A Meerschaum Mine.

“Meerschaum is mined like coal,” said a pipe dealer. “It is a soft, soap like stone, and in Asia Minor its mining is an important industry. The crude meerschaum is called hamash. It is yellowish white in color and a red clay coat or skin envelops it. The blocks cost from $25 to $200 a cart load. They are soft enough to cut with a knife. These blocks in summer are dried by exposure to the sun. In winter a heated room is necessary. Finally the meerschaum blocks are sorted into twelve grades, wrapped in cotton and packed in cases with the greatest care. The bulk of all this meerschaum goes to Vienna. There the best pipe makers in the world live.”—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Loss of Power To Digest Food AMONG THE FIRST INDICATIONS OF EXHAUSTED NERVES—THE CURE IS DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

The most important function of the organs of the body is the digestion and assimilation of food, and in this process is consumed an enormous quantity of nervous energy.

As the result the moment disorders of the nerves arise, digestion is impaired and the very source of health, strength and vitality interfered with.

To prevent physical bankruptcy the nervous system must be built up by outside aid such as the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, a preparation composed of the very elements of nature which go to form new blood and nerve cells.

Besides this restorative influence on the whole system, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has an immediate and direct effect on the digestive system.

It stimulates the nerves of taste and induces a good flow of saliva to aid digestion. It excites the glands of the stomach and produces a plentiful supply of the gastric digestive fluids. It sharpens the appetite and arouses hunger.

Especially where appetite and the ability to digest have diminished, as in nervous exhaustion, anemia, the result of sickness, overwork or worry, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is by all odds the most effective treatment that can possibly be obtained.

It ensures good digestion, regular, healthful action of the liver, kidneys and bowels and the building up and revitalizing of the whole system.

Mrs. D. J. Murphy, Black Rock, Gloucester Co., N. B., writes: “I was very much run down and suffered from indigestion, headaches and bodily weakness. The use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has built up my system wonderfully and I now feel strong and well. My husband has obtained great benefit from the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for rheumatism.”

A number of young women at Wallensburg, Col., have formed a protective association. Each member must submit in writing every proposal of marriage she receives from a man and cannot accept it unless the members say that the man is all right. None of them will probably ever marry.

W. C. T. U. Column.

The officers for N. B. W. C. T. U. for 1904, Hon. President, Mrs. W. W. Turnbull, St. John, N. B.; Pres. Mrs. Olive E. Lindow, St. Stephen; Vice Pres. Mrs. McLeod, Newcastle; Cor. Sec. Miss Carrie A. Weldon, Chatham; Treas. Mrs. R. A. B. Phillips, Fredericton; Auditor, Mrs. Gilman, Fredericton.

Meetings held on the Second and Fourth Wednesday of the month at 3 o'clock in the Vestry of the Advent Church.

Munsey's Magazine some time ago decided upon a policy of excluding all liquor advertisements from its pages. It has now gone a step further. In the August number the leading article is by Herbert N. Casson under the title, “The Story of Temperance”. Mr. Casson is an able Ontario boy a son of Rev. Wesley Casson a respected minister of the Methodist church. The article is well worth reading. The closing paragraphs of the article are as follows:—

As a factor in politics, prohibition is a constant surprise to the men who manipulate the machines. There are now more than three hundred prohibitionists elected as such holding offices in Pennsylvania and more than five hundred in Illinois including three assemblymen. Last year more than a quarter of a million uncompromising men turned their backs on Roosevelt and Parker and voted for Swallow and prohibition. John G. Woolley, the leading spokesman of the political wing, is a speaker of unusual force. It was he who said to the churches “Why don't you vote as you pray.”

“The Anti Saloon league, an alliance of church members, has become a powerful national body spending more than two hundred thousand dollars a year.

The three largest due-paying prohibitionists are the Catholic Total Abstinence Union with eighty six thousand members, the W. C. T. U. with a hundred and fifty thousand, and the Independent Order of Good Templars (I. O. G. T.) with more than half a million. These may be called the regular soldiers of the vast temperance army, as to the total of the militia no complete census has yet been taken. “It may almost be said that to-day the public sale of liquors finds no defender outside the men who maybe profit from it and the man whose unnatural appetite calls for it. In fact the general opinion was fairly expressed recently by a St. Louis daily paper which said: “The selling of liquor either on Sunday or on week days is not a necessity.”

This article by Casson was not written for the purpose of advertising the I. O. G. T. and it only incidentally mentions it, yet nothing could more effectively show the position of the I. O. G. T. as a factor in the great temperance movement. It is a great loss to any community, both educationally and socially, to be without a lodge.

ROGERS-GIBSON.

One of the best conducted and reverently quiet weddings ever seen in these parts was celebrated at the residence of the bride's father, David Gibson, Northampton, on Wednesday, Sept. 27th, at one o'clock in the afternoon, when Harrison Turner, son of John James and Elizabeth Rogers, and Emma Louise, daughter of David and Augusta Gibson, were united in holy matrimony by the impressive service of the Methodist church, rendered by Rev. John C. Berrie. At the appointed hour Mrs. W. O. Berrie Good, who presided at the piano, played “The Bridal Song” by Batiste. Soon the bridegroom took his place accompanied by Robert Gibson, brother of the bride, then four little girls held white ribbons to mark the path for the bride, who entered on the arm of her eldest brother Arthur, preceded by the bridesmaid, Miss Augusta Rogers, sister of the bridegroom. The bride and bridesmaid were attired in white and carried white bouquets. The ceremony being over, congratulations were in order and the seventy five or more guests entered heartily into this part of the function, whilst a march by Jensen and other selections were played. After signing the usual documents a delicious luncheon was served and by four o'clock the bridal party left for Woodstock to entrain for Boston. The bride's travelling suit was of brown color with hat to match and she certainly looked charming. The presents were numerous, costly,

Paid the Wrong Man.

A builder in Pennsylvania, having heard that the men did not start work at the proper time, thought he would drop down about 6.30 one morning and see. Going up the yard he caught sight of a joiner standing smoking, with his kit not even opened. Simply asking his name, which he found to be Jake Robertson, he called him into the office, and handing him four days' pay told him to leave at once.

After having seen the man clear of the yard, he went up to the foreman, and told him he had made an example of Jake Robertson by paying him off for not starting to work at the proper hour.

“Jumping Jupiter, sir!” ejaculated the foreman, “that chap was only looking for a job.”

Walking is fine exercise. That may explain why actors so frequently live to an old age.

THE LEAD-PENCIL EVIL.

One practical lesson that should be taught in every school is that a lead-pencil must never be put in the mouth. More important than the study of algebra, the study of Greek, or Latin, the study of rhetoric or the study of literature, is the lesson that a lead-pencil should never be stuck in the mouth. Nearly every scholar has this habit, and a very pernicious habit it is.

If the school teacher would insist upon this as a rule, and correct every child that has this filthy habit it could be broken up. People who have passed through school and have formed the habit of putting the pencil to the lips every time it is used are beyond hope. But with the children something could be done. The pencil does not write so well after it has been wet as before, but there seems to be a notion that in order to make the pencil write, it must be moistened with the lips. This is not true. Probably everybody knows it is not true. In public places, people who are very squeamish, ordinarily, will pick up a pencil that has been used by hundreds of other people, and the first thing they do is to put it in the mouth.

It is a habit that ought to be broken up. Every school teacher should take up the crusade. Pupils should be told frequently never to put the pencils in their mouth. When caught doing it, some sort of punishment should be inflicted upon them until they got it into their heads that the practice is ridiculous and dangerous to health. While the graphite that composes the so-called lead of the pencil is not of itself a very harmful substance to be taken into the mouth, yet the point of the pencil is necessarily dirty.

Tortured By Three Bandits.

Bound, gagged and tortured by fire by three bandits, who sought to make them reveal the hiding place of treasure they thought concealed in the house, Andrew and John Fohren, old and wealthy farmers living near Spring Lake Elgin, Ill., are in a serious condition and it is feared that the shock and injuries may prove fatal to Andrew, the elder of the two brothers.

Andrew, after the robbers had searched the house and taken $360, managed to free himself from the thongs which bound him and started across the field to secure help. The soles of his feet were blistered, however, and before he had gone far he fainted and fell into a ditch, where he lay until daylight. The bandits appeared and when refused admittance battered in the door and overpowered the old men after a brief struggle. They then searched the house and finding some $360 concluded that a larger sum was concealed somewhere. They beat and choked their victims and finally applied lighted paper to the soles of their feet to make them tell where the supposed treasure was hidden. After half an hour of excruciating torture John Fohren fainted from pain and the robbers left with John still unconscious. Assistance arrived and found John in a less serious condition than his elder brother.

The SMALL & FISHER

Thresher, Separator and Cleaner.

These are Indisputable Facts.

We claim our Thresher and Power to be the most durable machine on the market. We do not ask intending purchasers to accept this statement without proof, so to get at the average cost of repairs on our machines, we selected recently the accounts of twelve men who purchased machines from us twelve years ago. These parties live so far away that they could not get repairs without ordering by letter or telegram, and having the account for repairs charged on account, the total sum of these twelve accounts amounted to $168.94. Fearing some parts might have been obtained through agents, we added to the above sum all repairs purchased by them (some of which no doubt were for other machines than the twelve), amounting to $65.95, making a total of $234.89 for seven years, being $33.55 per year for repairs, including teeth for twelve machines, and only the small sum of $2.78 per year for each machine. We do not doubt but what some repairs have been made by carpenters and blacksmiths near where the machines have been working, but if so it is not an advantage for a man to own a machine that does not require him to send perhaps 100 miles or more to the factory for repairs, at great expense of time and money.

Expert Tea Blending

HAVE you ever tried to blend colors to match the shade of the red rose?

Pretty difficult, yet an expert can do it easily.

Why? Because he can tell by looking at the rose what colors are required to produce that tint or shade. He can make that precise color every day in the week.

Just as the artist in colors blends the tints of the red rose, so my artists in tea blend the “rich fruity flavor” of Red Rose Tea.

With expert knowledge and intuitive skill he selects the particular picking of rich, strong Indian tea and the precise grade of fragrant, delicate Ceylon, and by skilful blending produces the peerless flavor of Red Rose Tea—a tea which for delicacy and strength is matched by no brand of Ceylon alone.
