News From Upper Woodstock.

Everything is going very well here now, especially the Union Sabbath School under the leadership of Mr and Mrs London.

The recent rain has softened the roads up and they are quite slumpy.

Eggs are very scarce around here now, and only a few hens are laying. If you want them to lay feed them on paper and ground glass, at least that's what the old hen doctors say.

There is an elderly gentleman around the corner who has a very fiery horse and no matter when you look out you can see him going around with a handbox full of oats trying to catch the animal.

It is to be regretted that Mr Walden has left Jacksonville but the young folks can still attend the meetings in Woodstock where a great revival is going on at present. Snider Davis and Bennet Cowan have gone in partnership.

Mr Hazen's rooster laid an egg with a handle on last Monday which is a very rare thing.

Some young folks can't hang on to their rubbers.

It's too bad that the born mechanic missed the fun last Saturday afternoon, but I guess he made it up in the evening.

Miss Ivy Dow has returned home from Fort Fairfield.

DEW DROP.

(From Another Correspondent.)
The Wakefield boys turned out with their new snow plough after the big storm. They made a fine appearance as they came ploughing along with five pairs of horses, and a dozen or so of sturdy farmers. They put the roads in a fine condition.
