Address and Presentation.

A J Way of Middle Southampton has sold his property and gone to Woodstock where he has purchased the Turner House. Mr Way is a native of Middle Southampton, and has conducted a blacksmith and repair business for the last seven years, and by his obliging manner and careful execution of work has built up a good business and won many friends.

On Saturday evening some fifty of these latter, by previous arrangement, met at Mr Way's residence and thoroughly enjoyed an old time sociable evening, during which the following address and presentation was made:—

To Our Respected and Beloved Neighbors and Friends, Mr. and Mrs.
Albion J. Way:

As a slight token of our esteem and respect, we, your sincere friends and neighbors, have thought we could do no less on this the eve of your departure from our midst than to gather once more under your hospitable roof and express our best wishes for your future prosperity.

Your departure, from our point of view, is extremely regrettable; but we nevertheless trust and expect it will be to your united betterment as well as financially, socially and spiritually.

From our many years acquaintance and association with you we have learned to respect your many estimable qualities as neighbors, helpers in time of sickness, good friends and companions when friends and companionship were most needed, whether in sorrow or the lighter affairs of life.

Also as words are but leaves, while deeds are fruit we have not only met here to offer our best and heartfelt wishes for your future welfare and to spend a last enjoyable evening with you, but we have brought with us as a reminder of old associations in Southampton and as a tangible though small token of our regard, this Morris chair, which we now present to you Mr Way and your estimable lady with the hope that both may spend many happy hours in its use.

Signed on behalf of your many friends,

It was a genuine surprise party as far as Mr and Mrs Way were concerned and they had scarcely recovered their balance from so many people coming in on them so unexpectedly when the address and presentation were sprung on them.

As was very natural Mr Way was at some loss for words of thanks just at first, but after he got fairly going he made a very good attempt indeed, which was heartily applauded.

It is needless to say that the ladies had not overlooked the wants of the inner man and just in time to not encroach upon the Sabbath, after partaking to the full of cakes, confections, ice cream, etc, the pleasant gathering dispersed, the strains of the well known hymn "God be with you till we meet again" sung by nearly all present mingling feelingly with good nights and good byes.

The New Militia.

The composition of the Militia Council at Ottawa has now been practically decided upon, and the Canadian government is fortunate in having secured the services of so capable an officer as Col. Percy Henry Noel Lake, C. E. of the Imperial Army, to assist in the new organization, which in future will direct and control military affairs in the Dominion. Colonel Lake has seen considerable service on the Headquarters Staff, in London, he is a graduate of the Staff College, and has been Assistant Quartermaster-General for mobilization since 1899. Among his other recommendations, he saw hard fighting in the Afghan campaign of 1878-9, and the Sudan campaign of 1885, and he was Quartermaster-General of the Canadian militia from 1893 until 1898. Colonel Lake does not care to remain long in Canada this time, as he is slated for advancement at a very early date to general rank, and so he will return to England so soon as the council is once organized and under way. The Chief of Staff in Canada will be the channel through which the decisions of the council will be carried into effect. His position will be therefore one of the most responsible of those under the new plan of departmental management. It will carry with it the rank of Major-General in the Canadian militia. It has been practically settled that the post of Inspector-General will be assigned to Col. Lord Aylmer, who has acted as commanding officer of the Canadian militia on various occasions, and who has been administering the duties of that post since the departure of General Lord Dundonald.
The Inspector-General will not have a seat on the council, but will keep in personal touch with the requirements of the service in the various parts of the country. He will be, as his title infers, an inspecting officer, and will report to the council.

Lord Aylmer's career points him out for his new position. He entered the military profession forty years ago, as a Lieutenant in Her Majesty's 6th Royal Fusiliers, and served with that regiment in England, Malta, and Canada. In this corps he saw active service at the time of the first Fenian Raid on the Eastern Townships frontier. In 1870 he retired from the Imperial Army and became attached to the Canadian militia, serving in the 54th Regiment as paymaster and brigade major of the Montreal District. In 1881 he went to London as brigade major, and remained in that office until he was appointed deputy adjutant general at headquarters, in 1893. Three years later he was advanced to the adju-tancy general, which he has retained during the eight years that have followed. Lord Aylmer was second in command of the colonial forces that assisted at the Diamond Jubilee celebration in London, and since then he has had a course in the Old Country to keep him abreast of the latest development in military science. On the death of his father, in 1902, he succeeded to the title of Lord Aylmer and Baron of Balrath.
In his new position of inspector-general he will hold the rank of major-general in the Canadian forces. Lord Aylmer will be succeeded as adjutant-general by Colonel B H Vidal, who has been of late years deputy adjutant general at headquarters.
He is a son of a British vice-admiral, and has followed a military career since 1860, and went through the Abyssinian campaign.

SEASONABLE RECIPES.

Preserved Pears.—Parboil the pears in water, then peel them and boil in clarified sugar until they become red and clear. Take the pears out and boil up the syrup. Strain it and pour over the pears.

Apple Jelly.—Allow three-fourths of a pound of sugar to every pint of apple juice and boil for fifteen minutes. Flavor with either orange or lemon.

Preserved Citron.—Pare and cut open the citron, cleaning all out except the rind, and boil until soft.
Allow one pound of sugar and one lemon for each pound of citron.
Boil the sugar and lemon together until it becomes a syrup, skimming it well. Put the citron and syrup together and boil for one hour.

Grape Preserves.—For every pint of fruit allow one pint of water. The sugar and water should make a thick syrup. Ripen perfect grapes are picked from the stems, dropped into the syrup and boiled slowly until clear and done.

Chow-chow.—Break into small flowerets one large cauliflower and add to it a quart of sliced, green cucumbers, four green peppers cut into bits, one quart of sliced and green tomatoes, one quart of tiny cucumbers or button onions. Put the ingredients in a stone jar, cover with a brine made from one pint of salt and two gallons of cold water, and let the mixture stand for twenty-four hours. At the end of that time put it in a kettle and allow to boil until the ingredients are well scalded.
Drain free of brine. Mix into a paste six tablespoonsful of ground mustard, a cup of flour and a little vinegar. Add this paste with one cup of sugar to one-half gallon of vinegar and stir constantly until it boils. Add the pickles and boil once more, then pack in jars.

A good name, like goodwill, is got by many actions and lost by one.

A "Royal Household" Story from the Annapolis Valley.

Mr. Arthur Cochran, of DeLong & Seaman, Boston, tells of an incident which he observed not long since while traveling through the Annapolis Valley.

Some five or six miles from Middleton, Mr. Cochran called at the store of a friend and customer of his firm; and while discussing general business questions with him, a carriage drove up to the door and a prosperous looking fruit-grower pulled up his horse and got out.

"I came over for a barrel of that 'ROYAL HOUSEHOLD' Flour", said he. "Suppose you have lots of it left. My wife told me not to get any other kind, so I hope you have it here."

The merchant said he was very sorry but he had sold his last barrel of "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD" the day before, and didn't expect a new supply to the first of the following week. He said:

"Won't you take a barrel of — or ——. They are both flours of good reputation".

But the buyer said:

"No, we have used both those flours and we have used 'ROYAL HOUSEHOLD' and my wife thinks 'ROYAL HOUSEHOLD' so superior to any flour she has ever tried that she must always have it in future."

The merchant talked for a while and put up a pretty good argument, but finally the farmer said:

"It's only five or six miles to Middleton and, as I am hitched up, I might just as well drive over there and get what I want."

He thereupon drove to Middleton and got the flour he wanted; at least, Mr. Cochran presumes that he did, as he started for Middleton where "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD" is now sold in large quantities.— Mr. Cochran thinks that there can be no doubt about "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD" being the very best flour in this market when people's will take such pains to be sure that they get it. (38)
