Delicate Boys and Girls

Are altogether too numerous. Our schools are full of them. Chances are your own children are weaklings. It's a shame so many children grow up without health when they could be made strong by Fer-rozzone, the best tonic growing boys and girls can take. Ferrozzone invigorates the whole body, helps digestion, makes the blood pure and rich. It supplies more nourishment than children can get in any other way and soon establishes a reserve of force and energy. Give your children Ferrozzone and watch them grow strong. Price 50c. per box.

The Liver to Blame.

So long as the liver is active in filtering the bile from the blood there is no biliousness and an constipation, because the bile is passed from the liver into the intestines where it acts as a cathartic in keeping the bowels active. Because of their direct action on the liver as well as the bowels, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills thoroughly cure constipation, the real cause of nine-tenths of the common ills of life.

SECTIONS.*BY CALVIN GREEN.

The writer had the privilege of dining, last week, with the sheriff of Carleton county and the hangman Radcliffe, at the sheriff's home.

Called at Rev J. O. Bleakney's recently. He lives half a mile below the town line on the Fredericton road; his place is called Elm Cottage, and it is "beautiful for situation." He extended to me the hospitality of his elegant home. Mrs Bleakney is a lady of more than orinary manners and kindness. Her mother, who resides with them, is a lady of ability. Mr Bleakney has a fine garden; they have upwards of 20 acres of good grass land, cutting 18 or 20 tons of hay. He knows how to entertain strangers. May his health improve.

Joel Faulkner, one of Orient's oldest farmers, has five cords of wood in his shed, which has been there for twenty three years. If anyone can beat this, we should like to hear from him.

On Monday, last week, Mr Meagher, of Debec, carried me some four miles to Debec, for which I was very thankful. I stayed all night with Mr Dickinson, who runs a splendid hotel with good accommodation for man and beast. It is fine to have a good refreshing rest so that the journey can be resumed with courage. I wish to thank Messrs Dickinson and Meagher for kindnesses.

Havelock Grant, Hodgdon, is very much pleased with the arrival of a son who has come to stay—a very good time the first of haying. Mr Grant has a calf two days old that weighs 124 lbs. He has a handsome bred mare six years old; she can make from six to eight miles in an hour and not mind it. Mr White has a three-year-old Morgan; these horses are all right.

The business done in Houlton amounts to some four or five millions annually at the least. There are 40 or 50 new buildings in the course of erection, which adds very much to the enlargement of the town, which has a population of 6000 or more; at the rate they are going, in a short time they will reach 10,000.
They have splendid work horses, averaging from 1200 to 1600 lbs. I saw several matched pairs, handsome and well harnessed. The Snell House has a splendid coach, handsome pair of horses, with a good and careful driver. The Exchange also has a first class coach, a careful driver and a fine pair of matched horses. Those coaches are well patronized. Both are good houses to put up at and take the place of home. Houlton is a good business town in the centre of a splendid farming country. There are four great roads leading to the town, and 24 branch roads leading to those great roads and when the people and produce arrive in town one need not be surprised to see the movement in town. The writer embraced the privilege of examining the town's traffic. On July 14th I took a position at the end of the bridge to see the traffic over the bridge and in eight hours 1500 people and 1000 horses passed over, which means business. On the 16th inst., I took my position at the end of Bangor St. and watched the traffic and the movement of people and horses for 16 hours and found there passed 3, 700 people and 3000 horses. In 22 hours, 5200 people and 4050 horses.
On one of the evenings the band gave a concert. The music was fine and there was a large gathering estimated at 4000 people. For a mile on each of the roads leading into the town it is thickly settled. Houlton Grange meets two days out of the week and their business amounts to about $3000 a year. George Cottle is one of the best farmers in Houlton or elsewhere. He has 23 head of cattle, 5 cattle, 15 cows, 1 full-blood Jersey bull. On 1½ acres ground estimated that he raised five tons of clover and two acres of turnips were planted; no need of ice for he has running water from the house to the barn, which is a fine building 50x80 with 10 foot basement under whole barn.
Lots of water in the cow stable; each cow has a cast iron bucket to drink out of. Hodgdon farm, 150 acres; Houlton farm, 120 acres; 65 acres of hay to cut; the prospect is good for 100 tons of hay or more; he has the best clover field of hay—it looks like old times.

I had the opportunity of calling at Debec on the 19th inst, and here we find Mr Bailey, as agent, always the same wherever you meet him, good natured and pleasant, as the old saying goes 'the right man in the right place.' Good proof for this is that he has been agent there for over 11 years, and I must say he ought to look more pleasant than he did the last time I called on him as the C P R Co has made a thorough cleaning up of his surroundings. The station has been painted very neatly and it must be said reflects much credit on the parties doing the same.

REMINISCENCES OF EARLY LIFE.

BY A WOODSTOCK BOY.

Fifty seven years ago to-day, July 12th, 1904, I was in Woodstock, N. B.
It was my home; my parents lived there, having moved from Kingsclear, York Co, when the present beautiful town was a mere village, having secured a 4x6 rod lot, on the corner east of where the Aberdeen Hotel now stands; they built what was then regarded as a large house, which was the home of a family of twelve, years after and for many years known as the Dow house—woodworking industry there at present. My father's business was among the earliest industries of the place, that of an edgetool maker and general blacksmith. The wooden plow was ironed, being before the introduction of cast iron plows, wagons and sleighs, bobsleds, all kinds of conveyances for man or freight.
Horse shoeing and all sorts of job and custom work received attention; Keeping 4 forges in constant operation and, at busy season, day and night. Narrow and broad axes were most in demand, being no polished axes until many years later; these axes were known throughout the entire country and to the furthest away logging and timber job, and I here remember how often I have entered from the shop late to the day book: Chas Connell, 100 axes, twelve shillings and six pence each, $250, a number of other dealers 50 and Chas Perley an occasional 100. In those boyhood days, I can well remember the many thousands of sticks of square pine that came floating down the river in spring and summer, as water served—timber monarchs of the forest long ago exhausted, which unlike spruce pine, does not renew itself. The stores were lumber suppliers, a very small cash trade, all credit and barter. Honorables Chas Connell and Chas Perley heaviest operators; Hay & Bedell, Hay & Brundage, R A Hay, W F Dibblee and a number of other, supplied parties in different directions in the lumber woods, who found much heavy birch, spruce and pine. Mills at the mouth of the creek, saw mill on north side by W F Dibblee and sawyer Hayden; grist mill and carding machine by Davis family at an early day. The liquor trade was not neglected—James McCann, McDonaghs, Martin Lyons, Caldwell, Akerley and others at the creek; late Stephen Tracey, at lower corner, kept a hotel, sold liquor, ran a bowling alley and lumbered extensively; two or three places at Hardscrabble (Upper Corner), where liquor was sold in large quantities. Honorable Chas Perley's store and residence was at the Lower Corner during the days of his heaviest business and younger life; removing to the creek he built a fine residence upon the site now occupied by Ex-Mayor Belyea, which was destroyed in one of Woodstock's big fires.

Richard English, who was a prominent merchant, auctioneer and postmaster had four sons and three daughters; the eldest, Matilda married Mr Brayley of Fredericton, druggist, who removed to Montreal in after years, where both died; Eliza, the belle of the town, married Horace Beardsley, son of a judge, who studied and practised law and subsequently represented the county in provincial assembly, a very popular young man, who succumbed to death at an early age. His widow married the late Dr Stephen Smith, whose first wife was her youngest sister Victoria, who died not long after marriage; all are dead except the eldest son.

James McLaughlan, Samuel and James Watts, W T Baird, R A Hay, with assistance from L P Fisher, then a rising young lawyer, were the principal actors in the erection of the first Mechanic's Institute building and maintaining the organization, while the first three named also devoted themselves to teaching, literary and newspaper work; The Carleton Sentinel of to-day is a venerable monument to their memory.

George Connell, lawyer, and brother of Honorable Charles, built and placed upon the river the first successful steamer to ply regularly between Fredericton and Woodstock, the Carleton. She was scow bow and flat bottom, of light draft of water, could run when there was not sufficient water for the reindeer, owned by Thos Pickard, merchant, of Fred-erickton, and built at Nashwaaksis; the writer takes special interest in this boat being on board of her when launched (then a school boy at Baptist Seminary, Fredericton) and subsequently in the month of Oct, 1855, accompanied by his bride, performed that portion of bridal trip from Fredericton to Woodstock on board of her; being the fastest boat on the

Kitchener Range

Saves Fuel

It is not the first cost of a range which makes it cheap or expensive, but the amount of fuel it afterwards consumes.

If you buy a range a few dollars cheaper than a Kitchener, and it burns from 15 to 25% more fuel, what do you gain?
Nothing, but you actually lose money, besides putting up with all the inconveniences of an old-style range.

The Kitchener range is equipped with every device known for reducing the consumption of fuel.

river landed us in Woodstock at 2 p. m. If I mistake not, late Hugh Graham was pilot and Captain Carrier, master. The stern wheel Richmond, in which the late Jas R Tupper was largely interested, was built and put on about this time, but she was not a success. George Connell, elated with his success with the Carleton, built the larger steamer John Warren at Woodstock, which was a failure, and sank all Mr Connell had formerly accumulated. The Warren was built and finished and steam raised when she left the wharf in launching the water being well up in the river, she had not sufficient power to get back to the wharf without help there being a number to take a trial trip, they managed to turn her bow down stream for Fredericton, where she arrived without further mishap.

HYMENEAL.

GEST—SHARKEY.

At half past four Thursday afternoon, July 7th, a wedding of unusual interest took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr and Mrs Neil Sharkey, on south Idaho street.
Marmaduke D Gest, our genial sheriff, and Miss Clara Sharkey were united in wedlock by Rev Father Pudenz, in the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends.

Amid the gladness strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Mrs C M Stole, the bride and groom, accompanied by Miss Nellie Sharkey, the bride's sister, and Isaac Edinger, descended the stairs and took their places in the bay window of the parlor, which was beautifully hung with yellow roses and smilax.
The ring ceremony was pronounced by Father Pudenz, after which the friends of the happy couple gathered around them to extend congratulations.

The bride's gown was a dainty creation of dotted white silk mulle.
She carried bride's roses and at her neck wore a handsome diamond sunburst, the gift of the groom. The bridesmaid was attired in a pretty figured dimity.

The wedding supper took place immediately after the ceremony, at a daintily arranged table in the dining room. Many rich and beautiful gifts were presented to the young couple by their admiring friends, and congratulations and well wishes poured in by the score.

Mr and Mrs Gest took the evening train for McFalls, Missouri, where the groom's people live, and before returning home they will visit the Fair in St. Louis. They will make their home in Dillon.

Since living in Dillon, both Mr and Mrs Gest have been very popular in social circles, and have made hosts of friends.

The bride has lived in Beaverhead county many years, her home being in the once famous mining camp of Glendale, before moving to Dillon four years ago, and in that part of the country no young lady has more friends.

Mr Gest is also well known and liked throughout the county. He owns considerable property in the Big Hole basin, and while always popular in business circles, has become more so since filling the office of sheriff which he has now held for two years.

The Tribune is happy to congratulate Mr and Mrs Gest, and wish them a long and happy life.—Dillon Tribune.
