Now it's Horse and Horse.

The second team match between the Rifle Club and the Golf Club took place Tuesday evening on Sullivan's Alleys before an interested concourse of admiring fans. The Sharpshooters strengthened by Captain Kirkpatrick and Private Fever, came on the field prepared to win or die. Captain Balmain, chief in command, directed his men nobly, and when the books were audited it was found that the marksmen had not labored in vain, as the grand total gave them the handsome majority of 74. The Golfers took their medicine like men, and are confident that the pendulum of fate will swing once more in their direction when on Tuesday evening after next the third and deciding contest will take place. An interesting feature of the struggle is the fact that the golfers' grand total was 2885, exactly the same as they put on the previous week. Capt Balmain and his men are highly elated over their grand victory. The marksmen are just as confident as the other fellows that on the next occasion victory will be theirs. The teams will line up about the same as before, only that the golf men expect one or two changes. In explanation of their unlooked for defeat the golfers say they were hoodooed with all kinds of bad luck. The fates were clearly against them.

The following is the summary:—

A strong preacher, with talents of a high order, he is bound to make his mark in his chosen work.

Wednesday morning when Edward Greer rose from bed he struck a match near a large curtain. He applied the match to the lamp wick and went out to make the kitchen fire, leaving his seven-year-old boy in bed asleep. In a few moments he was startled to hear a loud roar as of fire in the bed room. Rushing in he found the curtain and the bed in flames. The child was rescued unhurt, but both Mr Greer and his wife, who had been sleeping in an adjoining room, received serious burns on the hands. That the child was unhurt and the house saved from ruin is almost a miracle.

It is possible that your Forsyth, Georgia, correspondent may have known your writer of Hartland letter in his younger days still I cannot place him positively; when a member of the Woodstock division of the Sons of Temperance there was a Malory connection with it who may have been him. I had a brother a few years younger than myself who was at home during my 3 years absence attending the old Baptist Seminary at Fredericton, he died many years after in Louisiana, I am the oldest son of James Everett, called uncle James (not the vulgar name Jim) by his many nephews and nieces. Father was known as an edge tool maker for many years in Woodstock also carried on an extensive general blacksmith business. Everett's axes were known all over the Upper St John lumber country. With these polished axes were introduced and the price cut from twelve shillings and six pence to six shillings and three pence he retired from the business and bought a farm in the parish of Brighton some six miles from this village upon which he lived until a few years prior to his death and was buried in the cemetery at Rockland. I was familiar with the Truesdells, Ezekiel and Andrew, and the Waltons as also all residents of Woodstock in those days, very few of whom are living now. Father was known as Deacon Everett having occupied the position for 50 years in the Baptist church of which he was a member at its organization in Woodstock, in other words a charter member.

Here's A Bit of News

That should interest you if you care to make a fine saving in a Clothing purchase.

We won't carry our stock if we can possibly avoid it, and it is at this season that we cut prices all to pieces—small pieces. Spring Goods are already beginning to arrive and we need the room.

As we are reorganizing our business, to take effect March 1st, we would respectfully ask all parties indebted to us to kindly settle up their accounts during February.

John McLauchlan,

The Leading Clothier and Haberdasher.

GENTLEMEN,—

Please give me your attention for one moment:

We have a large stock of Suitings and Overcoatings on hand, and rather than to carry them over and also to keep our help busy during the quiet winter we are willing to clear them out at ACTUAL COST and some SPRING GOODS AT LESS THAN COST to clear. This is a bonafide proposition. These goods must go and the help must be kept busy, as to attain first-class help you must give them steady employment.

Call at once and you will be convinced that we do just what we advertise to do.

Gentlemen that admire nice fitting and stylish garments take heed and do not meditate too long.
