

Dear Mother

Your little ones are a constant care in Fall and Winter weather. They will catch cold. Do you know about Shiloh's Consumption Cure, the Lung Tonic, and what it has done for so many? It is said to be the only reliable remedy for all diseases of the air passages in children. It is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take. His goodness to cure your money is returned. The price is 25c. per bottle, and all dealers in medicine sell.

SHILOH
This remedy should be in every household.

Woman's Missionary Society.

The annual meeting of the N. B. & P. E. I. branch of the Woman's Missionary Society will be held in St. Stephen Oct 4th to 6th. The District Organizer's Conference will meet on Tuesday, Oct 3rd. Miss Jessie Home, returned missionary from Japan will be present and will add much to the interest of the convention. It is expected that our W. M. S. exhibit which was shown at the Sunday School Convention at Toronto and also at Northfield will be exhibited at this branch meeting.

Reduced rates will be granted to delegates and visitors, but they must procure a standard certificate. All delegates' names are to be reported to Miss Palmer, 23 Queen Square, St. John. Mrs. George Busken, St. Stephen, is secretary of the bill of fare committee, and delegates will be sure to notify her by what train and on what day they will arrive.

A Political Graveyard.

The trade and labor congress held its closing session in Toronto on Saturday and adopted a large number of resolutions. Among them was one calling for the abolition of the senate and denouncing it as a political graveyard in which money is the open sesame. On reflection this was thought to be too strong and it was cut out. The increase of the senators' sessional indemnity was protested against. Another resolution called upon parliament to make 8 hours a legal work day and another asked for the establishment of technical schools.

A Fortune in Sight.

A. W. Wright of Toronto, described in the Chimalapa Land Co. prospectus as a capitalist, was in St. John on Monday. Mr. Wright is second vice-president of this company of which George W. Fowler, M. P., is president. The company have purchased 130,000 acres of land in Mexico and Mr. Wright is of the opinion that there is 800 cubic feet of mahogany timber per acre on it, and small quantities of Spanish cedar and some twenty other varieties of wood. The idea is that wood standing on these lands can be cut and sawn at a profit of several millions. F. H. Hale, formerly member for Carleton County, will go to the spot and take charge of the lumbering operations. The general manager of the property on the estate is a New Brunswicker, F. C. Baker. Mr. Fowler and Mr. Hale will leave for Mexico in a few days.

Persian Way of Eating Watermelon.

The ordinary Persian bill of fare sounds something like the banquet described in fairy tales," said a man who has spent some time in the orient.

"While traveling in that country I found that the best overtone to a wayside repast is a watermelon, not cut in slices, as is done in the country, but eaten like an egg, one end being cut off and the contents eaten with a wooden spoon, the roseate fluid trickling all the time to the bottom and affording a fragrant drink when the first course is over.

WEDDING MUSIC.

Wedding music—what ought it to be? Grave or gay, classical or modern, religious or secular?

The question is raised by the Musical World, in which a writer protests against the playing of inappropriate music at wedding receptions. To give 'Haste to the Wedding' after the ceremony has taken place," says the writer, "is, to say the least of it, foolish; while 'Comin' through the Rye,' 'The Minstrel Boy' and 'Begone, Dull Care,' are no less unsuitable."

Dr. Vincent, the well-known organist and editor of the Organist and Choirmaster, answers the question by saying that four things should characterize wedding music. It should be emotional, prayerful, jubilant and martial.

"There is a great deal of conservatism in the choice of wedding music," said Dr. Vincent; "many brides ask the organist to play the music played when their mothers were married. Occasionally one gets odd requests. I have been asked to play 'Oh, Rest in the Lord,' a favorite funeral hymn, while the bride party was in the vestry. My own setting of 'Peace, Perfect Peace,' another funeral hymn, has also been played by request at weddings, with 'I Know That My Redeemer Liveth,' and 'Oh, for the Wings of a Dove.'"

Dr. Vincent finds it hard to account for such a selection of music nowadays, unless as a protest against the growing spirit of levity which marks the modern wedding.

"Even twenty years ago the wedding march was almost a frivolity," said Dr. Vincent. "Today an organist would not be surprised if asked to provide a chorus for the bridesmaids. Why not? Look at the parts they take now—the rehearsals, and so on. It would not be difficult to train them to sing a chorus, and then add a part for the father, ejaculations by the friends and even an interruption by the jealous rival in a minor key!"

Dr. Vincent's ideal music for weddings is contained in the first part of the publication, "Useful Voluntaries." While the friends are waiting for the arrival of the bride the organist is advised to play Handel's hymeneal chorus, "Endless Pleasure, Endless Love," followed, if the wait be a long one, by Wagner's "Bridal Chorus," from "Lohengrin," a most effective selection, inasmuch as it is neither too loud nor too soft. Haydn's "Gracioso, Creation" is considered very appropriate for the interval while the bride and bridegroom are in the vestry. And, of course Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" is played as soon as the bride reappears.
