Mrs W D Camber went to Boston Monday night to secure the latest ideas in fall millinery.

Charles E Gallagher of Bath, the veteran politician and trader, was in town Tuesday afternoon.

Geo F Burpee and Samuel Barter, two Avondale gentlemen, were in town on Wednesday.

Mrs R K Jones and daughter Miss Beulah, are the guests of the Solicitor General and Mrs Jones.

This month a little bird whispers the intelligence that four leading young Woodstock ladies will be led to the altar.

Rev R G Fulton, wife and child, left Tuesday evening for Montreal, where they will be the guests of Mr Fulton's mother.

A Harvest Supper will be held in the Armoury on September 25th, under the auspices of the A O H assisted by the Ladies Auxiliary.

The St John Liberal organization, rather than be caught napping, has started lively preliminary work in the wards. There is no need. The Conservatives are afraid of Pugsley.

There seems to be a movement among the ball players in favor of having a grand nine inning game at the Island, Monday afternoon, between the Odd and the Even Fellows, the losers to put up the Oysters for all hands.

A basket picnic will be held on Johnson's Intervale, Lower Woodstock, on Thursday, Sept 19th. Music will be furnished on the grounds if possible, and the usual sports will be engaged in. Refreshments will be served on the grounds as well. All are cordially invited to attend. If the weather proves rainy it will be held on the first fine day following.

Woodstock is to have another up-to-date Cash Grocery, in the Young Block, the lower half of the stand formerly occupied by Sullivan Bros having been rented by the Yerxa concern of Boston, which has branches throughout New England and parts of the Maritime Provinces. Mr Colwell, the manager, is already in town, and has taken a lease of the McLean house in Prince Albert St. In a few weeks the grocery will be running in full blast.

Dr St John of Hackensack, N J, is in town.

Wm and Scott Estabrooks of Butte, and Harvey Estabrooks and wife of Missoula, are in town visiting their father and other relatives.

WANTED, a young man, to learn the clothing and dry goods business. A good opening and fair remuneration. References required. Apply to B B Manzer, Oak Hall, Woodstock.

Owing to the urgent request of a large number of ratepayers of the Parish of Brighton, Coun Allan Bradley has consented to again be put in nomination. Mr Bradley has proved an excellent Councillor and during his incumbency the Parish for the first time in very many years is free from debt, with a respectable balance to credit at close of last fiscal year. He will no doubt be re-elected.

There will be a very interesting lantern service conducted by Captain Ash in the Salvation Army Citadel next Saturday night, September 14th. The service entitled "Cattarina," will be thrown on the canvas in 50 beautiful colored views by a very powerful stereopticon lantern. Those who heard the captain at his last lantern service here will remember him as a clever lecturer and should attend this Saturday night service. See large bills in store windows. Tickets for sale at the door only 10 cents.

The Salvation Army of this town, 16 strong, held their intended meeting at Hartland on Wednesday night, in the lower United Baptist Church of that place, as the doors were kindly opened for them by the pastor, Rev A F Baker, to whom the Army wishes through the columns of this paper to extend their hearty thanks for all shown kindness. The meeting was an entire success, the spirit of the Master was manifested from the very beginning, a good crowd listened to the able discourse of the two capable officers, Ensign Martin and Capt Porter. The music was well rendered by the brass and string bands; Capt Porter rendered several beautiful vocal solos; Ensign Martin's mandolin solo was excellent. Leaving Hartland about half-past eleven, the party had only got as far as Victoria Corner when the rain came in such a downpour that they were obliged to seek shelter from a good Samaritan, by name Mr Cook, Victoria Corner, who so kindly got up in the middle of the night and opened his doors for them and his barn doors for the team, for which the Army are to him very thankful indeed. They arrived home safe and sound at 6 a m, feeling, although a little on the wet side, still happy and contented in knowing that they had helped two precious souls into the kingdom at the meeting in Hartland.—Com.

Mr Golding Dead.

Harry Golding, Court Crier for many years, died at his home, Upper Woodstock, yesterday morning. For some time back he had been failing and at the last session of Court contracted a cold, and for the two or three days previous to his death he was in a semi-unconscious state. He will be much missed.

Scott Act Matters.

The Inspector and the Police Magistrate have been fairly busy on the trail of alleged violators of the Scott Act. The star performer on the stand in a number of recent cases was one Robert N Belyea, who claims to be a detective. He gave the officials cause to believe that several parties from the up-river districts were not keeping the law, and as a result there were informations laid against George Scovil, Charles Bell, Shed Perkins, Gilbert Giberson, Asa Bell and W H Staten. Of these men the greater number went on the stand and denounced Belyea as a liar of the most flagrant variety. In all the contested cases save those of Scovil, which were further adjourned, the Magistrate dismissed the information. Some amusing answers were given by one of the defendants, Mr Staten. He said he was not in the business, chiefly because the pressure was too heavy, for he could not stand a fine every few weeks. Around Foreston things were as dry as a goose-pasture. It was not his good morals, he said, but rather fear of the consequences that kept him from dealing in the ardent. If he had any of the stuff on his premises and somebody came along dry he would with the greatest of pleasure give them a drink free, in fact just like water so long as it lasted, but he would not sell it even to such an intimate friend as Mr Colpitts. He further went on in an interesting fashion to deliver an oration upbraiding the Inspector for bringing an innocent man away from his hay-making. Asa Bell and Dyer settled their cases. One case against Perkins went to a conviction. The other, on Belyea's evidence, was thrown out. If Mr Belyea ever again sets his foot on King Edward's domain he will doubtless meet a warm welcome from an unlooked for source.

Owing to the assistance of the American Officers, two convictions were obtained against one John Quigley, who is the lessee of the Chandler place at the Lines.

A couple of cases against John Smith and Harry Palmer were dismissed for want of evidence.

The Next Election.

The Toronto News, an Opposition sheet whose election forecasts are seldom wide of the mark, has already been estimating the government's chances for a return to office in 1908. The conclusion it comes to is that the government will be sustained, though by a reduced majority. The substance of the conclusions follows:

Of the 224 members of parliament, the maritime provinces have 35, Quebec 65, Ontario 86, the prairie provinces 80, and British Columbia and the Yukon 8. In 1904 the results were: Maritime, 26 Liberals 9 Conservatives, Quebec, 55 Liberals, 10 Conservatives; Ontario 37 and 49, the prairies, 14 and 6; British Columbia and the Yukon, 8 Liberals.

The News Correspondent thinks the Conservatives should gain in the maritime provinces. Prince Edward Island is constitutionally in opposition, and is at present particularly dissatisfied. In Nova Scotia, the Conservatives should gain at least a couple of seats. Therefore, from the maritime provinces, there should be from 20 to 23 Liberals, and from 12 to 15 Conservatives.

If there should be no change in Quebec, Sir Wilfrid will come to the Ottawa River with 75 to 78 out of a 100.

The writer figures that, in Ontario the Conservatives will pull out a majority of 20, and that the parties will go up to the Manitoba boundary divided as follows: Liberals 110, Conservatives 76. If the Conservatives do well enough east of Ottawa to hold Sir Wilfrid down to 70, and carry Ontario by 28, the figures should be cut down to 100 Liberals and 85 Conservatives.

In view of the fact that 10 of the new western constituencies are new and under government influence, the Conservatives will do remarkably well to break even. In British Columbia, the Conservative cause is looking up, but giving them the benefit of the guess, the 38 western seats will divide: Liberals 20, Conservatives 18.

Total: Liberals, from 120 to 139; Conservatives, from 94 to 104, or a Liberal majority of from 15 to 35.

Of course this is an Opposition estimate, as the man who wrote it, the special "News" correspondent at the capital, is a very severe critic of the government. It means a great deal when a paper so friendly to Mr Borden admits openly that he cannot hope to win the next election. We commend these figures to our amiable contemporary.

Miss Alice Corkery.

Alice, the eldest daughter of Mr and Mrs Joshua Corkery, passed away Sunday night, after a long illness from heart trouble. She was 30 years old. Last spring she returned from Boston, where she had for some time been following her profession as a trained nurse, broken in health. All that loving sympathy and the best medical attention could do was done to save her, but she gradually grew weaker, death finally claiming her. She leaves a father and mother, two sisters and two brothers. The sorely afflicted family have the heartfelt sympathy of the community. The funeral services, largely attended, were held Wednesday afternoon with interment in the Catholic Cemetery.
