hill not being able to procure a sled.

Why is it that the Jacksontown fellow who visits the lower end of the village gets in oftener than the one who visits the upper?

A party is going to be held at the residence of Mr A Dow on Saturday evening the seventeenth.

Mrs C Dunlap had a very ill turn last week but is better now.

A new society has been organized at this place called the I. A. B. What next?

Miss Addie McGrath, who has been home to spend her vacation, returned Tuesday to take up her duties at the residence of W R Wright.

We think we have said enough for this time, and we sincerely hope that no other reporters will come forward.

(From Another Correspondent.)

Not having seen any item from this place for some time I will attempt to write a few in order that people may remember that there is such a place in existence.

This place has the promise of a factory, which is now being built by Mr Craddock.

The Union Sabbath School held their annual festival on the 8th inst, and the program was successfully conducted under the leadership of Mrs Brown.

Andover.

January 13.

Tuesday at one p.m. a terrific noise was heard throughout Andover and Perth; people thought at first it must be the shock of an earthquake, but it was soon learned that the acetylene gas in the basement of the Opera house, belonging to C C Rogers' hotel, Perth, had exploded, causing very serious damage. The light had been working badly for a little while, and Mr Rogers had been making some necessary repairs, barely escaping with his life. The building is a combination of an up-to-date livery, sample rooms, and upper story an opera house, costing somewhere about $3000; it is now a complete wreck. The basement and first floor was torn up and the sample rooms over the stable, the floor timbers broken, letting down the chimney, which fell to the bottom; the south and west side facing river were blown out; there were a number of horses in the barn, three of which dropped to the basement below the stable; they were taken out without injury. On the first floor Mr Rogers had six or seven pungs and only one was left fit for use; some were blown into kindling wood. Charles Cahill, the hostler, and Ernest Hammond were both blown to the ceiling, but escaped without serious injuries. The building took fire from the escaping gas and a stove which upset. The Perth fire brigade, assisted by the Andover fire company, did some excellent work. It was the first test of the Perth water works. The loss is in the vicinity of fifteen hundred dollars. No insurance.

Mr A Brewer has given up trying to pump the coffer dam where he is erecting a pier. After every possible means that could be thought of, it has been the verdict of those who have had experience and say it cannot be done. Mr Wetmore, the government engineer, came up last week and has decided to put concrete on the bottom and build the pier on it, which from the fact of the solid rock being so close to the top will be just as permanent. So Mr Brewer is now getting concrete ready and the work is progressing. It will not be very long now before the masonry will be commenced.

The railway bridge crew have the Andover span about completed, and are now taking down the temporary work to commence the new span on the Perth side. The new railway bridge is a very heavy one; it is said to be the heaviest wooden structure of its kind on the continent of America.

Small pox is at Presque Isle and Van Buren, Me.

The political meeting called by the Opposition party, last week, was not very largely attended, although Mr J K Flemming and J T Carter did the party justice and handled the local government without gloves. But they have failed to find a candidate who is willing to sacrifice his deposit.

The citizens of this town and Perth are meeting to-night to talk over the advisability of putting in electric lights. They talk of taking the power from Four Falls.

Roy Murphy has returned to the U

N B, Fredericton; Herbert Baird and Gertrude Henderson to Wolfville; Florence Porter and Helen Perley to Mt Allison, and Lena Baird to the Victoria College, Montreal.

Frank Bixby passed through from Edmundston to-day.

Mr and Mrs L P Waite and Mr and Mrs T J Carter gave a pleasant progressive whist party to their friends on Thursday evening. There were about twenty-two tables invited. The prize winners were, first lady, Miss Bessie Scott; first gent, Mr Jack Stevens; the "boobies" were Mrs Judson Manzer and Mr Dixon. After cards lunch, followed by dancing and music. The company left for home in the "wee sma' hours."

D R Bedell has finished all the improvements he has been making on his new building, and it is indeed a credit to the owner and to the village. The carpenter work was done by George Gendale, the first really large contract he had undertaken; the painting was successfully done by James Hutchings. The building is 30x70 feet, and contains a general stock, with the exception of hardware. The old store, containing 1200 feet, is used by Mr Bedell for his furniture department. An acetylene gas plant has been installed by the proprietor and furnishes brilliant light; it has a plate glass front, steel ceiling; a cellar under the building, and heated by furnace. It has been pronounced by the inspector of the Western Permanent loan association, the prettiest store north of Fredericton. Mr Bedell started in business eight years ago with a $200 stock, and the stock he now carries is worth $10,000. The last year he sold five carloads of furniture, and his cash sales for three days, recently, was $700.

James McNair, the well-known lumberman, was in town to-day, engaging teams to haul the logs from the yards to the river. His cut this year is 8,000,000 feet, and he expects to finish by March 20th; there will be over 20,000,000 feet cut on the Tobique, and the total cut on the St. John river will amount to 130,000,000 feet. The lumber market is the best for many years, and men are being paid $30 a month.

There appears to be some difficulty for the Opposition to get candidates for the coming local election. It will be remembered that the Opposition convention selected James McCluskey of Grand Falls and T J Carter of Andover; the former promptly declined the honor; Mr Carter, recently, has announced that he will not be a candidate. Messrs Porter, Lawson, Tweeddale and probably Alex Straton will be candidates; the names of Judson Manzer and W F Kertonson are also mentioned.

The semi-annual meeting of the County Council commenced this morning. Warden Ryan was in the chair, and all the councillors present with the exception of Charles Mulherin, of Grand Falls, who is absent through sickness. Sec-Treas Tibbits is also confined to his room by a bad cold, and Alex Straton is acting as secretary pro tem. The Sec-Treas report showed: Balance on hand at last report, $2812.83; received during the year, $6020.23; total $8833.06; expended $7360.99; balance on hand, $1472.07. The report of E H Hoyt, auditor, was submitted; also the report of Dr Welling, chairman of the board of health, on the successfully stamping out of smallpox in Perth, some months months ago. The council are now in committee of the whole on the Sec-Treas accounts. Some important business will be introduced and the council will not like to adjourn till Saturday morning.

Westfield, Me.

Master Perley Blaisdell is on the sick list.

Mrs Enoch Briggs and Mrs John Adam went to Washburn one day last week to visit their sister, Mrs Geneva Pyle.

Mr and Mrs Harry Lamont of Chapman called on relatives this week.

Mr and Mrs Perry Smith are feeling happy over the advent of a baby girl, which arrived at their house last Tuesday.

Mr and Mrs Blaisdell of Fort Fairfield spent a few days last week with their daughter, Mrs Perry Smith.

Excellent roads in Westfield now! The town has purchased an immense roller which weighs about three thousand pounds. Its dimensions are eleven feet in length by seven feet in diameter. Has been used since the storm last week, and its work proved satisfactory. It requires four span of horses to haul it. A good investment, we think. On its arrival in town flags were hoisted by the children at the school houses.

Ayer's Hair Vigor in advance will prevent the splitting. If the splitting has begun, it will stop it.

THE BOVRIL BEARER COMPANY.

(From Army and Navy, London.)

London, Dec. 22.—Acting on the authority recently given by the War Office to form bearer companies for field hospital work as independent units attached to each Volunteer Brigade, Bovril Limited, the well-known makers of army rations, and concentrators of funds, have just formed a company of their own employees for service with the Fourth, or City of London, Brigade of Volunteers. The company was inaugurated by Major-General Sir Arthur Turner, C.B., R.A., who complimented the men in the highest terms on their smart and soldierly appearance, and spoke of the enthusiasm, patriotism and promptitude with which they had responded to their country's call for better equipment in this most important branch of the service. The new company has just been inspected by Colonel W. L. Gubbins, M.B., the principal medical officer for the Home District, accompanied by Captain Douglas, V.C., R.A.M.C., at its headquarters in Holborn Town Hall. The full strength of the Bovril Bearer Company was on parade, under command of Surgeon-Captain A. C. Tunstall, and was put through company and stretcher drill by Surgeon-Major R. E. Wilson. The men were also examined very closely by Colonel Gubbins upon "first aid," and the various modes in the treatment of the injured. At the close of the review, Colonel Gubbins, remarking that he was not given to flattery, praised the new company for its equipment, drill and general knowledge of field and hospital work. He closed by saying that he expected to be able to report the organization, after the next annual inspection, as one of the best Bearer Companies in the Home District.
