General News Items.

Germany imports poultry to the value of £5,200,000 a year.

Minard's Liniment Cures Colds, etc. India is one of the few dependencies of Great Britain where "trade follows the flag." Of the total foreign commerce of that vast country, exceeding in value $647,000,000 a year, Great Britain has five-eighths. The trade of the United States with India is very small, and amounts, including both imports and exports, to less than $31,000,000 a year.

Strength and vigor come of good food, duly digested. "Force," a ready-to-serve wheat and barley food, adds no burden, but sustains, nourishes, invigorates.

A railway man named Flannigan was appointed stationmaster at a small station in Ireland. He got orders that when anything went wrong he was to telegraph to headquarters at once. One day an engine, shunting at his station, went off the rails. It was got on, and went off again. After all was put right Flannigan wired away to the head office—"Engine off. On again. Off again. On again. Away again.—Flannigan."

Don't think that eruption of yours can't be cured. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla—its virtue is its power to cure.

At least four out of every ten horses do not lie down to sleep. The horse that sleeps in a standing rests one leg at a time, depending on the other three to sustain the weight of his body. The habit is a dangerous one. A great many horses are permanently injured as a result of accidents of this nature, and there is no way of curing them of the habit.

WANTED—FAITHFUL PERSONS. TO TRAVEL for well established house in a few counties, calling on retail merchants and agents. Local territory. Salary $102 a year and expenses, payable $107 a week in cash and expenses advanced. Position permanent. Business successful and rushing. Enclose self-addressed envelope. Standard House, 315 Carlton Bldg., Chicago.—10-10.

The superintendent of the Bureau of Buildings in Brooklyn said last week that the building trades strike had cost that borough about $5,000,000.

Horses and Cattle have colic and cramps. Painkiller will cure them every time. Half a bottle in hot water repeated a few times. Avoid substitutes. There is but one Painkiller, Perry Davis'. 25 and 50 cts.

Property on Fifth avenue, New York, in the blocks between thirty-fourth and forty-second street, is now selling at $10,000 per front foot. This results from the great demand for sites for new business blocks in that locality. There seems to be a rush of the large retail dealers in goods purchased chiefly by wealthy persons to obtain stores in that section.

The Druggists Are Agreed That the most reliable Corn and Wart remover is Putnam's Painless Corn and Wart Extractor, which has been used with universal satisfaction for more than thirty years. We recommend "Putnam's."

A pair of young lovers, Ernest Sohmic and Miss Jennie Brennan, both of Greenwood, Pa., were the participants in a double tragedy on Sunday. Miss Brennan purchased a bottle of carbolic acid, and shortly afterwards both started out for a walk. When friends came in sight of the pair, Miss Brennan put the bottle of acid to her lips and drained it. As she did so, Sohmic drew a revolver and shot himself twice. He fell dead instantly. The girl suffered great agony and her physicians hold out scant hope for recovery.

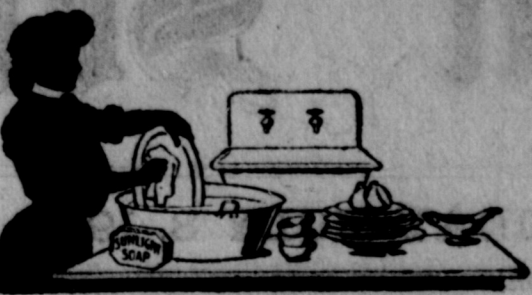

Note Your Weight.

By noting your increase in weight while using Dr Chase's Nerve Food you can prove for a certainty that new firm flesh and tissue is being added to the body. This is the severest test you can apply to any treatment and proves the superiority of this great restorative prescription of Dr A. W. Chase, the famous Receipt Book author.

As an illustration of the growth of Anglo-Japanese good feeling, it is noteworthy that arrangements have been made for fifty Japanese students to make a tour of the British colonial empire. They will leave Tokio in the middle of July, and will proceed direct to Australia and New Zealand, where they will spend three months. Thence they will go to Canada, and return to India and Japan by way of South Africa. Each will be expected to make a separate report upon the agricultural and commercial position and possibilities of the countries visited.

Pain in the Back Makes life miserable. Can it be cured? Yes, in one night. Polson's Nervine gives a complete knockout to pain in the back, for it penetrates through the tissues, takes out the soreness and pain, invigorates tired muscles, and makes you feel like a new man. Nervine cures quickly because it is stronger, more penetrating, more highly pain-subduing than any other remedy. Don't suffer another minute, get Nervine quick and rub it in, for sure as you were born it will cure you. 25c.

Letter from the Philippine Islands.

John Driscoll, a soldier in Uncle Sam's Philippine army, sends an interesting letter to his parents here, extracts from which follow:—

Taclohan Island, Leyte, P. I., May 9th, 1903.

I will now take up my pen again after a long spell of silence, and dash off a few lines from the far East, thereby informing you that I am in good health and stood the journey across the Pacific Ocean like an old-timer. In order to give you a short sketch of the trip, I will have to go away back to Fort Russell and commence on the 17th March; yes, Pad-dy's day dawned there fine, the sun shining in a glorious manner, and of course the sons of Erin, who are in this Battalion, proceeded to celebrate the event early in the day. Green was to be seen in large quantities at guard mount. The band commenced with "St. Patrick's day in the morning," then "Kittie Mahone," and other Irish airs, finally winding up with the "Wearing of the Green." That night a lecture was given in the church by Bishop Keane, at Cheyenne, Wyo., after which a ball was held by the A O H, in Keefe's Hall.

At this time everything was in a general mix-up at the post, in preparation of the move, and it was nothing but work, work, work!

On March 21st we left Russell over the Union Pacific R.R., tourist sleeping cars being provided for the battalion and band, the officers occupying a Pullman. We passed through the States of Wyoming, Utah, Nevada, into California, arriving at Oakland on the morning of the 24th; from there we took the ferry to San Francisco, where the steamer Grace Barton was waiting for us at the government dock; in a short time afterwards we were aboard of her and on our way down the bay to Precidio; the latter is a large government reservation and about three miles from the centre of the Golden Gate city, but numerous electric and cable cars are always running to and fro from both places; the fare each way is 5c. We were stationed at the Precidio from the 24th until April 1st; during that time we were quarantined in Sibley tents; each tent was fitted up with a board flooring, elevated about two and a half feet from the ground, and a Sibley stove, which was fed pretty well by the boys with coal, as it was very cold there, especially during the night and up until nine in the morning.

I paid a visit to the training quarters of both McGovern and Corbett, and saw both little men training for the battle, which was afterwards fought in Mechanic's pavilion, Frisco, on March 31st, in which McGovern was defeated in the 11th round; poor fellow, he was the favorite, and a pile of money was lost on him. I saw the fight and up to the 10th round the Brooklyn lad had the best of it.

Golden Gate park is a beautiful place with its menagerie of animals and zoological gardens. We also played two games of base ball on the Precidio grounds while there, with the Hospital Corps team of that place.

On April 1st we broke camp, the whole regiment of the 15th being now together. We formed in regimental review on the parade ground, and then marched in sets of fours to the Precidio docks, where three steamers were waiting for us, each one to carry a battalion to the government dock on Folsom street where the U. S. A. transport Sheridan was lying in wait for us; once more the 2nd Battalion headquarters and band went aboard the Grace Barton and in a short time was landed in safety at the Folsom street dock. At 10.30 the regiment went aboard the Sheridan, followed a squadron by the 13th cavalry, who were also going to the P. I.; in a short time after going aboard, each company and troop were assigned to their respective quarters on the ship; there was still very much room below decks, still there was plenty of ventilation and each had a canvas bunk to himself; the bunks were situated in rows three tiers high. At 11.45 we weighed anchor and proceeded on our way, amid cheers from the people on the wharf, waving of hats and handkerchiefs, while the band on the deck was playing all kinds of jolly airs, from the "Girl I left behind me," to "Auld Lang Syne." Some of the fellows were very much excited, especially the recruits and those making the first trip to the Islands, but as it was my second trip it did not effect me much; at 12.45 we passed the Golden Gates, which looked beautiful; so far the ocean was as smooth as glass and all on board was feeling gay, but about 4 p. m. we struck a choppy sea, then—oh, what a difference; almost every one was sea sick, and as one old sailor expressed it, it was the sickest crowd he ever saw on board ship, and he has followed the seas for years.

The Sheridan carried, besides supplies, 575 sacks of mail, 1200 soldiers, also officers, their wives and children, beside 65 cabin passengers mostly females going to join their husbands who were working at Manila and on some of the other islands in the group. We sailed by the intermediate route, and a new one to me. We did not sight land until we came to the island of Guam which belongs to the Philippine group; we arrived there on April 21st and stopped until 6 p. m. unloading supplies and as 110 marines are stationed there, it is not such a bad place, although very lonesome and desolate, and at one time used by Uncle Sam as a military prison in which to keep Filipino officers, who would not take the oath of allegiance and stop fighting against the U. S. The area of the island is 180 square miles and has a population of 10,000. Agaña is capital and situated seven miles from the coast with a population of 7,000.

Once more we are on the Sheridan. Things are going along fine except the food is very poor; nothing but slum, slum, with a little hash and rice occasionally, except Sunday when we have two good meals; for breakfast on that day we have beef-steak and onions, bread and coffee; at dinner, roast beef, gravy, potatoes, soup, plum duff, bread, coffee; then for supper the same old feed of rice. We are sailing northwest then on the second week north by north east, then finally headed south and the weather began to get warmer; we are now continually going west with the sun in order to get east, therefore we are losing time every day, something like twenty minutes in 24 hours. On the 12th of the month, at 11.30 p. m., we crossed the 180 meridian, and in doing so lost one whole day. To make it plain: On the night of the 12th we crossed the 180 meridian and on the following morning, instead of it being the 13th of the month, it was the 14th. The crew of the ship, on that night, gave an entertainment for the benefit of the passengers, also carrying out an old-time custom of Old Neptune coming aboard and initiating all members of the crew making their first trip across the equator, or across the line, which they call the 180 m. On the night before mentioned, Old Nep. left his watery domain and came aboard the transport Sheridan at 9 p. m., followed by his wife and staff, consisting of two court doctors, two barbers and 14 policemen; the electric search lights of the ship being on, everything about the vessel was as plain as day. Neptune came forward and the ship was turned over to him by the captain on the bridge, as is the custom; then himself and wife mounted the throne that was prepared for him. While the policemen were running all about the ship, looking for the poor victims that were to be initiated if caught, Old Nep. was clothed in robe, high boots, with a crown on his head, surmounted with an anchor, long hair made out of rope, with whiskers to match; his wife was dressed in snow-white long hair of the same make, also a crown with a star set in it. On the same throne were the two doctors and barbers, also four policemen to keep order with stuffed clubs. Soon the first victim was brought forward and placed on the throne by the police force, then sent to where Nep. and his wife were seated; they both welcomed him into their domain but said he must be initiated before doing so; he was then turned over to the doctors, who prescribed for him a shave; after feeling of his pulse, then the barbers proceeded to do their work and commenced to lather him with a whitewash brush; the razor blade was made of tin and about one and a half feet long, which they began to scrape over his face, wiping the same off on his mouth, especially if he happens to open it at any time during the performance; after the shave the doctors thought a shampoo would do him good, so the barbers commenced to fill out the bill and give him a ketchup shampoo, putting two bottles of the same on the poor fellow's head before they let up, which would leave the man's head in a horrible condition, and the only remedy would be to have it cut off; after that they would throw him into a sail filled with salt water and turn a hose on him, then the sooner he crawled out unaided the better for him, as then his troubles will be over, as he receives a receipt from Old Nep. showing that he has been through the ordeal; fifteen were caught and made go through the same performance before it came to an end; they were looking for several more fellows but could not find them, as they were hid some place about the ship, in fact one fellow escaped by dressing himself in soldier's clothes. During the passage we had several bouts between the sailors and soldiers, some of them being very good, lasting from four to six rounds, then several entertainments were pulled off by the soldiers, such as singing, dancing, recitations and sketches, which were very good, especially the 13th Cavalry, who had some fine performers. Most of the fellows from the 13th lived in the city of Chicago, and I was acquainted with a few of them; the band also gave us two concerts daily, besides a stage dance was pulled off every other night, in fact it was the best time I ever had aboard a transport, as far as amusement is concerned. We also had fifteen shower baths at each end of the ship, also two fine large washrooms.

On the 18th we bade adieu to our blues and donned the khakis on account of the weather being so warm. On the 25th we sighted another of the Philippine group which proved to be the island of Samar; there others began to loom up and finally Luzon, so that about noon, on the 26th, we dropped anchor in Manila bay, where the 18th received orders to be transferred to the U. S. A. transport Kilpatrick, and proceed south and relieve the 11th Infantry; of course we were somewhat disappointed in not going to the city of Manila but then such is life in the army. On the 27th we were placed aboard the Kilpatrick, our regimental property following, but it was not until the evening of the 28th that we left the bay and went down the San Bernardino, passing a number of the southern islands until at last the island of Leyte came in sight.

On May 1st we dropped anchor in a small harbor of the town of Armo. On the same day we pulled out for the island of Cebu, also town of same name, and arrived there on the 3rd. The town of Cebu is a beautiful place with high mountains on three sides of it, also a lovely bay. The population is estimated at 25,000; it also has a fine old Spanish fort called San Pedro. We make the return trip back to Leyte, and arrive off the town of Tacloban on May 5th.

I will tell you all about this place in my next letter.

SICKLY BABIES.

Weak, sickly babies, are a great trial to mothers. They need constant care both night and day and soon wear the mother out. Baby's little stomach is the cause of most of the trouble; it is very weak, and, in consequence, very easily upset. Baby's Own Tablets will cure all baby troubles. They are mildly laxative and give prompt relief. Concerning them, Mrs. R. J. Balfour, Omeene, Ont., says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for stomach troubles and constipation, from which my little girl suffered, and they entirely cured her. They produced sound, refreshing sleep, and I regard them as indispensable in any home where there are little ones."

Mothers from all parts of Canada write in favor of Baby's Own Tablets proving the claim that they are the very best medicine for all the minor ills of infants and young children. Guaranteed to contain no opiate. Price 25 cents a box, at all druggists, or direct from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A novel method of exterminating the hordes of grasshoppers which threaten a plague in parts of Montana has been decided on by scientists. It is proposed to dig trenches, in which will be placed kerosene. Ranchers and stock men will then join in an attempt to stampede the pests into the oil, which is deadly.
