Mayor Munro Calls a Halt.

Town Council met Tuesday evening. Coun Leighton was the only absentee. After routine had been gone through, the Mayor told the Board some pretty plain facts. He said two departments, water and streets, were already outside their appropriations. The assessment is a record breaker, and the citizens rightfully demand that the councilors refrain from spending any more money than is to be raised. With an overdraft of more than $8500 and bills coming in at the rate they are doing, the town will be in a very bad financial condition, unless all work not absolutely necessary be at once discontinued. He as Mayor would be obliged to refuse to sign cheques when there were no funds to meet them.

Couns Dunbar and Henderson replied. The former said he defied any man to point to a single item of extravagance in his department. The only thing in which he possibly may have erred was in buying too much wood, but if the town does not want it, he would take it himself and reimburse the town to the last cent.

Coun Henderson entered into an elaborate defense of his work. The people must have good streets. He had spent on the average two days in the week working for the town. No one could truthfully accuse him of not trying to do the best that could be done. His department was only allotted $1500, when it should have been given $2000 at least. If the Council ordered him to stop putting down sidewalk, he would of course obey.

Coun Fields said he could assure everyone that there would be no overdraft in his department. He said Coun Henderson ran the Water Dept in debt last year, and now he was about to repeat the performance on the Road Committee. This brought the senior Councilor to his feet, and in a vigorous speech he defended himself against all the attacks. As for Coun Fields he said he considered him not worth replying to.

Couns McManus and Fisher said they were well within their appropriations. Near the close of the session Coun Fields aroused the ire of Coun Dunbar in a discussion about purchasing lumber for use at the Pumping Station. Coun Dunbar was forced to admit that McElroy's of Grafton had been given the order without so much as inviting an offer from J A Hayden, a resident and taxpayer. Coun Dunbar protested that Hayden was too high in his charge, but did not deny that he based this assumption on past dealings, and had not asked Hayden for an offer on this occasion.

Coun Fields, it may be said right here, is proving a pretty sharp and careful critic, and seldom has to play second fiddle to anyone at the board.

CAMP SUSSEX.

Sussex, July 1st, 1906.

To the Editor of Carleton Sentinel:—

The boys of No 8 Company 67th Regt at the annual drill at Camp Sussex are having a fine time and are enjoying themselves immensely.

Starting from Florenceville at 11 p. m. Monday night we had a jolly time on the road, arriving at Sussex at 3 p. m. Tuesday. Wednesday morning being fine we appeared for the first this season on the parade ground and when we got our company drawn up in line it would surprise even persons from the garden county of the province to see the strapping fine looking men that came from the upper part of the province, but when they see the company at drill it surprises them more for a company of undrilled men they do wonderful, for after being shown the details once they know them and we are not afraid to challenge any company in the shape of drill. The company is commanded by Capt A A H Margison of Centreville, a man that can't be beat on the parade ground and who looks after his men in the best manner possible. He is ably seconded by his two Lieutenants, A W Adams and G Williams, two fine young men. We have plenty of food to eat and it is cooked in first class order by J King, who is ably assisted by J H Ritchie, both of whom come from the upper part of the county and although born and bred in the country are not afraid to stand side by side with their city brethren.

So hoping for a good time and fine weather for the rest of our drill, I will close after giving three cheers for Capt Margison and his two lieutenants and three cheers and a tiger for his company I will sign myself

A SOLDIER BOY OF NO 8 CO 67TH REGT.

Good Words for Mr Carvell.

Mr Carvell delivered a great speech on the Report of the "Arctic" Inquiry. It was good enough to draw forth unstinted praise even from many unlooked-for sources. The Montreal Herald, in a special editorial, has this to say of the effort and the man:—

A FIRST-RATE FIGHTING MAN.

"On the Government side, also, there was a strong, fighting speech from Mr Carvell. Probably the predominating feeling on the Liberal side is one of gratification that there was nothing more serious about this Arctic business than the prices paid for some of the goods, and the fact that tenders were not invited. In mitigation of this there is the accepted fact that there was not too much time in which to get the ship ready, as was shown by the circumstance that two days after she reached Fullerton she was frozen in. Mr Carvell, however, is not the kind of an advocate who stands to get the worst of an argument by making an admission. He simply took the minority report clause, item by item, and showed by reference to evidence, exhibits, invoices, letters and innumerable other devices, that the minority report is destitute of all claim to credence. And the fact is that, if one has the patience to hunt for it or to hear it, there is a satisfactory answer for almost every allegation the Conservatives make, be it great or be it small. Anyone who wants a quiverful of arguments in this matter has only to take Mr Carvell's speech and study it. It goes without saying that in a country which is governed by discussion there is a place in any party organization for such first rate fighting men as Mr Carvell undoubtedly is; indeed the type grows rare."

The Toronto "News," one of the ablest Opposition papers in Canada, has some kind words for Mr Carvell's big speech in the "Arctic" Debate. It says:—

"Mr Carvell's speech was a long and very able examination of the voluminous evidence. He went over the whole mass of detail with no little cleverness." In another place the "News" says:—

"An excellent review of the evidence was given by Mr Carvell of Carleton." Further on the speech of Hon Mr Brodeur is compared quite unfavorably with those of Messrs Pardee and Carvell, and everyone knows that the Minister of Marine is no mean orator at that.

HYMENEAL.

A quiet but very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mrs Else, Rockland, Car Co, on June 26th, when her daughter Miss Ellen Estabrooks, was united in marriage to Allen Waters of Williamstown, Car Co, N B, by Rev R W Demmings. The bride was given away by her brother, Arthur, and the wedding march was beautifully rendered by her sister, Miss Alva. The large number of beautiful and valuable presents bespeak of the popularity of the young couple.—(Com)

A pretty wedding took place at residence of Mr and Mrs James Clark, Kincardine, on the evening of the 27th at six o'clock when their daughter, Sarah Ellen, was united in wedlock to Sanford Smith a young farmer of the same place. The bride was the recipient of many presents and they both received many congratulations for a happy and prosperous future. The ceremony was performed by Rev G C Pringle in the presence of a large number of relatives and invited guests.—(Com).

One of the most pleasant June weddings took place Wednesday, June 27th, 9 a m in S. John the Evangelist's church when Miss Catherine Keenan; daughter of Coun Keenan, was married to Mr Daniel Cronin, a prosperous farmer of Johnville. The bride, who was attired in white with hat to match, was given away by her father, and was attended by Miss Annie Hurley. The groom was supported by his brother John. Nuptial high mass was celebrated by Rev R J Coughlin, who performed the ceremony. The altar was decorated by a profusion of flowers gathered for the occasion by members of the "Alter Society" of which the bride is president. After the ceremony was finished the many friends who were present drove to the home of the bride, where having partook of a sumptuous repast, a very enjoyable time was spent by all. The presents were very numerous, and showed the high esteem in which the bride and groom are held by their friends.—(Com).
