More About the Ball Game.

This article is not intended as an advertisement for Burdock Blood Bitters, but it is just possible that some of the "Dailies" of our "Larger Cities" may undertake to use it as such, and if so they are perfectly welcome.

Oh no, my dear friends, we were led to take up our pen by reading the Lakeville items in the issue of THE CARLETON SENTINEL of Sept. 22nd, in which the Lakeville "scribe" undertakes to show up the "humiliating" position of the Bloomfield B. B. Team, in giving an account of the game played at Williamstown on Sept. 22nd.

The next time the Lakeville scribe undertakes to quote a paper they should give the funny paragraphs alluded to, as the paper quoted is not appreciated enough in Bloomfield to be taken by more than one of the residents and it is not easy to get a copy of it without sending to the publishers, and we refuse to do that for fear the Lakeville scribe was trying to sell papers for the publishers when he wrote the items, as we cannot see that he accomplished much else.

We have asked the opinion of disinterested parties if they understood the language used in the article referred to in the SENTINEL of Sept. 8th, and the unanimous verdict was: that they saw no difficulty in understanding it, and especially those who saw the ground.

We neglected, in giving an account of the game, to say that the rock piles were skirted by a fringe of raspberry bushes, which accounted for the ball getting lost in the bushes. The language we used in said article may not be professionally phrased, but we do not pretend to be professionals.

Oh no, if we had been professionals there would only have been one inning and the Lakeville team would never have reached the bat.

This is the first year that we have ever played ball, and we think the "dailies" of our "larger cities" should not have been too hard on us, if we used unprofessional language.

Some good spellers might object to Josh Billing's style of spelling but he made a hit by adopting it and it is just possible that the style of our reporting will be used by a large number of teams next year.

It will be remembered that we played the Lakeville team in the early summer and were beaten to the tune of twenty six to thirteen, and the advice of some of their friends to us was "not to be discouraged but to go home and practice"; we good naturedly took their advice and came home and practised, with the result that when we played them again in June, we just a little more than held them even, and after repeated attempts, when we again got the Lakeville team to consent to play we did them up to the tune of 35 to 15 which seems to have had the effect of leaving the bruised spots a little tender.

Now our advice to them is "don't be discouraged but go home and practice."

The game of baseball is good exercise when played fair, and the defeated party took their defeat like men, but slurs and recriminations are neither edifying nor educating.

We thought of writing a reply to the Lakeville "scribe" 22nd ult, but it might be the means of making hard feelings, and so we have always had kindly feelings for our good friends of Lakeville and do not wish to disturb them, we have given up the idea.

PERRY—BROWN.

One of the prettiest house weddings of the season was an event of Wednesday afternoon in the handsomely decorated home of Mr and Mrs S J Brown, Smyrna Mills, when their eldest daughter Jennie L was united in marriage to Herbert C Perry of Island Falls. The ceremony took place at 1:30, witnessed only by immediate relatives. The wedding march was artistically rendered by Mrs James Alvy of that town. The bridesmaid was Miss May Brown and the groom was supported by Clyde C Brown, cousin of the bride. The ceremony was performed by Rev James Alvy of the Methodist church of that place. Dinner was served and Mr and Mrs Perry left on the 2:35 train for a bridal tour through New Brunswick. On their return they will have a reception at Mr Perry's future home, Island Falls, Thursday evening Oct 5th.

Richmond Division, No 438, S of T, intends holding an oyster supper in the Forester's Hall at Debec, on Wednesday night, Oct 11th. All are cordially invited. Admission 25cts.

Bank Amalgamation.

There is a rumor that the Bank of New Brunswick may be purchased by the Bank of Montreal. This latter institution is making a great effort to become strongly entrenched in the lower provinces. It is of course the largest bank in Canada and with its tremendous resources can afford to do business on a magnificent scale. The Bank of New Brunswick has a branch at East Florenceville, which should the deal go through, would thereafter become an agency of the Bank of Montreal. The Woodstock agency managed by Mr G. A. White and that at Hartland under Mr. Graham are well and favorably known to the public.

A Fearful Threat.

An upriver friend whose subscription expired in September wished to have the paper discontinued. Unfortunately the journal of the home was not stopped exactly on the minute so the ex-subscriber became vexed, and with blood in his eye penned the following threatening epistle:—

"DEAR SIR,—My subscription to THE SENTINEL expired last month, you were notified by the postmaster two weeks ago to stop the paper, please do not send it again as it will be burnt."

As destruction by fire would be a sad fate for such an unoffending sheet the wishes of our friend will be complied with to the letter.

The Town Contest.

In the town contest for representation at the County Council, Couns. Bailey and Fewer are running, and associated with them is ex-Coun. Wm. Balmain. James Drysdale is out in opposition. R. B. Jones was for a time expecting to run but decided to withdraw from the fight. There is little or no interest in the election and a very small vote will be polled. For a time it was thought there would be a lively contest but several who were expected to run preferred to remain quiet.

NOTICE.

The SENTINEL wishes to thank its patrons for the kindly indulgence extended during the somewhat lengthy absence of the manager. In some instances correspondence has been delayed, and a few notices held over, all of which could not be prevented. During the past two weeks the office has been in charge of the foreman, who with the kind assistance of the genial Press editor, has managed to turn out what must be considered a good newsy sheet. Considerable arrears in correspondence will now be attended to without further delay.

The Royal Bank Scores Again.

From a recent issue of the Havana Post we clip the following item:—

"The government yesterday awarded to the Royal Bank of Canada the contract for the second fifty per cent. payment to the Cuban army of arbitration. This second payment will amount to about $27,000,000, of which about $17,000,000 will be paid in cash and the balance in bonds. These bonds will bear five per cent. interest on and after the 28th of November next, and will be guaranteed by the Custom House receipts and the internal revenue just as the first issue of $35,000,000 underwritten by Messrs. Speyer and Co. and issued for the payment of the first fifty per cent. The contract for the first payment was awarded also to the Royal Bank of Canada, which has up to date paid about $25,000,000 of the amount. There was quite a rivalry between all the banks and bankers here to secure this contract, and the Royal Bank of Canada is to be congratulated, as this is a confirmation of its satisfactory handling of the first payment and also an evidence of the high esteem and confidence placed in the institution by the government and public in general.

The Royal Bank of Canada has just opened a new branch at Matanzas. This is the fourth one established on the island and there will be additional ones at Cardenas, Cienfuegos, and many other places of importance on the island."

Mr MacKenzie, formerly manager here, is agent at Camaguey. Mr Tapley is in Havana, occupying a responsible position, and Mr Jones is, we believe, at Santiago. The Royal Bank is certainly popular in Cuba and the men who have gone there from the Woodstock agency are all getting along nicely.

A Sharp Fight.

There is a great fight on in the parish of Woodstock. Coun. H. B. Smith who led the poll two years ago is again in the field. Coun. Bull has retired. John Flemming and Jas. H. Forrest are in the field. From what the SENTINEL can learn it seems to be thought that Coun. Smith will once more come in ahead, while the other gentlemen will have a sharp tussle for second place. It seems too bad that some one of the three must be left at home.

A New Literary Record.

A new literary record is made by the Canadian Magazine with its October issue. This number marks the completion of twenty-five volumes without a change in management, with only one change in its editor, and without a publishing slip of any kind. The record is unique in Canadian literary annals, except for the case of La Revue Canadienne of Montreal, which has been published without a break since 1880. This issue is also noteworthy in its range of contents. Benjamin Sulte writes of "The beginnings of French-Canadian Literature," Professor MacMechan deals with "The Literature of Nova Scotia," and there is also an article on "The Women Writers of Canada." J S Willison, Editor of the Toronto News, writes of "Journalism and Public Life in Canada" in his usual trenchant style. Robert Barr has some delightful predictions as to the future of Canada and Great Britain. There are illustrated articles on Nelson's victories and the inauguration of the new Provinces. There are stories by W A Fraser, Norman Duncan, Eric Bohn, William McLennan, Louis Frechette and Eve Brodlique Summers. There are poems by Charles G D Roberts, William Wilfred Campbell and Lily Alice Lefevre. The whole is inclosed in a special cover, with a Buffalo head surrounded by wheat decorations—an appropriate emblematic design.

We have several times urged our readers to peruse the Canadian Magazine. It stands without a peer in its class. Its lofty tone, strongly patriotic spirit and general excellence combine in forming what must be regarded as the very best matter to which the reading public has access.
