Good News.

We learn that the Rink will be run this winter by the 67th Band. The contractor for the Armory has consented to allow skating for the season. The band boys handled the rink well in the past, and people feel that this winter, which will positively be the last for skating in the "Century", should be a record breaker. Hockey will take on a boom, too. The local team last year contained some good material. This year there are two or three strong new players who will be seen on the ice under the colors of the Woodstock Hockey Club.

To the Editor of Carleton Sentinel:

Almost everyone will agree with you in what you said in a late issue of our Town Elections. It is such a short time since the Dominion contest that it may not be possible to carry out your suggestion this winter. I think, however, a move might be made in that direction by electing a Council composed of one half Conservatives and one half Liberals, which, in view of the votes polled in the last Dominion and Provincial contests, would be giving each party the representation to which they are fairly entitled. As the Council is composed of seven members this division may at first appear to be impossible, but I think I can show it is not.

Let a ticket be formed, composed of three Conservatives and three Liberals for Councillors, and John A. Lindsay for Mayor. Both political parties may, on reflection, be perfectly satisfied with Mayor Lindsay. In the last Dominion election everyone knows he worked faithfully for Mr. Hale, and then to even the thing up, he voted (he says) for Mr. Carvell. Surely nothing could be more fair than that.

Since the election he has been using his influence with Premier Tweedie to have Mr. Jones appointed to a Cabinet position, and so far as he has been able to do so, he has guaranteed his return by acclamation. This looks like favoring the Liberals, but he evened it up by the announcement in his paper The Press that Mr. Jones' re-election would be contested by the Conservatives.

When a meeting of the Conservatives was called to consider the question of protesting Mr. Carvell's election, Mr. Lindsay at once assured his Liberal friends that he was violently opposed to such a course, while, had they gone on with the protest, I have no doubt but that it would have met with the hearty approval of his paper. Surely with such a record as this Mayor Lindsay can appeal to both political parties with the utmost confidence.

Then there is the Scott Act and anti-Scott Act people who must certainly be satisfied with Mr. Lindsay, for has he not at various times rendered valuable service to each?

In closing let me give one more reason why John A. Lindsay should be Mayor for another year. Next year will decide the location of the G. T. P. and while our Board of Trade will no doubt be able to bring the road down the St. John Valley to our Town, with the assistance of Mayor Lindsay we will have it without the shadow of a doubt.

CITIZEN.

A Query.

To the Editor of Carleton Sentinel:

In front of the Lindsay building just below the Town Hall there is an excellent chance, caused by the snow not being cleaned off the sidewalk, for a person to fall, and perhaps, break their back. If this should happen some evening when the Town lights are out, would the Lindsay Estate be liable for damages, or would it be the Town that would have to foot the bills?

News from the Country.

Newburg.

(From another correspondent.)

The sad death of Mrs. Michael Gallagher occurred at her home here on Dec. 4th. Mrs. Gallagher was a lady highly respected by all who knew her. She leaves besides a sorrowing mother and husband six children, Wm. Gallagher, Geo. Gallagher, John Gallagher, Mrs. James Brown, Mrs. Patrick Culbert, all of this place, and Mrs. Alfred Culbert of Lowell, Mass. The community extend their sympathy to the bereaved family in their hour of sorrow.

Mrs. Jane Cummings has returned from Hartland after a pleasant visit to her daughter, Mrs. Geo. McLaughlin.

Jack McLaughlin is laid up with a cut foot.

Arriettes Cummings threshed for John Colter 400 hundred bushels of oats in 8 hours; also 15 bushels of buckwheat in 15 minutes for Frank L. Ryan with a Little Giant machine. Who can beat this? X. Y. Z.

Upper Woodstock.

We were sitting in our sanctum one day last week, wondering at the lowliness of our spirits and lamenting the scarcity of chewing tobacco, when we were cautiously approached by four of our citizens. After assuring us that they were neither after money nor revenge they gently broke the ice and wished us, scribes as we were, to write up our postal grievances, stating that our influence would surely clear up the present dulled atmosphere. Such an idea was of course out of the question, for as we informed them business must be attended to before pleasure, and that our mental capacities were now sadly overtaxed in our attempts to keep ahead of the wild cats and out of political arguments. No, no, brothers, the matter of the mail arriving and leaving about once a week is surely an important one but we've grappled with it too much already and the thanks and support we got were very slim.

We are informed that Miss B. Pauline Watson, who accepted a position in Boston, Mass., is delighted with her new vocation. Miss Watson was a very popular young lady in our village and has the good wishes of all.

A. C. Smith & Co. are loading several cars of hay here per day. George Chapman and crew are making repairs to the railway bridge. They expect to be here until about the 15th of January.

The school children here, under the instruction of Mr. Haviland, our teacher, have prepared a short programme of recitations etc. for the closing exercises of the school.

Eldon Orchard and Sydney Gans, our dog fanciers, are in need of several more animals. They are willing to pay good prices for canines of any age, size, colour or breed.

Harry, little son of Benjamin Fox, had the misfortune to fall and break his wrist last Sunday. Dr. Kincaid is in attendance.

Mrs. Laila Johnson is on the sick list. She is staying with her mother Mrs. Alonzo Ireland.

Miss Alice Miller took her departure for Fort Fairfield one day last week.

Mrs. Geneva Pyle spent last week with her sisters, Mrs. E. B. Briggs and Mrs. J. W. Adams.

E. B. Briggs has secured Mrs. Harry Lamont as cook in the boarding house at the siding for the winter.

Mrs. Thomas Cook of Bridgewater, is visiting her son Pitt.

Bessie Day, who has been visiting friends in Caribou, returned one day last week accompanied by Mrs. Charlotte Miller.

Perry Day gave a graphophone concert in the red school house last Saturday evening. The house was comfortably filled. Among those who attended were several from Sragueville.

Miss Myrtle Snow's school in this district closes this coming Friday. On Thursday evening the school will give an entertainment after which there will be a box social. The proceeds will be used for school room furnishings.

Mr. and Mrs. Seldon Chase and their son Roy are spending a few days at Ashland with Mrs. Chase's relatives.

Mrs. Charlotte Barrett.

Died suddenly at her home in Wicklow, N. B., Nov. 18th, of heart failure, Mrs. Charlotte Barrett, aged 69 years. The deceased was the daughter of the late Nathaniel and Hester Rideout and was one of a family of eighteen children, of which her death leaves but one surviving member, John Rideout of Blaine, Maine. The death of Mrs. Barrett is the third in her immediate family within the past two months, two brothers having died in that time, Benjamin Rideout of Robinson, and Thomas of East Blaine. She leaves an aged husband, who is in poor health, and two children by a former marriage, Mrs. Alanda Gallupe White of Michigan, who arrived home in time for the funeral, and Charles Gallupe of Boundary. She united with the Methodist church when quite young and ever remained a firm believer in her chosen faith. A woman of estimable qualities, she was loved by old and young, and her many pleasant ways will long be remembered by those who knew her. It may truly be said of her she went about doing good, and she is mourned not alone by her family but by the entire community and a host of friends in N. B. and in Aroostook Co. Me. who feel that her place will not easily be filled. She was one of God's noble women.

Funeral services were held at F. B. church at Boundary, conducted by Rev. G. H. Sally who paid a fitting tribute to her life work, speaking from these words "Our friend sleepeth." The remains were interred in Hillside cemetery beside the husband of her youth.
