Death of Ex-Chancellor Harrison.

Dr Thomas Harrison, who recently retired from the Chancellorship of the University, died in the the private hospital at Fredericton on Tuesday morning, after an illness from Bright's disease. He had been ill but a few months, and was to have received a pension amounting to $1335 per annum from the Carnegie fund.

Thomas Harrison, L L D, was born at Sheffield, Sunbury county, on October 24, 1839. He was a son of Thomas Harrison by his wife Elizabeth Coburn. He was educated at Trinity College, Dublin, under the tutelage of Dr Salmon, B R S. He was first honor man in mathematics and was elected mathematical scholar in Trinity College in 1863. He also attended law lectures and took the degrees of B A and L L B, in the University of Dublin in 1864, and afterwards the degrees of M A and LL D, in the same university. In June, 1870, he was appointed professor of the English Language and Literature and of Mental and Moral Philosophy in the University of New Brunswick. In 1874 he was made by the Dominion government superintendent of the meteorological station observer at Fredericton, and in August, 1885, president of the University of New Brunswick and professor of mathematics by the provincial government. Dr Harrison was a member of the Episcopal church. He married in 1865 Susan Lois Taylor daughter of the late John S Taylor, of Sheffield, and a niece of Sir Leonard Tilley, K C M G. The fruit of this marriage was two sons—Dr J Darley Harrison and Mr Arthur G Harrison, now residents of Edmonton, Alberta, both of whom were with their father during his last moments, and one daughter, Mrs Dixon, wife of Professor John Dixon, of Halifax. After the death of his first wife Dr Harrison, in 1895, married Miss Whittier, daughter of the late Capt. Whittier, by whom he is survived.

premier is not worthy of the designation. The following paragraph is self-explanatory. It is the Premier's words to an interviewer:—

"The Provincial Government has decided that after January 1, 1907, every school of this Province must have a Union Jack flying during school hours. The Government will provide the first flag, and it will be the duty of the trustees to replace any such flag that may have become useless. We welcome the various peoples that come to our Province who are born under foreign flags, who speak a different tongue, and we give them the benefit of our civil laws, endow them with civil rights, the benefits of our laws, free education of the schools, all of which are the outcome of the civilization and benefits that follow the Union Jack, and I think the man who comes from a foreign country in order to better circumstances, and who objects to perpetuate the glories of our flag, who declines to have his children infused with British patriotism, is a man that is undesirable."

The Toronto Globe's view is that as the speaker of the house of commons has been notified by two Nova Scotia Judges that the seat for Queen and Shelburne is vacant, it only remains for him to issue a writ for the election of a new member in compliance with the provision of the Controverted Elections Act, which requires him to do so at the earliest practicable moment after he receives the notification from the trial judges. The Globe therefore expects that the by-election will be held very soon. The Halifax conservatives seem to have an idea that the appeal to the Dominion supreme court will put off the election for some time at least. Mr Fielding's re-election however, is doubted by nobody.

THE INDIAN PROBLEM.

Liberal governments in Great Britain are sometimes accused of concentrating their attention on domestic reforms to the neglect of Imperial concerns. This accusation can hardly be levelled against the present administration. It has dealt very courageously with African problems and is now feeling its way toward schemes which may lighten the "Brown Man's Burden" in India. Mr Samuel Smith a well-known writer on matters affecting Britain's great Oriental Empire, has lately said that before long India will demand the world-wide attention which has for so many years been claimed by South Africa. Certainly her problems are many, vast and complex. There is the great and recurring problem of the famine and the pestilence which follows famine. It is a terrible thing to notice that these plagues have increased in violence during the nineteenth century. In the first quarter of the century, there were five famines, with a million deaths; in the second quarter, there were two famines, with half a million deaths; in the third quarter there were six famines, with five million deaths; and in the last quarter, there were no less than sixteen famines, resulting in the terrible total of twenty-six million deaths. The general death-rate is said to have steadily risen from twenty-four to the thousand in 1882-4, to thirty in the thousand, in 1892-4, and to be about thirty-four in the thousand at the present time. The railways are certainly useful in the distribution of grain in famine districts, but they also carry away the surplus grain in good years, leaving no residue for the years of drought, and when they bring it back the heavily-taxed people are too poor to buy it with the two freights added. Before the British occupation, grain was stored at central points, much as Joseph stored it in Egypt, and so there was some relief in times of scarcity, but this system has dropped into disuse.

A Resident of Welland
Finds Relief in Pe-ru-na

SUFFERED 15 YEARS.

Mr. Ozial Rounds, Welland, Ont., a retired lumberman and a resident of Welland for half a century, writes:

"For fifteen years prior to 1900 I was a sufferer from hay asthma and chronic diarrhoea. I grew weak and emaciated and was tortured with insomnia."

"I was treated by eminent physicians but, if anything, was worse than ever. In fact, I was in as miserable a condition as a man could be."

"However, I chanced to try Peruna and noticed an improvement. This encouraged, I continued, and after taking several bottles of your precious Peruna, I was entirely well and a wonder to myself and friends."

"If, at my advanced age, 88 years, I have obtained such good results from Peruna, after so many years of needless suffering, there can be no doubt of its efficacy in the treatment of younger persons."

We have in the gospels the beginning of Jesus Christ in His relation to man, and as the centre of all in relation to His Father. Now, what does Scripture teach about His end? All that is written about Jesus must be fulfilled (Luke xxii., 37). He is now crowned with glory and honor and must reign till all things are beneath His feet, then cometh the end, when He shall deliver up the kingdom to His Father having abolished all rule and authority and power. Then shall the Son, who is God be subject to His Father, that God in all the fulness of the Godhead may be All in All (II Cor. xv., 24-28). Man now needs a mediator between himself and God. That mediator is both God and man, but with the end of the mediatorial work, the human may disappear and the Godhead be revealed as it existed before the incarnation. Christ enters into the glory which He had with the Father before time was. All men are to honor the Son even as they honor the Father. The ending of Christ's work will be judgment upon the ungodly, the vindication of God's righteousness (Acts xvii., 31). Man was made to glorify God, and failed. The second man, the Lord from heaven, came to restore all that Adam lost, and more. Jesus could say, I have finished the work Thou gavest me (John xvii., 4). The power which wrought in Christ works in believers, and makes them victors. The ending of Jesus Christ is the fulness of His glory as Son of God.

Mr Tanner in his speeches at the wonderful tory picnics describes how he had the Liberals on the run in the late election. But it seems they did not run very far or very fast. Perhaps, Mr Tanner did not keep at them hard enough and they stopped running, so now he has to stop himself at one spot for four years and bark. If he does not do better in 1911 he will be quite an old man before he becomes premier. He probably thinks now he had too much religion and not enough politics, or he might have given his opponents a longer run.—Exchange.

Phelan, the fast new centre-fielder of the Royals is no stranger to Canadian fans, having played in St John N.B. the city where Joe Page had his team at the time. Phelan was a pitcher and a crackerjack at that, many thinking he had the goods to beat the best of them. He is especially fast on his feet, and a fine out-fielder and good stickler. He was induced to take the outfield where if he keeps on at his present gait, he will soon land in the fastest of company. As to his abilities, the baseball public has had a chance to see in the past few days just what he is capable of both at the bat, in the field and on the bases. Several years ago or when with St John team, races were run on the cinder path, and all the cracks were there even "Tip" O'Neill, one of the fastest men in the American League. But "Moose" Phelan, as he was then called, gave them all a run for their money and beat them out at that.

Coombs Pitched in Hard Luck.

In the ten inning game at Boston last Thursday, which Philadelphia lost, 4 to 3, Plank tried his convalescent arm. Two passes and three singles in the fifth netted three runs, and the southpaw retired in favor of Dygert. After a while Holmes pitched a few minutes and then Coombs wound up the exercises. Until the ninth Tannehill had the champions up in the clock. Then all hands took a fall out Jesse. Five hits put the score at even, and Philadelphia had a chance with Coombs on the hill, but in the tenth a pass to Tannehill, a sacrifice and Parent's single pushed the deciding run across.

In the ninth inning Coombs batted for Holmes and dropped a short fly in left on which Oldring scored the run that tied.
Coombs opened the tenth by passing Tannehill. Hoey sacrificed and Parent got to Twenty-four-inning Jack with a clear smash to right. The winning count came in. Parent took second on the throw and stuck there while Coombs whiffed Stahl and Goodwin.

HER WATERLOO.

(New York Sun.)

She could play on the piano,
Nothing left her in the lurch,
Anything from "Maiden's Prayer"
Down to "Waitin' at the Church."

Waltz or rag-time, march, sonata,
She could rattle in a streak;
She had Paderewski beaten
With her marvellous technique.

Yet there was this fly embedded
In her ointment of renown;
She could play an octave sideways
But she couldn't up and down.

Thus her wondrous finger movement
Useless proved, alas, alack,
When she tried to don a shirtwaist
That was buttoned up the back.

The Montreal Herald says:—"The Maritime Provinces are in the throes of a fearful political dissension, having for its subject the real attendance at the celebrated Conservative picnic at Truro. The Liberal estimate is 3,000, the independent 6,000, and the Conservative anywhere from 8,000 to a million. Fortunately there can be no such trouble about the Conservative picnic at New Glasgow, for it has been called off." The "dissension" is confined to the Moncton Times which doesn't know how many were present at the performance, but is prepared to make it twenty thousand for the good of "the cause."

Milwaukee, Wis, Sept 20.—James F Devlin, formerly employed on the Northwestern Railroad as a fireman for $80 a month, running out from Escanaba, today received a draft for $975,000 from the North German Lloyd Steamship Company for the patents to a new steam turbine engine, on which he had been at work for the last three years. The draft was brought to Escanaba by A L Welch, of Lawson, Welch & Lawson, lawyers in New York, acting for the steamship company. In addition to this he secured Deolin's signature to an agreement to superintend the construction of the first engine under the patents at $100 a day for fifty days.

The Sharples Separator Wins over The Magnet.

Woodstock, N. B., August 27th, 1906.

THE SHARPLES SEPARATOR CO.,
Toronto, Ont.:

GENTLEMEN,—The Sharples Tubular Separator which your agent set up for me a few weeks ago succeeded in winning over the Magnet. After having your machine put in I promised the Magnet representative that I would give his machine a trial and he put one in; the cost of both machines was the same; I decided to test them first for capacity and found that the Tubular would skim the milk from ten cows four minutes quicker than the Magnet. I then tested the machines for clean skimming, taking an average sample of milk from each by allowing all the skim to go in one can, then thoroughly mixing and taking a bottle full from each, these samples were numbered Magnet No. 1, Sharples No. 2. I took the samples to the Woodstock Creamery and had them tested and found that the Magnet made about three times the loss that the Tubular did, the loss of fat from the Magnet being eight one-hundredths. I turned the crank of the Magnet 55 turns per minute, while the Tubular was turned only 45. The Magnet agent claimed that his machine had not been properly turned and I asked him to drive up and turn the machine himself, which he agreed to do but did not. He did, however, come and take his machine away, and I went to your Woodstock agent and paid for the Tubular.

Yours truly,
[Signed] JOHN COLTER.
