There were also pains on top of the head which caused me much suffering and anxiety."

How Canada Has prospered Under Liberal Rule.

Eight years ago when the Tupper administration was hurled from power, the tory prophets shouted blue ruin from the housetops. Canada was, they declared, on the pathway to ruin, the country would go to the dogs, and liberal rule would be responsible. To show how misleading and uncalled for were these gloomy predictions, we ask the readers of the SENTINEL to carefully scan a few of the many ways in which substantial progress has been made in less than a decade of liberal rule.

(1) The value of the exports of the home produce of Canada has risen from $110,000,000 in 1896 to $214,000,000 in 1903; in other words has very nearly doubled.

(2) Imports have increased from $118,000,000 to over $240,000,000 while at the same time the average rate of duty has been reduced from 14.5 to 13.25. The orthodox Tory imagines that an import is so much lost to the country, but merchants and manufacturers obviously do not buy goods abroad unless it is their interest to do so.

(3) The exodus of population from Canada once constituted a tremendous drain. The United States census of 1900 showed that there were then 1,200,000 native-born Canadians and Newfoundlanders south of the line, more by 400,000 than the number of native-born Englishmen living there. Since 1896 this stampede of the best elements of our population has practically ceased. Young men and young women go to friends and relatives in the States but there is no general heira as before.

(4) Meantime a torrent of American settlers has been pouring into the Canadian Northwest, while the immigration from Britain and Continental Europe has enormously increased. Since 1898 175,000 Americans have come to Canada and over half a million people of every nationality including these. It is impossible to express in figures the gain to the country from this rush of population into it and the stoppage of the former rush out of it.

(5) The Yukon has been discovered and made self-sustaining, important improvements have been made in the St. Lawrence route, Southern British Columbia has been developed by railway construction, and now the Government has launched the Grand Trunk Pacific, which will not only benefit the Western settler but give an impetus to the older Provinces by bringing them in closer contact with his markets and opening the huge back country of Ontario, Quebec, and New Brunswick, at present outside the pale of civilization.
