TOWN COUNCIL.

A special meeting of the town council was held at the council chamber, Monday evening, Mayor Lindsay and a full board present.

Petition was received from the ratepayers on the Houlton road, asking for the extension of the water system out to the property of Norman Smith, a distance of 1350 feet.

The mayor thought the council should comply with the request of the petitioners.

In reply to Coun Stevens, Supt. Munro said there should be a hydrant placed every 500 feet, and the probable costs of hydrants would be about $37 each. The superintendent said the board had already decided to lay 335 feet on Charles street, but the appropriation would not warrant laying the water pipe on the Houlton road for the full length of 1350 feet. The appropriation was $750, and it would cost $935 to lay the 1350 feet and place two hydrants in that section; this would exceed the appropriation by $185. Two hydrants and 870 feet of pipe had been ordered.

Coun Dibble reported that the water committee had met, considered the tenders for laying the water pipe and awarded the contract to Fewer Bros, whose tender was the lowest.

On motion Coun Dibble, seconded Coun Burt, the action of the water committee was ratified, and the superintendent was requested to enter into a contract with Messrs Fewer for the work.

Coun Fisher thought that the Houlton road residents should have precedence over Charles street. The pipes should be laid for 1350 feet and the extra expenditure charged to the next year's appropriation for water service.

Coun Dibble said it was only right to give the Houlton road residents a water service; they pay their taxes and get no benefit. There would be four families take the water west of Mr Bagley's, and pay $24 a year into the town revenues.

Coun Jones thought the council should face its own expenditure and not pass it as a legacy to next year's council. Give the new council as good a show as possible. It would have to face that $185 over expenditure, if the board adopted the suggestions made, and the new board would have no say in the matter.

Coun Gallagher made a strong plea for a four-inch water pipe on Charles street with one hydrant; this had been promised the residents for a long time.

Supt. Munro—The estimated cost of the proposed work on Charles street would be $250.

Coun Stevens said they were pledged to economy and not to over expend appropriations. Charles street might wait for a while, but the Houlton road should have a water service.

On motion, it was decided to lay the pipe a distance of 1350 feet on the Houlton road, and the expenditure over appropriation placed in next year's appropriation for water service.

His Worship asked permission to be absent from the next monthly meeting, which permission was granted unanimously.

On motion Coun Jones, seconded Coun Dibble the board passed a by-law that all telephone, telegraph and electric light wires within the town be placed at a height of at least 22 feet from the ground, and that the penalty for violation of the by-law be $5 for each offence.

Magistrate Dibble reported for July: fines unpaid, $31.90; cost, $5; fines paid, $30.10. Referred to finance committee.

After grappling with the question how best to secure all bills owned by the town, before the expiration of the term, and not, as has been the custom this year, have bills amounting to hundreds of dollars coming before the new board—the council adjourned.

MY SAD LAMENT.

Some times I write my thoughts in verse,
And 'tis the truth to tell,
And now I find that they are scarce,
Who do not praise me well.

But if I chanced to tell a lie,
Or tried the truth to shun,
Then here is now the reason why,
I did it just for fun.

But as I write of things remote
And told of Mr Hale,
Now from my book of life I'll quote
And tell this sad, sad tale.

I have no house, nor home, nor friends
And hard indeed my lot,
And when in death my life shall end
I soon will be forgot.

In early life the world looked bright
And much enjoyed by me,
But now looks dark almost as night,
And sad indeed I be.

All hope and youth alike are gone
And both my parent's dead,
And I must live my life alone
Until my soul has fled.

I always laughed some every day
Now find it hard to smudge
Since one man took from me away
The keeping of the bridge.

I think I had for wrong unknown
That I should suffer loss;
'Twas hate for me he has thus done
And shew me he was boss.

Now in my little hut alone
The nights go slowly by,
I often think—I now do own
'Twere better far to die.

Now where and when my life shall end,
Of course I cannot tell,
But yet I know the Orphan's Friend
Will use the orphan well.

My grave may be on Tobique hills,
Or some place now unknown—
Yet, oh! this thought my spirit thrills—
God can't forsake His own.

What matter, then, where I may lie
And back to cross return,
If after death my soul shall fly
To his eternal throne.

For then again I hope to meet
Dear parents gone before,
And then I know the thought is sweet
That I shall weep no more.

And now I hope these lines I write
Will be approved by all,
And oft by day as well as night
They may my name recall.

Marquis Ito, A Farmer's Son.

In Canada there are men in high places who are the sons of farmers; in Japan the chief subject of His Majesty Emperor Mutsuhito is a farmer's son. Juzo Ito, the father of Marquis Ito, was a rustic gardener or small farmer—a numerous and respectable class in Japan, where agriculture is the chief industry. The average farm is, however, only about two acres in extent. Juzo Ito had ambitions. He could not carry two swords, since he was not born a Samurai. He negotiated for his rank when an opportunity presented itself, and purchased superior position. He did not become a Samurai, but he secured a rank which enabled him to wear the coveted two swords. This, of course, helped his son, Hirobumi Ito, although he too had difficulties to face. He required education and travel. As a common sailor on a merchant ship he made his way to England. As a starving student, he led a solitary life at the Erie settlement, New York. He surmounted all difficulties, patiently bore great hardships, and has been Prime Minister of Japan four times. His great characteristic in private life is his love of reading. He devotes five or six hours a day to Japanese, German, English, French and Chinese books and periodicals. He is a student to-day, as in his younger days. He is no orator, and seldom makes speeches. He thinks, he has been the thinker of the Japanese nation. He is not worshipped by the people, but he is held in great respect; his reputation at home is equal to his reputation abroad. He is unostentatious, lives simply, has never sold his country's secrets, as Li Hung Chang did, has never indulged in speculations, is generous according to his means, speaks in a most deliberate tone, with a sweet, gentle expression, and he is a good conversationalist. — August Canadian Magazine.

THE MAGAZINE HABIT.

Many people have the Magazine Habit. At a certain time in the month, it comes upon them with irresistible force. They must purchase some magazines. Sometimes they read these new magazines; sometimes they merely look over the illustrations and the advertisements and then throw the copy aside. It is a peculiar habit, this.

Many Canadians have a habit of buying United States magazines, and here is where Canadians differ from all other peoples in the world. A United Stateser seldom buys a Canadian or a British magazine. A Britisher seldom buys a United States magazine. The United States editions of English magazines are not the same as the English editions—if they were the people of the United States would not buy them. The same rule applies in the case of the resident of Great Britain.

Some Canadians buy Canadian magazines, and this accounts for the success of The Canadian Magazine. Ten years ago it was read monthly by perhaps five thousand people; to-day it is read by twenty five thousand. When Canadians get into the habit of buying only Canadian magazines, there will be more national progress—artistic, literary, political, industrial.

After preaching on "Selfishness," Rev Dr A B Simpson, of New York, the Christian Missionary Alliance leader, took his annual offering for foreign missions of the Alliance camp meeting at Old Orchard Beach, Maine, on Sunday. The pledged aggregate $45,214, $3000 more than was raised there a year ago.

In London on the 22nd ult., in the course of a case heard before Mr Justice Warrington, counsel stated that a woman who would have been called was now in a lunatic asylum, another witness had been murdered, another had committed suicide, and five others had died.
