Successful Advertisers.

For the next few months it is our intention to publish each week a short write up of leading SENTINEL advertisers. This week we will begin the series with a description of the business carried on by the largest users of SENTINEL space, Hugh Hay & Son, Importers, proprietors of the Two Big Stores.

Any person who remembers the Woodstock of fifty years ago will have recollections of the start in business made by a young and clever gentleman named Hugh Hay. At first the stock was not so very large but year by year as the public began to appreciate the value they received for their money, they learned to come more often to the Hay Store. Gradually the business expanded until to-day it is housed in the two fine stores on Main Street owned by the firm of Hugh Hay & Son, comprising the founder of the house and his son W. Wallace Hay. Mr. Hay, senior, is so well known to Carleton County people that any praise of his business capacity would be superfluous. The junior partner is equally well known, and in his capacity as coroner, issuer of marriage licenses, magistrate, town and county councillor and mayor, has filled the above positions with dignity and credit. It is not so much to praise men as to describe what they are doing that this series has been begun so we will switch off to a description of a few of the lines carried by Hay & Son. The upper store is the one that is the mecca for all the ladies in the county. There may be found a complete line of all the finest and most fancy dry goods that fashion decrees should be carried. By purchasing direct from the British and foreign markets this firm is enabled to save its customers the profits usually gobbled up by so many middlemen. The lower store is the resort of most men who are particular as to what they should wear. The latest in gents' furnishings, hats, caps, gloves, collars, ties, shirts, underwear, hose, handkerchiefs, trunks, valises, suit cases and a hundred and one things a man needs in his wardrobe or on his dressing table are right there for him all ready to choose from. The ready made clothing department is stocked full of fine suits, overcoats, jumpers, ulsters, fancy vests, etc., all well-made from the finest fabrics. Upstairs the great space of the firm's disposal is taken up with carpets, rug, art squares, curtains, blinds, and the many articles so useful in housefurnishing. The far room, a special department filled with furs, has no counterpart north of St. John. Here is to be found a great collection of all the nicest furs on the market made up in stylish shapes. The very large patronage in this department is clearly an evidence that the goods each year are up to date and sold at close margins. This is a special feature of all trade at the 2 Big Stores. Customers say they get uniformly stylish and modern goods at all times and at prices that can't be beat even by the "cheap" men who run the big Ontario and Quebec department stores. The record of the 2 Big Stores speaks for itself. We do not need to recommend the place. Those who week after week, month after month and year after year patronize the establishment have learned that it pays to buy from Hugh Hay & Son. A satisfied customer is the best recommendation a business can have. The Hay concern is therefore about as well recommended as any business in the province. The firm believes in judicious advertising and has proved that it pays. Each week the half page of shop news from the 2 Big Stores is eagerly read by bargain hunters, who know where to get satisfaction and low prices.

Obituary Notices.

Ward Yerxa, an employe at the Armory, dropped dead while at work Monday afternoon about three o'clock. He was handling some mortar and was suddenly noticed to fall backwards. Deceased was a widower, aged 80 years. The funeral took place yesterday with interment at Richmond parish.

George Brown, an old resident, passed away Monday morning. He had not been well for some time. He leaves a family and a large circle of friends.

Authorized to Solicit Subscriptions, Advertising and Job Orders.
Prompt Service Guaranteed.

The snow and rain of the latter part of last week have made the roads very muddy and for pedestrians inconvenient and disagreeable.

Colds, coughs, catarrh and in some instances sickness that confines, principally due to the frequent changes in the weather. Upon the whole or in a great part we have a healthy community.

J. K. Flemming is placing a new engine in his mill south end, as well as other machinery and executing contracts for cutting and delivering lumber at the mill. A lath machine will soon be put in operation. Rumor says that Frank Smith M. P. and another enterprising citizen are about to erect a lath mill at Cross Creek in the suburbs of the village.

O. Humphrey Taylor spent two days of last week in your town on business.

J. T. G. Carr's new warehouse is progressing rapidly. This added to the new brick building makes a formidable block.

Quite a revival in the general trade is apparent.

One of our former residents, from youth upwards, has taken the store and business of his late brother, Frank, at Perth and will conduct a general grocery and fruit business. Harry M. Dickinson is the one referred to and being an industrious, genial man has good prospects for a successful future.

Rev S. A. Baker, with assistants, commenced special meetings in the Reformed Baptist church, Waterville, on last Friday evening.

George R. Burr spent last Sunday and Monday in Victoria County.

An aspiration operation on George Nevers, Coldstream, was successfully performed on the 5th inst by Drs McIntosh and Secord. Dr McIntosh used the knife. Mr Nevers is in a critical condition, but not without hope of recovery.

Don't forget to patronize Everett's Agency for Bibles, Testaments, tablets, envelopes, time books, etc. The celebrated Spavin Cure always on hand, also sole leather.

Alfred Thornton is attending religious meetings at Fort Fairfield where an extensive revival is progressing.

The Simms' restaurant, fruit and confection place is catering to the taste of those who enjoy oysters, pig's feet, lamb's tongue, temperance drinks, etc.

All who have news items please send them to the Hartland correspondent for publication in the SENTINEL, the oldest paper in the Province.

We learn with regret of the sudden demise of Isaac Tompkins of Peel. The result of a nail which he ran into his foot and produced look jaw.

A serious case of appendicitis with the ten year old son of a Mr Miller of Connell called for a surgical operation, which was skillfully performed by Drs Brown, McIntosh and Ross a few days since.

Potatoes last week reached as high as $1.35 per bbl. At present a lull in price—may come again.

Butter in large quantities 20c, retail for 21c; eggs 22c.

Hay presses and threshing machines busy in every direction. Grain of all kinds yielding beyond expectation.

The long entertained hope for water for river driving is about abandoned.

We hear of excellent work being done in the woods. It has proved a very favorable fall for such operations.

One conviction in J. O. Everett's court last week for killing a cow moose. The minimum fine, with costs adjudged. The case will be appealed as a copy of trial was demanded for such purpose. Defendant acknowledged killing, but claimed it was through a mistake. Thought he fired at a bull moose. Game law makes no provision for such an excuse.

A very interesting concert took place in the Reformed Baptist church last Saturday evening in aid of the missionary work—a collection at the door.

The Hurst accounts are with J. O. Everett for collection.

Mrs. Ross is kept very busy at the telephone centre.

Insure against fire in the Phoenix of Hartford. J. O. Everett represents said company in Hartland.

On Sunday last preaching in the two Union Baptist churches and in the evening sermon in the Reformed Baptist church. If the people of Hartland should be worse off in the next world than they are in this, they cannot attribute it to lack of preaching and earnest warning. Strange so comparatively few give the coming life its due consideration.

James W. Montgomery, plumber, is enjoying his harvest season. So much to do can scarcely tell what to do next. He is a good workman and at his store can be found a good stock of ranges, heaters, box and cook stoves with a large amount of tinware to select from, and James is a good fellow and prides in serving his patrons the latest. Job work attended to on short notice.

It is understood that Sawyer's mill will cut laths during the winter.

Rev Charles Orser visited Hartland last week. A native of Brighton, a disciple of the late George Orser. He now resides at Mars Hill, Me.

Misses Beatrice and La Versa Nevers are visiting their sister Fanny at Marysville.

Open livery stables on the Sabbath day not palatable to the Christ-like portion of Hartland population. A thorough christian cannot do such a thing.

A number who have been afflicted with coughs and colds compared notes as to remedies, when it was decided that nothing excels Estey & Curtis' Imperial Cough Syrup. It is not a Yankee patent, but a genuine cure. Try it.

Mrs E. Dewitt's oldest son who has been in Oregon 15 years is here visiting his mother and relatives. He will return about Xmas and has been very successful.

The Hartland Band is practicing for some good entertainment to be given in the future. The boys are making good progress.

Naptha and surprise soap at Everett's Agency.

Mrs S. A. Baker and the ladies associated with her in preparing and carrying into effect the successful concert in the Reformed Baptist church on last Saturday evening have pleasure in expressing their gratitude to the good people of Hartland for the liberal patronage of a crowded house and for the non-stingy amount received at the door for missionary work.

Willard B. Rideout of Upper Brighton says he is not the blind man who dabbles in liquor according to rumor report in the last issue of the SENTINEL, and that he is not guilty of such a charge.

Ideal Prescription Filling.

The real character of any drug store can be judged by the success of its prescription department. Success depends on securing the confidence of the physician and public, and this confidence is measured by the business which comes to the dispensing department.

We have the largest prescription trade in Woodstock, and this fact means something. Our service is ideal. We have everything that physicians prescribe, and everything is of finest quality. We want to fill your prescriptions.
