An Important Meeting.

The first of a series of lectures to be given this fall and winter in the A. M. E. church was held Monday evening. There was a fair attendance, in which the Caucasian element somewhat predominated. W. W. Hay graced the assemblage in the capacity of chairman, and in a few well chosen remarks introduced Presiding Elder Kersey, the learned, popular and beloved rector, as the chief speaker of the evening. The good father in Israel delivered an address that was full of interest. He told of the fight the black man had to make for existence, and gave much valuable advice to his people. Rev. Nathaniel McIntyre who only recently was given a preacher's license by the A. M. E. local conference, made a valuable contribution to the delight experienced by the audience all through the service. Bro. W. Ludlow Wise, J. P., the only gentleman of color in the maritime provinces to hold a commission as magistrate, spoke in an exceedingly interesting manner for some time. In the course of his remarks Judge Wise made an important political announcement. He had at one time been a candidate for a seat at the town council, and in his heart believed he was honestly elected, but the machine tactics of his opponents had prevented him from taking the seat. After that contest he was kept from running for some years owing to the manner in which the council legislated or gerrymandered him and one or two other good men. Now thanks be to the powers that rule, he is qualified, and next January would certainly be a candidate for election to the council. (Great applause.) He would not make any rash pre-election pledges, but asked all his friends to work for victory. The chairman reminded the audience that Black and White was a very good blend, and in fulfillment of that idea called upon several of the palefaces to make a few remarks. These included a lawyer, a pill-pounder and a scribe, all of whom gave short addresses enlogistic of what they had seen and heard. An offering was taken, a hymn sung and the Doxology pronounced, after which all hands went home delighted. In the near future it is hoped that arrangements will be made for the grand opening gun in Judge Wise's campaign to be fired at a mass meeting in some large hall, to which the other candidates will be invited and given the opportunity to debate the burning questions of the hour.

Lawson Again.

Thomas W. Lawson is sending out matter to the papers of America which he asks them to print gratuitously. The latest contribution from the Doubting Thomas is another fierce attack on the life insurance companies. Tom winds up by saying that he has already spent a million in fighting the system, and if necessary, has two millions more to throw in the fire. From one who is so flush we must insist upon cash in return for advertising, so when we get T. W.'s cheque for even a very small fraction of that two million dollar pile we shall be glad to publish his warning. In the meantime we shall remain neutral. Lawson, it's your move!

AT THE BUTTS.

Owing to an unfortunate error the last week's issue of this paper did not have a full and correct account of the work on the range on Monday, 16th inst. Here it is with apologies to the marksmen:—

C. M. Sherwood, Centreville, wishes to say—a great many farmers have a wrong impression regarding the unusually large yield of flour from a given amount of wheat in his new roller mill. The quality of the flour next the Bran is more valuable than that located in the centre of the "berry", and the reason I give more flour than it is possible for the ordinary roller mill to do is that I have more roll surface—120 square feet of steel surface, and more perfect machinery for extracting and separating the flour from the bran and shorts, and not the mistaken idea that I give too large a yield by grinding too closely. Appealing to the intelligent observer, we will allow the flour to take the witness stand and speak for itself, for it is decidedly whiter than any Ontario or Manitoba flour that comes to Carleton County and if ground too closely, it would be utterly impossible to retain its snowy whiteness.

A correspondent must expect to be brought to book once in a while and an exposition of his ignorance, wilfulness or wrong doing publicly made. Respecting the item of dissatisfaction with the road law it was simply dictated by the frequent daily complaint of a large number and without any expression of my personal opinion or the least slur upon the government under which it was made and by which it was sanctioned. The objection is made by full as many of one class or party in politics as by the other and no doubt in the majority of instances the result of ignorance. Every road tax payer is not familiar with the law all they know is that no work was done in their district and they are compelled to pay out money instead of having the privilege and pleasure of getting together in the old time worn custom doing a good deal of talk and gossip and patching up the bad places to do until they should meet again. Very many people who handle but little money would prefer doing their assessment at fifty cents per day than to part with that amount of money. Had the SENTINEL or some other paper given the same explanation to all these people that is now furnished through the criticism upon my item less cause for fault finding would be discovered. So far then the publication of the item proves instructive and beneficial respecting the surprise that your well informed correspondent was not aware of the situation &c. The reply is your correspondent has not yet assumed the office of an exponent of said law and finds but little time to discuss it let his knowledge be what it may. I simply gave you an objection as frequently expressed. As time rolls on and the benefit derived from said law become fully developed the majority at least may be satisfied that it is all right.

Mr. Tabor of the Carlisle, G. R. Burt and T. J. Carter after spending a week or more in the Miramichi country returned bringing with them the carcass or part thereof of a moose with antlers of 50 inches spread shot by Mr. Carter.

Albert Orser, Esq., occupied the platform in Burt's Hall on Wednesday evening last in the delivery of a temperance lecture to a fair sized audience. Your correspondent not knowing it until after all was over was debarred the privilege of being present but from some who were present is informed that the address with several pieces of original poetry proved to be one Mr. Orser's most able efforts.

Late rain storms have raised the water in the small streams and caused a noticeable increase in the main river.

J. K. Flemming returned from Boston on Thursday last in which city he visited in the interest of his business.

Since the Press prophecy of an election of representatives to the local assembly the names of a large number are mentioned as probable candidates and many predictions made respecting the changes which will occur and who the winning men will be. Better not to go too fast.

James A. Rogers, who is kept very busy in his mill and with the prospect of a large amount of grinding to be done, authorizes me to say that his house at the South End will not be to rent as he will return here with his family and occupy it. Pleased to have Mr. Rogers a citizen again.

It is a good plan and consistent for all people to practice what they preach. Who does this strike in the question that will be proposed?

Herbert Dickinson occupies the position formerly held by Page W.

Rideout in the sale of Massey Harris Co's stock of agricultural implements and farm waggons.

Geo. W. Boyer, Mrs. Boyer and Miss Davis returned on Wednesday last after a prolonged absence visiting friends in Kings and Queens Counties. They also attended the nuptials of Baptist and Free Baptist in St. John.

Burns Glass of Windsor has purchased a 100 acre farm from George Britton adjacent to the farm he now owns and lives upon.

Some of our young people out back think it hard problem to solve to arrive at the actual figure of the value of money to be paid for a breach of promise to marry. One, however, discovers the amount for which he is assessed and notified to pay.

A missionary supper was held in the vestry of the Baptist Church on Wednesday evening last which was well attended and a considerable sum added to the treasury.

By the time this is in print the Sawyer mill whistle will have ceased its usual 8 o'clock alarm to employees to arrive and get ready.

The fur goods to be found at Carr's, Keith & Plummer's and other leading stores are of many qualities, latest styles and prices varying to suit every class of buyers.

Miss Kennedy, assistant in Post Office, has had a short vacation.

Exchange Hotel business is increasing under the management of its genial landlord, Dudley Day.

All ladies requiring repairs upon their fur coats, jackets or other garments will do well to leave them with Mrs. Dewitt.

William McFarlane is confined by sickness and many of his customers are thereby disappointed.

Miss Jennie McMullin's fruit and confectionary, mild drinks and oysters satisfy the most fastidious. File your accounts for collection with J. O. Everett.

Sheriff Hayward on Saturday last sold at public auction the goods and chattels assigned by Chas. W. Hurst for benefits of creditors. The books containing accounts due were purchased by Humphrey Taylor.

On Sunday evening last the sad news of the death of Rev. Amos Hayward was telephoned to friends here having occurred at 5 p. m. Mr. Hayward was at one time pastor of the Baptist Church in this village. He was well esteemed and had very many friends.

Rev. Mr. Ross of your town preached in Hartland Methodist chapel on Sunday evening last.

How forcibly of late are we reminded of the fact that we are mortal. In different parts of the province as well as in our own county prominent men are being laid in the grave. The rich, the poor, the good and the bad, the minister, the layman, goodly women, the aged, middle aged and the child are alike succumbing to the solemn call of death with their unalterable destiny sealed, fixed and determined for eternity. Solemn thoughts arise suppress them not.

Exchange guests from Woodstock on the 22nd inst were Misses Bessie Carvell, Alice Fitzsimmons, Annie Hipwell, Messrs R. Flemming and A. Dunbar.

Rev. Amos Hayward was buried at Rockland at 2 p. m. Tuesday. Rev. Mr. Cahill officiated and other ministers attended.

It is midnight and I ask myself of what benefit is it to me to search my brain for the simple stuff I write and weary myself in doing so. The friends who went west from this section want the news through Hartland correspondence so they inform us. A little while longer friends if health is spared I will try to gratify you.

ADDON.

Changes in the Banks.

Chas. R. Creighton of the Royal Bank staff left here to-day for Sydney, C. B., to which place he has been transferred. He is a native of Halifax, and has been here about a year. His friends are glad to see him promoted, though sorry to part with him. Ralph G. Waite, teller and accountant, will leave next week for Halifax to take a position there in the Bank's head office. Mr. Hamilton from Sydney will come to Woodstock to fill Mr. Waite's place. Mr. Waite is a native of Andover, a bright young fellow, and sure to become a leading light in banking circles.

In the Nova Scotia Bank B. Vincent Lingley has been handing out the coin for some days past, and has proved so efficient at the job that everyone expects to learn of his steady employment as teller and pro-accountant.

NOTICE.

The Annual General Meeting of the Agricultural Society will be held in the Record Office at three o'clock on Tuesday the fourteenth day of November.

C. L. SMITH, Sec.

His Honor Judge Carleton, Solicitor General Jones, F. B. Carvell M. P., His Worship Mayor Jones and other prominent citizens will roll at the grand opening of the Bowling Alley next Wednesday night. Come in and see them.

The Sun and Mr. Blair.

The St. John Sun has always been bitterly hostile towards Hon. Andrew G. Blair. Even at the time in his career when the course pursued by that gentleman was quite in accord with that of the Sun and its friends the opposition luminary was just as ready to run the knife into him as ever. The other day a news dispatch from Montreal conveyed the impression that there was a chance that Mr. Blair might return to active political life, as a member of the conservative party. This was too much for the Sun. In the issue of that paper which appeared on Tuesday a column is devoted to a warmed up account of the wonderful things poor Mr. Blair was about to do or failed to do a year ago. We have no doubt that the ex-minister of Railways was sincere in his opposition to the Grand Trunk Pacific scheme. We have his word for it that on all other questions he was heartily in accord with the government. The Sun in seeking to head off the possible, not probable, entrance of Hon. Mr. Blair into the conservative fold, digs up his attitude of a year ago. The Sun is unkind. It should live and let live. The conservative party boasts of the freedom allowed its adherents. It prides itself upon its proselytizing tendencies. It sets up its converts on a pedestal of party acclaim, but the Sun must kick over the traces and try to head off Mr. Blair. We will endeavor to comfort the journal of the residue by warning it in the words of the old proverb that it is time to say good morning to the Devil when you meet him. The Sun has boiled over prematurely. Hon. Mr. Blair is not anxious to become a conservative. He will never do so. Had he been willing to join that party the opportunity was his long ago. The Sun is more apt to turn into a Laurier-Fitzpatrick-Sbaretti organ than is Hon. Andrew G. Blair to become a conservative.

THE PRESIDENT.

It is a good thing for President Roosevelt that he is half southern. He has been visiting the ancestral home of his mother in Georgia, and the welcome extended to him has been thoroughly southern in its enthusiastic cordiality. Both races, whites and blacks, showed how much they admire and respect him. The whites of Georgia, who are almost Japanese in their ancestor worship, claim that all the good there is in him he owes to his Georgian blood, while the blacks gratefully remember how often he has personally proved himself their friend. The negroes indeed always loved the southern gentleman, and it may be truly said of the President that he as well represents that character as he holds in the west and north the unique distinction of being the most thorough American that ever occupied the presidential chair.

In this country we look upon Roosevelt as the greatest ruler our neighbors have yet had. Despite his publicly announced intention to retire at the end of the present term we cannot see how the United States can afford to lose him. The people of that great country will doubtless re-elect him almost unanimously.

NEED A CHEST PROTECTOR?

Those who have weak lungs or those who are constantly exposed to the weather should recognize the value of Chest Protectors. They are made to defend the chest and they give defense that is of vital importance to many. The time to begin wearing them is now. It is changeable weather that causes colds and lung troubles.

PROPER CHEST PROTECTORS

Maintain an even temperature of the chest. They keep out cold. They prevent chilling when warm. They keep in the natural warmth and vitality.

If you need a Chest Protector or Chamois Vest you should get it here. We have a large assortment of the best kinds made and we are also able to save you something on the price.
