Town Council.

The Council meeting Monday night was comparatively harmonious. All members were present, and very little bad blood developed. There were a few breezes, yet everything blew over without serious jar to the feelings of anybody.

After the minutes were confirmed, the Report of the Town Treasurer was read. Its most encouraging feature was that on Nov 30th the Town had a credit balance of $789.90. The Town Marshal made return of collections aggregating $149.10. Wm Dibble, Police Magistrate, sent in a supplementary list of fines imposed during the past five months, showing collections amounting to $37.74.

The Bills were then read, the largest being as usual from the lawyers. A B Connell K C asked for $235 as remuneration for acting as Scott Act prosecuting attorney since Dec 13th, 1906. J C Hartley put in a claim for $65 as charges in connection with the prosecution of violators under the Munro Act. The only bill over which there was much discussion came from Pickel & Davidson. It was in connection with the Sewer extension along Elm Street. A month ago the Council cut their claim for extras from $200 to $166. This was a compromise, and apparently satisfied nobody. At any rate the firm handed in a bill for the balance of their claim. Ald Hagerman said he was a little surprised. Mr Pickel had a short time before given him this bill for $34 without any explanations. On the last night of the meeting the firm told him and Ald Noble to go ahead and get the best possible settlement. Mr Davidson had told him they would actually lose money on the suggested compromise basis. After considerable wrangling the bill was laid over until this evening, when the Sewer Committee will make a report on it.

Ald Dunbar started a discussion on the monthly bill from the Power Co. He did not feel like paying it all as it had been reported to him that many street lamps were not burning every night. He couldn't be exact, as he personally was not able to go all over town. He wanted advice from the council. The Mayor instructed him to put his signature to the bill, have it read, and referred to the Water & Light Committee for a report at next meeting. This course was adopted.

The John McDougall Caledonia Iron Works Company wrote asking a final settlement on account of the electric pump. Ald Dunbar invited the Council to witness the formal test Thursday afternoon, and reported engaging George E Phillips to act for the Town as expert at the test. Probably the settlement with the Company will be arranged at next meeting, if test result satisfactorily in the meantime.

Mayor Munro rising from the dias, addressed the Council concerning the wooden structure now being erected on top of the new Opera House. This affair, which is to accommodate the scenery, is complained of by some, particularly C J Tabor of the Carlisle Hotel, who says his insurance will be increased in the event of the thing not being removed or substantially altered as so to comply with the provisions of the by-law. Mr Tabor at considerable expense a short time ago put a hydrant in his collar with hose connections all through the Hotel, and got his insurance reduced. Now Mr Clinch, the Secretary of the Underwriters comes along and informs him that the old rate will be restored on account of the danger from the Opera. He thought it rather hard that this should be the case, and in order to be fair had asked the Solicitor, Mr Hartley, to look into the matter and ascertain whether Messrs Gibson and Hayden were violating the by-law which forbids wooden buildings higher than 25 ft above the street level. Mr Hartley replied that the by-law certainly prohibited any such structure. The Mayor went on to explain that he had seen the manager of the opera and endeavored to have the stage top removed, but could not do so, as the owners considered it essential. He had also inquired of Peter Clinch along the line of ascertaining whether the Board would be content if the structure were lined with asbestos, but Mr Clinch seemed altogether opposed to any such compromise. On the other hand it should be stated that the proprietors claim there is now no more danger than would be the case had they built a pitch roof, which would have been beyond criticism. Clinch promised to lay the whole matter before the Board of Underwriters, and no doubt their decision will be reached before long. The Mayor said he was firm in the belief that the by-law should be carried out. Further consideration was deferred until Friday night.

Mr Estabrooks, teacher at the College, was heard in behalf of the boys at that school, who want an open air rink on the playground. The boys will undertake the labor on consideration of the Council supplying free water. Ald Sutton moved that the Town donate the necessary quantity of water. Ald Dunbar seconded the motion, but had scarcely done so before Ald Hagerman scented discrimination against Broadway. He felt like protesting, for the Wellington Ward scholars have just as good a right to free water, if they want it, as any others. It would be no fair deal for one school alone to get it. In amendment he moved that Broadway School be included in the motion. Ald Burt wanted to know if anyone at Broadway School wanted an ice rink. The council had no request. Ald Noble agreed that it would be time enough to grant them free water when they asked for it. Nobody seconding the amendment, the original motion was carried.

Having already taken the feet from under Ald Hagerman, the rest of the Council decided to throw him again. Ald Sutton at once got up and moved that Broadway School be given free water for a rink whenever they make application. Ald Noble seconded the motion, and it was passed with a hurry. Ald Hagerman thus got a severe turndown, at which the rest of the Board grinned very broadly. Perhaps they resented his special championing of the cause of Wellington Ward. Under the provocation the genial South Side representative delivered an oration, but it fell on deaf ears. In the course of his remarks he inquired whether the asphalt walks, as requested some time ago, had been laid from the two schools to the street, but nobody answered.

Ald Noble asked if last year's Town Accounts had been printed in pamphlet form. It turned out that this had been so far neglected, so the Printing Committee got an order to get busy.

Mayor Munro made official announcement that the Beer By-Law, commonly called the Munro Act, had been declared intra vires by the Supreme Court, and that he had ordered the police to rigidly enforce the law.

On motion the revisors were paid $10 each, and an order for $300, balance due Hospital, was also passed.

Ald Noble said a local piano tuner had come to him and complained that a St John man named Whitley was here recently and got off with a very small license fee. Chief Kelly replied stating that he had taken advice from Mr Hartley, who interpreted the by-law to mean that piano tuners may secure a yearly license for $8. This amount was paid by Whitley.

Ald Noble brought up another license question. Everybody knew carpenters have been very scarce, and on that account the Council had this year been easy on outside mechanics. Few had paid license, as their presence was almost essential, so much building going on. In cases of non-interference with local workmen the outsiders were not held up for license. Mayor Munro here interjected a remark to the effect that we have been easy on more than carpenters. With a $32,000 assessment only $24,000 has been paid in, and this is the last month of the year, and a lot of big bills are yet to be looked after. Ald Burt wanted carpenters on church work exempt from license. The Mayor objected to this move, and the rest of the Council seemed to agree with him, as nobody would second Ald Burt's motion. All the talk ended in wind.

The Imperial Scots Concert.

A large audience gathered in Graham's Opera. Tuesday night to hear the Imperial Scots Concert, many coming from outside points. While of course the entertainment was by no means second rate, it fell just a trifle below expectations. Perhaps too much had been looked for. The company consists of four artists, — J M Hamilton tenor, Miss Mary M MacLeod soprano, Miss Elsie Dixon Craig reader, and Thomas Henry George jr pianist. Mr Hamilton has a very fair voice, his higher notes being well sustained, but he is not the equal of Douglas Young, the Scottish singer who appeared here with Jessie McLauchlan three or four years ago. Miss MacLeod is exceeding fair to look upon, but we will refrain from saying very much about her singing. Miss Craig is certainly the star of the outfit. No reader has ever done more to please a local audience. The young pianist seems to know his business. All in all, the company did pretty well from an artistic as well as the financial aspect.

"I notice with a great deal of interest the new basis on which you are placing the Sentinel, and am beginning to feel proud of it" is the kind expression of a cultured reader in one of the great American Universities. Thanks, very much.

Mair for Mayor.

How does it sound?

No member of the present council seems inclined to enter the lists, and we know of nobody overly anxious to become our chief magistrate for the coming year.

This being the case the citizens should see that the office does not any longer go begging the man.

We nominate Mr Edgar W Mair for the Chair. Citizens, see that he gets in the field. Good men generally need urging.

Mrs John Blackie.

Mrs John Blackie, wife of the proprietor of the Queen Hotel, died at 7 o'clock Sunday evening after several weeks' illness.

The deceased was well and favorably known throughout the country. She was sixty-seven years of age and is survived by a husband and four children—three boys and one girl. The funeral was held on Wednesday and the interment made in Oak Mountain cemetery.

The relatives of deceased throughout town and county have the sincere sympathy of all in their sad bereavement.

Northampton.

A certain family in Northampton are all of good size and weight. This is their table of the same.

No	Weights	Height
No 1	227	6 ft
No 2	173	6 ft
No 3	180	6 ft
No 4	210	5 ft 8 in
No 5	145	5 ft 10 in
No 6	215	5 ft 10 in
No 7	185	5 ft 8 in
No 8	195	5 ft 6 in
Av weight	191½	5 ft 9½ in

We give the truth and nothing but the truth concerning the weight of this family. These statements are solid truth. If Carleton and York counties, New Brunswick and the State of Maine included, can produce a family that can outweigh this family in Northampton please let us know in the paper. The citizens of Northampton are pretty hard to beat in farming and lumbering combined.
