The marriage of Miss Inez C Smith and Mr Clarence Hanson took place on Wednesday evening at the residence of the bride's parents, Conn and Mrs H B Smith. Many beautiful and appropriate gifts were received from the large number of guests.

Wm Briggs of Toronto, the well-known publisher, has issued a pretty little book of stories from the pen of Doctor E S Kirkpatrick, entitled "Stories of the St. John River." Those who have read the book speak of it in glowing terms. Doctor Kirkpatrick, besides giving full attention to his profession, finds time to dabble in verse and prose, and his writings are certainly creditable. He bids fair ere long to take high rank among the few Canadian story writers.

VALUABLE ASSETS.

The St John Business College does not find it convenient to give a summer vacation, as many of the students, especially those far from home, cannot afford to suffer interruption to their studies. Besides there is no special need of a vacation, as Messrs Kerr & Son possess in St John's cool summer weather, their elevated position and perfectly ventilated rooms, assets which no similar institution enjoys in like degree.

Weak Hair

Does Not Agree with 'Harris.'

To the Editor of Carleton Sentinel:

The announcement in the SENTINEL that we had in our midst a story writer was received with pleasure by a large number of your readers, and the first installment of "My First School," by a local writer, was read with pleasure. The trip to R. R. station, in the upper part of the county, was interesting although rather overdrawn.

Mr Frank Harris would have done better as a moose hunter or lover—he evidently mistook his calling when he introduced the matter of creed, and the teacher was quite right in saying she was not to teach theology. There may be some who have the views of Mr Harris, re Protestants, but they are very few. Mr Harris is wide of the mark when he says there is a society who at their meetings set forth the creed of the teacher in its worst light.

One would hope that if the characters in My First School will be no better in the next installment, that the teacher would become Mrs Harris—do something she understands. June 21. READER.

June 22.

After an illness of only a few days the death occurred on Sunday night of Mrs Nellie Estey Gibson, wife of John Gibson, general merchant here. She was about 35 years old, and previous to her marriage, which took place scarcely a year ago, taught the primary school in this village. She was organist of the Episcopal church, where she will be sadly missed. Rev J E Flewelling, Rector, officiated at the funeral services this morning, interment being in the Episcopal cemetery adjoining St Mary's church.

Upper Hainesville.

At Upper Hainesville, June 11th, the home of Samuel Hull was the scene of an interesting wedding, when Mrs Elizabeth Cunningham of Upper Hainesville and Mr Nehemiah Grant of Upper Queensbury were united in holy wedlock in the presence of a few invited guests. The happy couple intend making their home in Upper Queensbury. Their many friends wish them a long and happy life. The ceremony was performed by Rev H M Brown of Hartfield, York County.

The special meetings conducted by Rev H M Brown at Beckwith Ridge, were with good results. Quite a number backsliders confessed their waywardness, and a number of others have professed faith in Christ. Last Sabbath the reverend gentleman baptised four happy converts, and others are seeking the way of salvation and God is blessing the land the work is going on.
